REMEDY OR REVENUE?

Rarely does a sitting of magistrate's court pass at Lindsay but we hear of at least one and possibly several people appearing before the bench and being convicted of impaired driving or some offense involving the illegal use of liquor. In most cases judgment is in the form of a fine, occasionally a very substantial fine, as was the case with a bootlegging conviction this week which carried a fine of $700 plus costs.

It is probably safe to conclude that fines collected for various convictions directly or indirectly attributable to liquor consumption paves the courts of Ontario with considerable single source of revenue. This is a concerning situation — concerning because there is always the danger that our courts will become more pre-occupied with revenue than with finding a remedy for the problem. In the case of offenses involving liquor, only in a few instances is either a heavy fine, temporary loss of driving privileges or even a jail term, likely to have any lasting effect. The problem is usually much deeper seated than is generally realized and the remedy lies in getting at the root of the problem rather than dealing with the surface evidence of its existence.

It is ironic that in Ontario, where the sale of liquor is a source of substantial revenue to the province, its misuse or abuse is the source of another staggering income, fines imposed upon those who run afoul of the law as a result of indulgence. This combination of factors, considered in the light of the fact that alcohol consumption is at an unprecedented rate in Ontario, suggests there is a need for reviewing the existing method of marketing alcoholic beverages in this province. There is evidence on every hand to indicate that rather than "control", as was originally intended and as most people interpret the word to mean, we are confronted with the "promotion" of liquor sales on an ever-expanding basis. The price which is being paid for this situation is staggering when measured in terms of human suffering and is attendant consequences, economic and otherwise.

Remedy or revenue? This seems to be the choice authorities are called upon to make if the liquor problem in Ontario is to be dealt with effectively.

MASS WEDDING

Only once in their lifetime do ants take to the air — for their brief marriage flight. Commenting in a recent CBC broadcast on this mystery of nature, naturalist and broadcaster Eric Roberts explained that in this aerial mating the males died, and the queens returned to earth, stripped their bridal wings, and disappeared below ground for the rest of their lives. They could live for as long as fifteen years, and lay eggs during the whole of their life.

"One of the mysteries about these marriage flights, how cleverly they are timed to take place at exactly the same hour on the same day. In order to ensure mixing up the families, the brides and grooms from a number of different colonies must continue to be in the air at the same time and it is the workers who hold the eager ants back and decide precisely the right moment for the 'off'. These workers are the ants that do everything from looking after the young to constructing the nest that is in any uncanny way they know exactly when these flights should be launched. Whether the workers actually put the young couple on the back and wish them good luck, I would not like to say — but that would not surprise me either."

Fall annual paves the way for curlers November start

Membership up, new skips named, many improvements carried out

Lindsay curlers will open their 4th annual curling season November 4th on guaranteed ice pads and with an increased membership.

President John Bell chaired the annual fall meeting which was held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Monday night and the meeting was so well organized that business matters were handled with dispatch. There was very little evidence of controversial items on the agenda.

The meeting of skips to select rinks will be held next Monday night and the number of skips was increased to 40, allowing for 160 curlers. Last night's session was well attended, plus eight new ones. The new skips are: Bellamy, Carly, Eberis, E. Goodman, Jameson, Millage, Quirk and Tummion.

Lindy Mackey and Mit. Edicott of the ice committee reported that although it was estimated that improvements to the ice and club quarters would be in the neighborhood of $2,200, in order to make a through job, it will be necessary to spend $3,000. "Everything that human hands can do to improve ice conditions has been done," said Mr. Mackey.

Investigation showed a strip of clay from No. 5 sheet and man-slayers holding the artificial ice pipes were found to be two and three feet short. A large number of pipes were not fastened securely on the sleeper, and the brine in the pipes had not been changed for 17 years instead of every two or five years. These conditions have been remedied and to further ensure a better ice a foot of sand has been leveled across the entire rink and the pipes will be altered to match the slats on the east. Improvements will be paid out of the $1,500 donation received from the ladies section.

Members discussed at some length the question of alterations for men's curling, commercial group nights, mixed curling nights and nights for the business girls group. This proved to be the only controversial item and the whole matter of ice allotment was referred back to the executive.

Past President Lou Walker said the mixed curling group will be increased by several new members and that of 24 rinks, the number might be 36. It is expected that the business girls membership will

OCTOBER 2, 1913
One automobilist, who exceeded the speed limit in Lindsay was caught in a police car this morning when a Midland, man was fined $5.00 and costs by Police Magistrate Jackson for speeding his car on Bond St. on September 20th. Through his lawyer, Mr. A. M. Fulton, he pleaded guilty. The information was laid by Chief Clifton who intends keeping a sharp lookout for all speed finders in future. This practice must cease and the sooner reckless auto drivers realize this, the better. The public must be protected.

Convention

There was a large attendance at the Victoria County Teachers' Convention held at the Central School today. In the neighborhood of 150 teachers were present, and Secretary Trask has a very busy time entering up their names and supplying those who applied with tickets to see "Lauren" the first concert on Mr. C. C. Forsythe's Lyceum Course for this season. Nearly everyone of the teachers are going and seem to be taking two or more friends with them.

OCTOBER 2, 1938

Haliburton-Hundreds of visitors passed through the village recently from over the province and several United States cars were noticed. Some were only visitors, other sightseers and some fishermen and many were just visitors at the resorts. Artists had a busy time and some beautiful pictures were sketched of the trees and picturesque landings in the most glorious colors ever seen in the country.

Choir affairs banquet

Members of the choir of Canby Street United Church, with their friends were guests of the official board of the church at a banquet held in Cedar Bay, Balsam Lake, the gathering numbering some 56 in all. The function proved to be one of the most delightful of its kind ever held by the organization.

Sweep

"Superstitious Skip" Lindsay curlers will open the season and ready for the coming season. Out of the annual fall meeting held Monday night this story. Before the club had matched stones and games were played on natural ice, many of the curling rocks were quite ancient, some being in use since the club was formed back 85 years ago. The running surface on many stones were worn flat. Allan Ross, monumental firm was the first to re-sharpen stones and Charlie Allan, once an enthusiastic member of the club tells of the season when he, along with Harold Wood and Neil Gregory, were members of a rink skipped by them.

The Salvation Army At Work

Youngsters who run afoul of the law for the first time can be moulded into good citizens by someone taking an interest in their problems and future. This is the position taken by the Salvation Army, an agency that takes such an interest in boys under eighteen.

In the above photo Police Chief John Hunter is seen turning over a young man in trouble to Captain Bowles of the Salvation Army. Lindsay Citadel for boys is the organization taken to the Salvation Army, which depends on the Community Chest for funds to carry on much of its work.

Beluchistan employment chief spending four weeks here studying Canadian methods

How many people have heard of Baluchistan or know where it is? Quite a number of people in Lindsay now know it's a province in West Pakistan since making the acquaintance of Kazim Ali from the town of Quetta in Baluchistan.

Mr. Ali is the manager of an employment exchange in West Pakistan, (employment exchange in the English title for employment service), who is at present in training with the Lindsay branch of the National Employment Service.

Mr. Ali came to Canada under the Colombo Plan training facilities to study vocational guidance and employment counselling in Canada and is spending six months in various centres in Ontario. He spent the first four weeks of his training at Niagara Falls, which he describes as the most beautiful place in the world, further four weeks at Galt and at present four weeks at Lindsay. He returns to Galt from Lindsay for a few days next, and then spends the rest of his training period in Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa.

"We have tremendous problems in Pakistan with unemployment," says Mr. Ali. "We have 85 per cent illiterate and unskilled. There are only 20 employment exchanges and you can compare this with the more than 200 in Canada for 19 million people."

Former Lindsay doctor making "babies" pay off

A former Lindsay doctor is making "babies" pay off! Of course, these "babies" are four-legged ones—two, two-year-old puppies which recently "walked away" with top money at the Newark Raceway near Campbellville, Ontario.

Equality of sexes? Fear ganders being led on "wild goose chase"

Lands and Forests officials at Lindsay are afraid "equality of sexes" has invaded wildlife. Their fears spring from having observed unusual behaviour among members of the wild goose family and they are wondering if ganders are being led on a "wild goose chase" as a result of madame goose's elevated status.

The incident which led to their concern is recounted in the current Lindsay District "Weekly Report" and here is what it has to say:

"Most of us annually observe the migratory flights of Canada geese."

"Who in fact has not stood in awe, marvelling at the precision of their ranks and the power of their wings as the measured beats carry them to their southern destination?"

"Equally magnetic to their constancy in flight, not rapturous or excited, but quiet and unburied as though recounting for each other's benefit the more pleasant experiences of the summer past."

"There was a great deal of choice of frade training. The 'House of Concord' is just one of the ways in which the Salvation Army helps people. The Salvation Army is among the Lindsay organizations taken to the Salvation Army, which depends on the Community Chest for funds to carry on much of its work."

Felt accused was placed in emergency position, driving charge dismissed

A charge of careless driving against Harold Moore of Little Britain was dismissed by Magistrate R. E. MacKay today when, after hearing the evidence, he told the court that the accused had been placed in an emergency position at the time the accident occurred.

Report wolves

"Vicinity of farm buildings."

Last year Richard Milburn found a deer carcass which wolves had killed near their barn.

Lands and Forests authorities at Lindsay and Haliburton state that as far as they know the wolf population in the area is normal and they have not received an exceptional number of claims for loss of livestock which is $150 an adult and a lesser sum for cubs.

Enjoyed six-week trip to Britain but prefer Canada

Former Victoria County registrar Dan McQuarrie and Mrs. McQuarrie have returned to Lindsay following a six-week holiday visit to the British Isles.

Took car, ditched it, pays $208

John Terence Burke, 18, of Toronto, arrested by Lindsay police on a charge of car theft, was assessed a total of $208 in Lindsay court, after the charge was reduced to "taking without owners consent."

OPP Const. J. Miner told the court of investigating a one-car accident around 12.15 a.m. just south of the Pleasant Pt. junction, and of finding the accused lying in the vehicle conscious.

The accused was found later to be unsteady on his feet, admitted driving the car, then denied it, and would not tell who owned the vehicle, said the officer.

The car had travelled 336 feet on the shoulder of the road, then rolled to the ditch and rolling over, causing damage beyond repair, continued the witness.

In his defence, the accused said he had been drinking and did not remember going for a ride, until he found himself in the ditch.

Rabid fox shot in Omemee

Omemee residents are taking a closer look now at any strange animal following the destruction of a rabid fox by the village.

Police Chief James Whetnam says that following several calls from residents regarding a strange animal which had been seen fighting with a dog, he and three other residents formed a search party and, after nearly three hours, were fortunate in finding the animal and destroying it.

A report from the Dominion on laboratories showed the animal to be a positive rabid, and the dog, a pet collie owned by Robert Bloom of Omemee, will be taken to the department laboratories in Peterborough for further examination said the chief.

Western's five-run opening spurt fails to withstand Carbide fire

Five runs in the first two innings spelled out defeat for the Western Merceries at Little Britain when Buzz Hodgson came to the rescue and smuffed the Mercs on two hits and one run the rest of the way. Faced with the five-to-nothing deficit, Union Carbide fought back and had the game tied at five all at the end of four frames. They added three in the sixth and one in the eighth to claim a 9-5 win and tie the best of seven final series at two games each.

How Bavard started for Union Carbide and fell victim of four Carbide errors and four Mercury hits by the time he had one out in the second frame. A shift change sent Doug Kelly into left field, Ron Jewell to right field, John Horton to centre field, Jack Spratt to first base, and Buzz Hodgson to the mound and the new combination proved a winning one. Carbide bats also came to life as they nibbled on Craig Case's slants for a total of ten hits, not more than two in any inning and scored nine runs in the next six frames.

Eight Mercury errors did little to help Craig Case bear the brunt of the Carbide attack, and Ted Birchard added to their miseries when he talked himself out of the ball game in the top of the fourth after being tagged out at home plate, breaking up the smooth working Western infield.

Well over two hundred fans took in last night's game and once the game was tied even Bill Cummins, umpiring at first base, had difficulty making himself heard. Buzz Hodgson brought on the loudest shouts of all when he lined a homer through the middle that ended against the centre field barrier some three hundred and forty-five feet distant to start the eighth inning.

Dave Wainman started the Mercs off with a bang when he lined a single past Bob Gowden playing in close at third. Merle Reeds singled over second and Birchard was safe on an error to load the bases. The Centre rallied however with a double play. Paul Ashmore singled to John Horton in deep right field and the throw was in time to tag Wainman out. Don Jackett however never batted in two runs with a double, and two walks loaded the bases again before Vaughn Case's second homer, a two-run homer, tied the game at three all in the bottom half. In the bottom half, a foul to the catcher and a pop to short had two out. Merle Reeds had difficulty with Morley Daynes' grounder and Buzz Hodgson beat out a hard bounce to third to pull two on. Spratt's bounce to third ended the rally.

Jerry Becke had trouble with Craig Case's grounder to start the second, and Wainman laced Case to second. Reeds walked and Birchard doubled Case home. The throw was dropped at second and permited Reeds to score and Birchard moved to third when the throw was dropped at the plate. This brought on the shift change. Ashmore laced Reeds home and Jackett started proceedings again with a single to left. Bushy walked but Francis fanned leaving two on. Union Carbide threatened again in the second after two were out. Jerry Becke and Doug Kelly both singled. Merle Reeds booted Pearson's bounce but threw to the plate in time to tag Becke trying to score from second.

To walk to Craig Case in the third, the first of three, did little damage when Wainman was out on strikes and Reeds grounded forced Case at second. Carbide scored their first run in the third when Morley Daynes again beat out an error at second. Hodgson was called out on strikes for the second out but Jack Spratt came through with a single to centre scoring Daynes. Horton skied to Bushy.

Ted Birchard started the Mercs off in the fourth with a single and went to second on a passed ball. An infield out moved him to third, and Don Jackett bounced to Morley Daynes at short. Daynes checked Birchard then fired to first line to get Jackett. Spratt rifled a throw to the corner of the plate in time for Ashmore to tag Birchard. Ted raised quite a fuss and watched the remainder of the game from the bench. Ken Johnson was inserted in Birchard's place in the line-up, going to centre field with Vaughan Pogue coming in to second. Andy Bushey to third and Merle Reeds to short.

Union Carbide used two hits and two Mercury errors to tie up the ball game in the bottom of the fourth. Case fanned Jewell. Jerry Becke singled to right. Doug Kelly bounced to Wainman at first and his throw was high perimitted Becke to score. Danny Pearson beat out a bunt single and Bob Gowden's bunt was rifled past first allowing Kelly and Pearson to score. Morley Daynes sacrificed Gowden home with a long fly to right for the fourth run and Hodgson bounced back to the pitcher.

Western's broke the tie in the fifth with a tainted run. Bushey fanned. Francis swung on a bad third strike that got away from Danny Pearson and he beat the throw to first. Pogue's bounce forced Francis at second and Case walked. Wainman then hit a double over second scoring Pogue. Reeds grounded out.

Bob Francis prevented Union Carbide from scoring in the third when he made a spectacular catch of Spratt's high, most behind third. Spratt was on third before he realized the ball had been caught. Horton followed with an infield single. Jewell then hoisted to left and the ball squirted out of Francis' glove but Case fanned the next two batters leaving the pair on base.

Hodgson handcuffed the Mercs through the final four frames with only one batter getting on base for a walk in the eighth. In the sixth he fanned the first batter and tossed the next two out at first. In the seventh he struck out two and one lined to Daynes at short. Case walked to open the eighth. Wainman booted to Jerry Becke. Reeds forced Case at second, and was out himself for taking a lead-off trying to steal second. In the ninth, Johnson fanned. Ashmore lined to short and Hodgson laced Jackett out at first.

Union Carbide in the meantime came up with a three run sixth inning and added one in the eighth. Pearson walked and was sacrificed to second. Daynes doubled to right scoring Pearson. Hodgson bounced to Wainman who threw to a best of five set for the Dr. Bushey too late to get Daynes. Spratt fanned and Horton

JOBLESS FIGURES VARY LITTLE

The employment situation this past month in Lindsay is not very much different from the same month last year, reports C. C. Kirkness manager of Lindsay National Employment Service. Made unemployment figures were 272 last year compared with 278 this year and female figures were 305 last year and 190 this year.

Unemployed persons making claims, compare with last year as follows: Male claims, 209 this year against 213 last year and female claims, 141 this year as against 112 last year.

Angled Daynes home. Jewell's bounce got away from Wainman allowing Hodgson to score the third run before Jewell was forced by Becke.

To top it off the fans got what they were waiting for in the eighth when Hodgson blasted a pitch to the centre field barrier for his fifth homer of the series.

The fifth game of the series is scheduled to be played at Little Britain Thursday evening at seven p.m. Union Carbide won the first and fourth game, Westerns the second and third.

ED SULLIVAN FOR STUDEBAKER

Today we introduce the beautiful new 1964 Studebaker. You will find it different from any other car. It is an independent company, with independent ideas. We think the small cars are too cramped and flimsy, the big ones are too expensive and hard to maneuver. We have built this thinking into the new Studebaker. We set new standards in interior space. The car is longer than any car yet but has lost none of its maneuverability. It is built like a fort. It makes no compromise. We're proud of this. If you're a family man, you'll want your car to be the safest on the road. Studebaker is exactly that. For example, completely padded instrument panels are standard on all models. And Studebaker surrounds you with a "grid" of safety—like "bridge" constructed. Armor Guard frame. You can have caliper disc brakes, the safest kind in the world. If you're a car enthusiast, you'll like a "hot" car—and Studebaker can match performance with cars costing $2,000 to $4,000 more. If you're a business man, you'll prefer the "big value" dollars to the "low" dollar. Studebaker does not "skimp" down on price, but builds up to high standards of comfort and economy. If this kind of car appeals to you, we invite you to see the beautiful '64 Studebaker—the one car that's different...by design.

Fenelon WI to support new FWIO project

Fenelon Falls (PNS)—Fenelon Falls Women's Institute resumed their regular meetings when they met at the home of Mrs. D. A. Scott.

The president, Mrs. J. D. Thomson welcomed everyone with a special greeting to the visitors and new members, after which the meeting was opened in the usual manner.

Minutes of the June meeting and the financial reports were given by Mrs. D. A. Scott, and a lengthy business period followed, to clear up the important matters which had accumulated during the summer recess. One of the more important questions discussed was the project of the FWIO, which is help to the Indians and Eskimos in Northern Canada.

This is a self-help programme which establishes teaching the citizens in Northern Canada that they may teach others. It was decided to support this project by purchasing a $10 gift certificate. An invitation to attend "Open House" at the Training School in Lindsay was accepted with thanks and several ladies volunteered to drive their cars on that date. A two day school on "Deserts" will be held at the Government Building early in October. It was decided that two ladies should attend this school, and later give instruction to the village ladies on the course.

Mrs. A. W. McGee gave the report on the sale of hand-craft held during the summer. Proceeds of the sale amounted to $353.90. In response to a request from the White Case Club of Lindsay, it was decided to entertain the club when supper will be served in the United Church lower hall. Fenelon Falls WI will also provide one number for the programme. A committee was named to make necessary arrangements for the evening. Mr. Scott read the Good Cheer Report. In the absence of the convenor, Miss V. McInnis.

An interesting commentary on The Pitcher Plant, the emblem of Newfoundland was read by Mrs. McInnis.

The programme arranged by Mrs. J. Halligan convenor of Home Economics and Health was opened with a reading by Mrs. H. Popert entitled "A Homemakers' Recipe for a New Outlook" after which Mrs. McGee read an excellent paper on "Back Alliments". It is reported that some eight million Canadians have back injuries. Mrs. Halligan had a paper which told many simple ways in which a back may be injured. This year Fenelon Institute entered a display in the Lindsay Central Exhibition and Mrs. McGee gave a short talk on the poem. Mrs. Popert read another poem before the meeting was closed.

While lunch was prepared the ladies viewed the Fair Display and congratulated those who had prepared the exhibit on what they were awarded sixth place, however the marks for the display were very close with only 16 marks separating the first and sixth place.

Plans to attend "Open House" at the Training School were completed during the lunch hour.

The "He lands of Haliburton" have a bonnie tartan all of their own. Norman Craig, secretary - manager of the Highlands of Haliburton Chamber of Commerce collected the first five bolts of the new tartan from Canadian Pacific Express office in Lindsay on Tuesday.

The new registered tartan will be made into kilts and skirts and ties and shirts and many other tourist items. The colours of the tartan will be incorporated on Chamber of Commerce literature and publicity.

The colours in the tartan have meanings according to Norman Craig. The green represents the forests of the highlands, the blue the lakes, and the white, the snows and the white trillium; flower of Ontario province. The red and gold together represents the shadings of the autumn foliage and the brown stands for the pioneers that first settled Haliburton County.

The new tartan, the result of many months of work and consideration by members of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber was designed by Miss Patricia Jenkin of Gagetown, New Brunswick, proprietor of Loomcrafters of Gagetown and was hand-loomed in Scotland.

"We are expecting big results with the new Highland tartan", Mr. Craig declared.

Abel selects 11 players to fill out All-Star team

(United Press International)
Detroit Red Wings Coach Sid Abel has selected an additional 11 players to fill out his National Hockey League All-Star game, at Toronto, October 5th.

The 11 players—three each from Detroit, Boston and Montreal and two from New York—will join nine of the first and second round selections of last year's voting for the game against the Stanley Cup Champion Toronto Maple Leafs.

and centre Jean Beliveau. The two remaining players, both from New York Rangers, are defenseman Harry Howell and left winger Camille Henry. The other players named to the All-Star team in the voting by sportsmen and broadcasters in the six league cities last spring are:

First team—Goalkeeper, Glen Hall, Chicago; defence, Pierre Plante, Chicago; centre, Stan Mikita, Chicago; right wing, Gordie Howe, Detroit.

Second team - goalkeeper, Terry Sawchuk, Detroit; defence, Elmer Vasco, Chicago; centre, Henri Richard, Canadiens; right wing, Andy Bathgate, Rangers; left wing, Bobby Hull, Chicago. None of the players on either the All-Star team or the Leafs will be allowed to play in the game unless they have been signed by their respective clubs for the 1983-84 NHL season.

IOOE members begin new season with potluck supper

Bythe Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, started a new season with a potluck supper at the summer home of Mrs. S. Henry. The delicious supper was followed by a regular meeting.

Following Roll Call and the secretary's and treasurer's reports, the correspondence was read. Included was a thank-you note from the recipient of a Rhythe Chapter prize awarded to a Grade eight student at St. Mary's School. The Pre-natal Classes, sponsored by the Chapter, will commence a new course under the instruction of the new V.O.N. nurse, Miss Jean Tully. The Rhythe Ball will be held at the Legion Hall in November. A Remembrance Day wreath will be placed at the Cenotaph. The meeting was adjourned.

Japan an enigma spiritually, Lindsay minister declares

Globe Girdling

By United Press International

Up Again
The proposed pension increase comes up again in the House of Commons today and it's the hope of some of the members that the debate will be quieter than yesterday. Yesterday, Liberals and Conservatives started a shouting match over the legislation and one member commented later that the scene looked "more like a kindergarten than a group of adults".

Denies Report
Canada's controversial Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh has denied the ever said Quebec's proposed pension plan could cause a sort of National Socialism as Nazi Germany had. She told the House of Commons yesterday that a Toronto newspaper had misquoted her. Quebec Conservative Louis-Joseph Pigeon refused to accept her denial and said he had more faith in the newspaper than in the health minister.

"Faint Hope"
The government is clinging to a "faint hope" that eleventh hour proposals may mean a proposed trusteeship on Canada's five Maritime unions won't have to go into effect. Both Prime Minister Lester Pearson and Labor Minister Allan Rock have said they would prefer a private settlement of the Great Lakes dispute rather than the trusteeship bill.

Destroys Mill
The Cuban Government reports a "pirate ship" attacked and destroyed a lumber mill on the northeast coast of Oriente Province the government says the attack was carried out early yesterday. The ship—according to the report—escaped "to the north"—a reference to the United States.

Announces Support
The Algerian army has announced its support for President Ahmed Ben Bella and denounced the rebels who seek to oust him. The statement reaffirming the army's loyalty came as heavily-armed government troops moved to isolate the rebels in a mountain region east of Algiers. Although there has been no bloodshed since the revolt began Sunday, a showdown appears near as Ben Bella's troops inch toward the rebel stronghold.

Next 48 Hours

A Washington newspaper

While Japan is developing industrially and economically, it is an enigma spiritually. This statement was made by Rev. R. K. McLean, Cambridge St. United Church minister at Lindsay, during a broadcast sponsored by the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Recently returned from several weeks spent in Japan, he mentioned especially the tremendous building programs which are underway throughout the country.

Noting that Japan is fast taking her place among the top nations of the world, Mr. McLean said that although the people still cling to their own religion, they are yearning for, and ready to receive, the Christian faith. He said the church has a great challenge in facing up to the situation in an awakening Japan.

Gloria Elizabeth Dugan wed in Lochlin United

A pretty double ring wedding took place in the Lochlin United Church on September 14th at 7 o'clock when Gloria Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dugan of Lochlin, was united in marriage to William Frederick Savoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Savoy of Mendenhall, officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Archie Brown of Lochlin and Mrs. F. Hicks of Halton. The song "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a street-length gown of white nylon and rayon lace over taffeta with a double tiered skirt of lace over tulle. The dress had matching jacket with long lightly pointed sleeves. Her headpiece, a halo of pearls and sequins, held a three-quarter length veil of nylon tulle with rayon embroidered design. Her pearls and earrings were a gift from her aunt and uncle. She carried a white Bible with streamers and on it were tiny red roses and miniature white mums.

The bride chose as her attendants, her sister, Mrs. Bill Davis of Lochlin, as matron of honor and Miss Eileen Cuthbert as bridesmaid. They both wore dresses of aqua nylon over taffeta with matching blue feather headpieces with shoulder length veils. They carried bouquets of yellow Shasta daisies and miniature white and yellow mums. Caroleen Dugan, of Lochlin, was her sister's flower girl. She wore a dress of green nylon over taffeta, her headpiece was pink feathers.

Janetville UCW September meet

Janetville (PNS) — The September meeting of the U.C.W. was held in the Sunday School room of the Janetville church. The meeting opened with the theme song with the president in the chair. Mrs. George Burn was in charge of the missionary programme. The scripture was read followed by a hymn. A film was shown on Hong Kong, which was very interesting, showing how the people live there. The programme ended with a hymn. The President, Mrs. John Burn took over the business meeting. They welcomed everyone. The roll call was answered by 15 members and the minutes were read by Mrs.

the secretary. A note of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Earnie Collier for a fridge which they donated to the church. A number of women made plans to do some painting on the cupboards in the kitchen recently installed in the basement of the church. A discussion was held for the work to be done in the snack bar at the Lindsay Fair. Plans were made to cater to a wedding later this month. The meeting closed in the usual form after which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Gordon Staples and Mrs. Harold Moxon.

Mrs. M. A. Beacock hosts for W1 September meet

Nestleton (PNS) — The September meeting of Nestleton Women's Institute was held at the farm home of the secretary, Mrs. M. A. Beacock, overlooking Lake Scugog at St. Christopher.

The president Mrs. Herbert Vine welcomed the 13 members and one visitor present. After the usual opening of the Institute Ode ad repeating of the Creed in union the minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. July was a holiday and in Aug. the group was invited to join the Blackstock W.I. for a picnic in Cartwright Community Park. Due to inclement weather a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed in Blackstock Community Hall.

Business included a short course, "Safety Begins at Home" in Nestleton United Church early in January. Blackstock and Janetville branches will be invited to attend Nestleton also decided to join Blackstock W.I. for their Millinery Short Course in February. A donation of $300 in talent money was received from Mrs. R. Davidson and $5.00 voted to Community Hospital, Port Perry. A donation of $10.00 was given to the F.W.I.O. UNESCO fund.

The area convention is to be held in Royal York Hotel, Toronto. Several ladies will go by chartered bus with Blackstock. Mrs. Herbert Vine will be delegate and Mrs. Malcolm Emerson plans to attend the complete session. Quil blocks were assembled and a quilting arranged at Mrs. Langfeld's.

Mrs. George Heslop, convener of Home Economics and Health presented the following program. The Roll Call was "My Pet Household Economy". Mrs. A. M. Beacock prepared a fine motto, "Men Build Houses, Women Build Homes". HERBED FISH BAKE

1 pound frozen fish fillets, partially thawed; ½ cup chopped onion; 1 small clove garlic, minced; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; ½ teaspoon fennel, crushed; 4 teaspoon thyme, crushed; ¼ teaspoon salt; Dash pepper; ¾ cup cornflake crumbs.

Place fillets in greased 10 x 15 1/2-inch baking dish. Cook onion and garlic in butter till tender. Stir in seasonings; cook 1 minute. Spread over fish. Top with crumbs. Bake in 500 deg. F oven 12 minutes or till fish flakes easily with a fork. Makes 4 servings.

ALL-ONE SUPPER

1 can condensed cream of chicken soup; ½ cup milk; 1 cup diced cooked or canned chicken; 1 cup julienne strips cooked or canned ham; ¼ teaspoon marjoram, crushed; ¼ teaspoon rosemary, crushed; 1 cup drained canned peas; ½ 10-ounce package frozen green peas, thawed enough to break apart (about 1 cup); 1 10-ounce package frozen French fries, potato puffs.

Combine first 7 ingredients; turn into 13-cup casserole. Top with potato puffs. Bake in oven 425 deg. 40 to 45 minutes. Makes 4 or 5 servings. —Better Homes and Gardens.

Fashion Fun

Sportswear now influences the sleepwear design from the younger girl. Here is a sleep suit inspired by a swimsuit from the early 1900's with knee-length pants and crew-necked, long sleeved top. The material is a horizontal striped cotton knit. —UPI

Beauty Tip

A restrained hand at the right light — the right kind of night light — a great deal to do a woman's makeup especially to the needs color in her cheeks. Apply rouge sparingly — let it do a faint suggestion of blush to the cheeks. —UPI

BOIL-IN-BAG

Here is something new in cooking — new frozen boil-in-bag vegetables are vacuum-packed with lightly seasoned water. Cookers (with the label direct, they have the taste and flavor of fresh vegetables. Cooking time ranges from 12 minutes for green beans and whole kernel corn with sweet peppers cook in 14 minutes each. Each package is designed to serve 2 to 3 persons. —UPI

LOW CALORIE

If you would like to keep your weight down and your energy up — here is a low-calorie, high-protein salad for you. For six people, tear a crisp head of western iceberg lettuce into a bowl. Add two cups of cottage cheese, two packages of frozen shrimp — cooked, cleaned and chilled — two cups of cooked green beans, and two small apples. Tear lightly with salt and pepper. Add lemon juice and a quarter of a cup of low-calorie french dressing. This salad has a total of 160 calories and 20 percent protein. —UPI

FISH FILLERS

Here's a flavor filly for broiled fish fillets. Place fish on aluminum foil on preheated, greased broiler pan. Sprinkle the fish with salt and pepper. Add lemon juice and spread with chili sauce. Broil two to three inches from the source of heat without turning, allowing about five to ten minutes. Fish will be done when it flakes easily when tested with a fork. Allow about ten minutes broiling time per inch thickness of fresh or thawed, frozen fillets.

Green peppers will be at their peak flavor for the next while. They're always popular when stuffed with a savory filling and baked. Try Stuffed Peppers for a tasty lunch or supper dish.

serve four. Saute ½ cup minced onion until soft in 2 tablespoons butter. Blend in 2 cups flaked canned salmon; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, a dash Tabasco sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups cooked rice and one 7½-ounce can tomato sauce. Heat mixture through. Meanwhile, cut a half pound from stem end of 4 large green peppers. Remove seeds. Simmer peppers 5 minutes in boiling salted water. Drain; fill with salmon mixture; sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake 20 minutes. Covered in preheated moderate oven, 375 deg. 10 minutes until topping is browned.

Grill Fire Starter

Try starting your barbecue fire with tiny hex-nut-shaped, wooden tablets from the drug store. These pills burn a long time with an almost invisible flame. Just lay one or two of them in your firebox, and light with a match. Stack your fuel lightly over the flame, and it will quickly ignite.

Steel Wool Economy

Steel wool that has been used with water can be saved for future use. If you'll surgically cut the wool apart, it will dry. The soda acts as rust inhibitor.

SEWING VARIED LINE IN FASHION

Suits move into many realms, and the fashions are designed for both sportswear and cocktail and even formal evening wear, reflecting the many varied activities of today's woman. The ready-to-wear country look in deep textured tweeds to long skirted evening suits in sumptuous, new crinkled, blistered or cut of fabrics.

Designed in wool coating for comfort suits are found in featherweight worsted for early autumn and later. Undercoats are multi purpose, shaped for the National Board of the Coat and Suit industry.

New suits are ingeniously shaped for the skimming look, the easy elegance depending on two factors — careful structure beneath and seam treatment which also give fashion a new dimension.

Costume suits are more important than ever in new fabric schemes. A jerkin or sleeveless "woolover" type under a wool suit, a cape-jacket with slim skirt or dress. For afternoon splendour, two weights of royal blue fabric are used in one ensemble, lightweight for the skimming dress, heavier weight for the full-length coat.

Emphasis is on high-lining lines for young flattery, more restrained, however, than empire line of seasons back interest is mainly focused in flowing or straight skirts and coats. The slim backs may be graceful. The skirts are made and jacketed. Tied to be longer. For those who feel that their figures look best in shorter lengths, there is a good selection of hip-level models.

From the truly sportive dress to the leather patches on a hacking jacket to the special blend worsted suit are fashions for every taste.

For trim it is evident, too. Women can take their pick of light and luminous to rich dark natural mink. Beaver and nutria in natural or black leopard and sable provide soft, elegant. Practical and luxurious are the new detachable coats. A Diet rich line in one Canadian style fox.

Sleeves come down to expose-shouldered, boudoir, or through slightly wider, natural and soft, generally ray. Jackets have interesting.

vents, newway tabs, cape treatments — and buttons, buttons, buttons — old and far from diminutive in every shape under an autumn sky.

Fabrics are newly textured and interest abounds. Mohair loops and lush mohair tweeds offer show brilliant contrasts. Flannels make a clean break as to melody, power and smooth. Bubble cloth is foamy light with warm. Checks from miniature to magnificence perform many favors.

Reds are first in the color scheme, followed closely by cool tones, topped with camel tones to brown, grey and heady are the blues from teal to royal and light, bright navy. Goldens and greens are in the spectrum.

HOW CAN I ???

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I clean and freshen up wood-paneled walls that are finished with varnish or shellac?

A. After dusting, freshen up by applying the following: white or yellow turpentine of pure gum turpentine, one cup of boiled linseed oil, and about a tablespoon of vinegar. With a clean cloth apply a very thin coating of this, let it stand about 15 minutes, then rub it until it meets the test of a fingertip — without smudging or marking.

Q. How can I remove grease spots from wooleens or silks?

A. Use a little alcohol or ether, rubbing this over the spots, for wooleens or silks.

A. Use a little talcum powder, rubbing this over the spots, then brushing off with a stiff brush after allowing to stand for a day or two.

FLOWER ARRANGING HINTS

Polage sometimes needs trimming to be effective. Shape leaves to required size or cut off brown, unsightly edges.

Best way to carry cut flowers fresh from the garden is in a heads-down position. This keeps heavy-headed flowers wilt-free.

Conditioning from three to five hours will harden the stems. Lay flowers flat, wrap in newspaper, plunge in water.

Infirm peals at the base of Flowers as mums can be prevented from falling by application of wax from a candle.

Keeping or reviving flower ing shrubs and chrysanthemums depends on prompt pruning for at least two weeks along stems.

Lavish intake of water is assured for woody stems and branches by paring off two inches of the bark and cross cutting stems.

Jaunty curve on a straight stem can be man-made by placing thumbs together, where angle is desired, and bending slowly.

How to stretch guest room

How to stretch a 9 x 19-foot guest room. There are several design methods by which you can stretch the space in a small room. One of the most important is color scheme. The use of one-color look is a space expander. A simple sofa bed makes best use of a small amount of space in a guest room. Also arrange furniture to suit the walls. Good treatments, too, can make a room more spacious than it really is.

HOW CAN I ???

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I restore a faded slip that has become limp?

A. Sponge with borax and water. Use a half-teaspoon of borax to half a pint of warm water, making sure that the borax is completely dissolved. Sponge the slip on the wrong side at the home and when nearly dry, iron on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron.

Q. What's the best way to remove porcelain on a kitchen

A. When the range is cool, use mild soap and warm water. Avoid cleaning powder and harsh abrasives which may scratch the glossy enamel finish.

ALWAYS ELEGANT

Fabrics for fall are in integral part of fashion, expressing in their textures "The Look," either sporty or sultry.

Shaggy-surfaced tweeds, sometimes with mohair loops, to rub, go city-sportive. Cloves, woven fabrics such as meltons are popular for blends are on the side for the winter, while many mohair and mohair blends look both casual and dressy, and always very elegant.

New emphasis on tailoring calls for menswear textures and patterns — chalk and pin stripes, glen plaid, worsted, tweeds, herringbone, broad and designs, foulard prints. Crisp elegance for coatings is captured in a new classic and contemporary sophistication, after five brings many dramatic fabrics into the fashion picture — crepes, velvets, sequins and matelasse, sculptured looks in silks and satins.

For sportive indeed are fabrics that look like shiny black patent leather, as well as clever copies of animal and lizard.

SCARF STORY

Many fall fashions feature scarves, in a variety of fabrics and furs, tucked into V-neck lines or worn as bawls.

DIVIDE PEONIES NOW

Fall is the time to plant new peonies and to divide and transplant old ones. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture say that peonies may be divided and transplanted in late September and October.

Peonies do not require to be divided frequently, but if the clumps have become large and overcrowded now is the time to divide and replant.

Dig up the plants and shake off the soil around the roots. Divide the clumps by cutting them with a sharp knife. A good division has 3 or 4 basal joints just above the roots. Cut away any damaged or hollow roots.

The divisions should be covered with no more than 2 inches of soil. Planting too deeply is often the reason why recently planted peonies fail to bloom.

38 members attend September meeting

Cannington (PNS) — With an attendance of 38 members, the first meeting of the fall term of the United Church Women opened with quiet music by Mrs. N. McPhaden and prayer by the president, Mrs. Scott Brandon who also presented some Labor Day meditation. Members of the C.G.I.F. and messengers and their leader Mrs. Theo Pajummen were present and assisted in the program. The devotional with the theme "Christian Concern" was in charge of Mrs. Carter and opened with a hymn. Offering was received and Mrs. Garnet Woodward read the Scripture lesson and gave a fine commentary. Mrs. Wragg led in prayer. A vocal trio by Brenda Sproule, Jeanne Carter and Janet Tomlinson with Doris Lloyd accompanying them was much appreciated.

Mrs. Nelson Purvis gave an informative talk on the parts and workings of the United Nations. Anne Thomson, Judy McFeeters, Barbara Spauld, Gordon Tomlinson, Pam McFeeter, Billy Parliament represented a committee belonging to the U.N. The concern and accomplishments of the U.N. in each country was explained. In closing the trio sang a Chinese folk song. Mrs. Brandon expressed a thank you for this educational part of the program with the choir.

Miss F. Nancevick spent several days at the School for Leaders in Whitley and told of her experiences. A More Excellent Way was the theme of the school.

Seriously hurt in accident, fined $50

David Howard Sleep, of Lindsay, pleading through his solicitor to a charge of careless driving paid a fine of $50 plus cost in Lindsay court Friday.

OPP Const. McDregg told the court that the sports car Sleep had been driving had travelled 335 feet out of control before landing in the ditch.

The accused received severe injuries and was rushed to the Ross Memorial Hospital, then to Toronto General. A passenger-Douglas Fisher, of R.R. Lindsay was treated for minor bruises and released.

The accident happened around 11:30 p.m. July 20 while rounding the Kennedy Bay curve on Highway 36.

Defence Counsel D. M. Thompson told the court that the client had been unfamiliar with the car which was different from the standard model.

"I feel the boy has suffered sufficiently," remarked Magistrate Moore, and hope this will act as a deterrent to others."

Bad road plea is rejected, youth fined

A Burnt River youth, 17-year-old Robt. J. Sheehy — was found guilty on a careless driving charge, in Lindsay court Friday and assessed a fine of $30.00.

The arresting officer, Const. J. Hutchinson, said he had found the vehicle off the road where it had travelled about 110 feet before hitting a tree.

Defence Counsel J. McQuarrie told the court that the council for the area had asked the residents to fix the road.

"Wouldn't you say it was a pretty bad shape?" he asked of the officer.

"No as I have travelled on many occasions at 50 miles an hour," said the officer.

The accident happened just north of Burnt River on September 14th, it was noted.

Harvest thanksgiving service well attended at Onemee

Onemee (PNS) — Harvest thanksgiving services in Christ Church Onemee were well attended with the rectory Rev. R. Mansfield celebrating Holy Communion at 8:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. services.

Grain, vegetables, and flowers decorated the church in colorful arrangements. The choir sang the anthem "O Lord, Our Hearts We Raise" at the latter service.

In the evening Mr. Frank Godley, organist of George St. United Church, Peterboro, played for choral evening.

His selections were "Now The Sun Has Velled His Light" by Purcell; "Tou Vienst the Cards" by Green; "Solomon Selody" by Davies "Adagio" Sonata in A flat, and "Mendelssohn".

Campaign committee names executive

The Lindsay Community announced its executive for the coming 1968 year.

Replacing W. J. Bandish will be Don Anderson as president.

Others on the executive are: Ray Patterson, 1st vice-president; Alex McKessock, 2nd vice-president and special names; William Moore, treasurer; and Mrs. J. A. McNabb, executive secretary.

Harry MacDonald remains as campaign chairman and L.L. (Les) Porter as industrial chairman. James Kinney is large business chairman; Bill Walker, small business chairman; Hugh Mooney, publicity and Harvey Behlmer, house-to-house canvasser.

Wide postal rate hikes announced by Ottawa

Lacks money to defend son, crown to provide counsel

A Manila woman who was unable to pay for a lawyer to act for the defence of her son, charged with indecent assault was assured by Magistrate Moore in court Friday that legal defence would be forthcoming regardless of her ability to pay.

"Because you have no money makes no difference in this court," he pointed out, "as we are only interested in your son receiving proper defence."

The accused man's mother, here at moment—Chairman

"There will be no increase in the price of haircuts in Lindsay at least not this spring," The Post learned today.

Checking a report that barbers in the Newmarket and Aurora area had increased their prices from $1.00 to $1.25, "The Post" contacted Marshall Stephens, chairman of the Lindsay Barbers Association. Mr. Stephens said that there were no immediate price hike planned here. "It was brought up at our last meeting," said Mr. Stephens, "and a vote taken. Only three out of the 22 present were in favor of the increase, so I see no reason for any change at the present time, not until spring at least."

One of the reasons for the increase in the Newmarket area was its close proximity to Toronto and the zoning set by the Labor Board, he noted.

Mystery blast rishes dishes in North Ward residence

Residents of Lindsay's North Ward (Colborne and Pottinger-William Sts. area) are still wondering what caused the big explosion Friday afternoon. The blast went off with such force that dishes rattled and houses shook.

One citizen on Colborne St. west said that there was a terrific explosion around 2 p.m. which seemed to come from "deep in the ground."

"He did not sound like a jet engine breaking the barrier, but it seemed to originate underground."

Another said it seemed to come from deep in the ground and in the immediate area.

A check failed to shed any light on its source.

Average daily occupancy up, admissions down slightly

Average daily occupancy for the month of August at the Ross Memorial Hospital was slightly higher than for the previous month. Admissions were down slightly.

Year to date figures show an average of 132.4 patients in hospital each day compared to 127.3 in 1967, he said.

Percentage occupancy in relation to related capacity was an average of 69.5 for August, excluding maternity which ran at an average of 52.5.

Outpatient service for August was lower than July, 637 compared to 713, and comparing years to date figures show an increase over last year of about 14%.

The average number of employees showed a slight increase for the year, 2564 as compared to 2548 last year.

Some begin November 1, rest effective in April

Ottawa, Sept. 27—(UPI) — Postmaster General Axel G. Martin announced today wide increases in postal rates to head off the possibility of a substantial department deficit.

Changes for registration, special delivery and money orders will be increased effective November 1, increases for cash on deliver charges and printed matter will not go into effect until April 1, 1969 to enable large users to make advance plans.

The details of the changes for November are: —Registration Fees varying from 35 cents to 60 cents instead of the 20 cents to 40 cents which were set up in 1951.

—Special Delivery For letters a charge of 25 cents instead of the 10 cents in effect since 1939. The fee for parcels now will be 35 cents in place of the 10 cents.

—Money orders: A new schedule of fees will be inaugurated from five cents for orders under one dollar to 25 cents for those of larger amounts.

The old schedule, set 14 months.

"Memory Run" steam train will pass through Lindsay twice on Haliburton trip

A railroad fans memory run from Toronto to Lindsay with CNR steam locomotives will pass through Lindsay twice today, Members of the Upper Canada Railway Society will leave Toronto at 9 a.m. (Daylight Saving time) and arrive in Lindsay at 1:30 p.m. and will take over at Lindsay for the Haliburton portion of the run as CNR officials decided against running the large steam locomotives over this section, as the track was considered unsuitable for a unit the size of No. 6187.

The train leaves Lindsay at 11:45 a.m. and arrives at Haliburton at 12:25 noon. The train will leave Haliburton at 2:35 p.m. and the train arrives back in Lindsay at 4:50 p.m. and with the steam locomotives will leave Lindsay at 5:10 p.m.

Locomotive #167 is probably the last remaining steam locomotive operating with any regularity in the area.

Queen Street UCW meets in church auditorium

The September meeting of the Queen St. United Church Women was held recently in the church auditorium. The meeting was opened with the Purpose of the U.C.W. read in union followed by a hymn.

The present Roll call was by units and the minutes of the June meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. R. Hladki.

Women were moved by Mrs. L. Found and moved by Mrs. B. Mark who read Mrs. C. Saville that she had accepted the position of secretary.

Many items of business were brought up and much discussion followed. It was moved by Mrs. R. Hladki and seconded by Mrs. B. Mark that the meeting be adjourned.

Lindsay fireman to chair Muscular Dystrophy drive

Lindsay fireman Dan O'Neill was appointed chairman of the county Muscular Dystrophy campaign at a recent meeting of the Victoria County Mutual Aid Fire-fighters' Association.

During the meeting at which 45 attended, a practical demonstration of Air-Packs was held when firemen, wearing Breathing apparatus, were required to saw logs in a smoke-filled room to simulated actual conditions which may be encountered while fighting a fire.

Each man will be responsible in his own municipality for organizing the campaign which is expected to get underway early in November.

Wilson-Hore Nuptials

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Lindsay, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Ruth Hore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, to Mr. Frederick Hore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, of Scarborough, Ontario.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, of Scarborough, Ontario. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, of Scarborough, Ontario.

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Lindsay, was decorated with white Shasta mums, pink carnations and a white carpet on September 7, 1968, at 1:30 p.m. when Jean Violet Hore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, of Scarborough, Ontario, and Lawrence George Wilson, also of Scarborough, were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, of Scarborough, Ontario. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Wilson, of Scarborough, Ontario.

Rev. Father R. Hart officiated and Barry Thorne, of Woodville was soloist. Accompanied by Miss Ruth Shannon of Lindsay, he sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother".

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of French silk, sported pale dea soie which was fashioned with a rounded neckline going to a V at back and long lilypond sleeves. The skirt was sheath-style in front and the back fullness started from the hips and fell into a cathedral train. A bow, with floor-length streamers attached to it, accented the back waistline. Her triple bouffant illusion veil was caught by a faintly double crown of crystals and mother-of-pearl droplets and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink Delight roses, white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

The commission concluded it was the post of the bride's responsibility to ensure delivery providing the marriage was correctly addressed and bore the right amount of postage. It was decided to request payment of the amount on the grounds that the commission couldn't understand why the consumer wasn't receiving his bills when he was receiving letters dealing with the matter under consideration.

A leaky faucet or other faulty water consuming equipment in a home or place of business doesn't constitute grounds for protesting a higher than usual water bill. Commissioners agreed on this point when they heard a request for a reduction in a bill which was reported to have been much above normal. Reason for the increased water consumption was given as a faulty toilet fixing the discount penalty which.

Mrs. Vicars Beatty opens home for WI meeting

Rev. Graham of the Bobcaygeon United Church was guest speaker at the Kawartha Valley WI meeting held at the home of Mrs. Vicars Beatty with 20 members and one visitor present. Mr. Graham spoke on Education remarking that there were too many trimmings to modern education. It is better to keep to the basic things and not get too involved in technicalities. Honour was due to the astronauts but as much and more was due the scientists and others behind this great venture.

He advocated the teaching of religion in schools with no particular reference to denominations but including the study of other religions besides Christianity such as Buddhism, Mohammedanism and the beliefs of Confucius.

During the business period the President announced that the Institute had received first prize for their exhibit "My Ladies Boudoir" at the Lindsay Exhibition. It is their intention to place this display in the Bobcaygeon Fair.

The Treasurer reported a balance of over $120 with $120.00 more realized from "Hobo Tea" for this month. Mrs. Coulter and Mrs. Johnson were chosen to attend the Leaders Course on Deserts. Ten dollars was donated to the leader of the Girls' Club for this season's project "Working with Wool". Two dollars was also donated to ward the 4th exhibits at Bobcaygeon Fair. Mrs. Elliott the President was chosen as delegate to the Central Area Convention in Toronto. Final plans were made for the Hydro Demonstration in the Dundas Hall.

A very pleasing duty was performed by Mrs. Walter Brien and Mrs. Delmar Robertson during the program period.

18 attend ONO meeting

Blackstock (PNS) — The O.N.O. club held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Jessie Guter with 18 members and one visitor present.

The best man was George Wilson, of Scarborough, and the ushers were Gordon Walker of Don Mills and Peter McNamara of East York.

The reception was held at 111 Cornbere Drive, Don Mills, Ontario. Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Ottawa, Parry Sound, Peterboro, Oshawa, Coburg, Toronto and Scarborough.

Airport servicentre staked, meet with oil company

Work was started on the new building for the airport and workmen have measured and staked out the site. Members of the airport committee met last week with officials of the oil company to discuss location of signs, islands pumps, etc.

An effort was made by the committee to get the company to erect a large neon sign near the entrance and close to the highway, said one of the members. However, company officials are reported to be cool towards the proposition owing to the cost, indicating it would be considered at a later date.

Sue Construction Co. Ltd., of Lindsay and Peterboro, is the contractor for the building.

RMH reports patient backlog is mostly elective surgery

The Ross Memorial Hospital has a backlog of waiting patients but they are mostly for elective surgery and not emergency cases, its governors were told.

Dr. W. B. Arup said there was an average waiting period of about a week but that emergency patients were admitted immediately.

"The summer months are our biggest problem," he said, "but we are giving the situation close scrutiny and it will be a while before we can iron it out."

Regarding the waiting period, Administrator E. Freeborn said, "we have to expect a certain amount of waiting, but on the whole the situation is good."

Understand Peterboro has a two to three-month waiting period, so are a kind of them," noted Col. R. Moore.

Reporting for the Medical Committee, the doctor said that the staff was "getting caught up" after the busy summer, and the committee was doing a review on emergency treatment.

Cold tea, coffee, soup beefs get action from governors

Complaints from patients at the Ross Memorial regarding cold meals reached sympathetic ears and its governors have decided to correct the situation.

Administrator E. Freeborn told directors last week that complaints regarding cold coffee, tea and soup were becoming more numerous and something had to be done.

It would cost about $2,400 to purchase the necessary insulated steel coffee and tea tins and soup bowls, he said.

"We have the funds to do it and I think any improvement would be well while".

It was decided to try out a few samples and, if satisfactory to purchase 140 units.

"It's a disastrous situation and we must have a better setup", remarked Dr. Arup.

R.O. says voting infractions due to confusion, not intent

Two election irregularities have been reported to the provincial returning officer by Victoria Ridge returning officer, Mrs. Victor Pepper.

The deputy returning officer at Black's School reported it became confused between standard and daylight saving time at the polling station at eight instead of nine a.m.

An Oakwood woman was allowed to proxy through a confusion over the instructions. The voting kits, which are made up in Toronto, include a form headed "The DRO may be required to administer the following verbal oaths" with a sub-section entitled "Oath to be admitted to the proxy". Proxy votes are only admitted for mariners and the application has to be submitted and signed by a judge.

The incidents were immediately investigated by Mrs. Gordon Pepper who said that both errors were due to confusion and were not deliberate. Any further action were deemed necessary, it would be taken by the provincial returning officer, she added.

Need for better understanding of taxation, assessment cited

The need, among farm people, for a better understanding of such subjects as assessment and taxation, estate planning, rural planning and rural development was pointed out by Mrs. Mary Gray, Chairman of the Education Committee, at a meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

The board stressed the need for assessment and taxation for a Winter Work Shop and farm people can look forward to three or four afternoon study sessions on this subject. Also, in early January, a board school on leadership is planned.

Les Meyers of Goodwood gave a report to the board meeting outlining some of the problems in property taxation as seen by delegates to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture held in Toronto early in September, with possible solutions and some alternate sources of revenue for taxes.

Resolutions were passed regarding the enforcement of weed control regulations and regarding veterinarians affecting their boots, etc., after treating diseased livestock.

Travel talks given at Potluck Supper

Omenee (PNS) — Trinity United Church Women and their guests met in the church basement to enjoy a Pot Luck Supper and travel talks.

President Mrs. Vern Lang welcomed members and guests and grace was sung before the meal. Mrs. Irvin Connell, Mrs. J. Bradley and Mrs. Lloyd Hill presented the worship service and Mrs. J. Hayes sang the solo, "I'll Never Walk Alone".

Mrs. Victor Gray spoke on the changes she had noted in Britain since she had left there in 1949. Mrs. Ruby Vaughan showed coloured slides and told of her visit to England and Scotland this summer. Following this Mrs. Dan Hicks showed more coloured slides of her springtime visit to Britain and many Confidantes countries.

Miss Christina Connell thanked the three travellers and the meeting closed with the Benediction.

Hope to save on gas costs

Lindsay Water Commission is considering buying gasoline from the municipality. It was estimated during a September meeting that the saving between five and seven cents per gallon might be effected. Supt. R. J. Reynolds said the saving might amount to a total of five or six dollars on an average bill.

Commissioner Murray Grant has agreed to act on a committee named to study means for the use of the new sewage disposal plant at Lindsay as they relate to the water commission's participation.

The commission, in considering a payment protest, devoted some time to determining who was responsible for paying that a bill reaches a consumer, after he left it off a receipt. The discussion followed a complaint from a customer that he wasn't receiving his bills and was objecting to paying the discount penalty which.

ANSWERS AD FOR PROSTATE CURE

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: Repeatedly you have expressed concern about the many charlatans and quacks who prey upon the sufferers of arthritis and similar degenerative diseases, and you have voiced your profound commiseration with the victims of these cultures.

UNDER TREATMENT

I am afflicted with prostate gland trouble (I am 68), and have been under treatment by a respected and well-qualified urologist for almost a year. I have improved somewhat. However, the dribbling and the lack of control in the flow of urine continues, and when the urge to void manifests itself I feel it immediately, or else (This, as you can well understand, can be terribly embarrassing at times).

Now, about two weeks ago, I noticed an ad, which claims to be able to cure prostate gland trouble. Spurred on by the apparent lack of complete amelioration in my bladder control, I answered the ad and received the brochure. As it was to be expected, the contents tell in glowing terms the advantages of coming to this place for treatment. However, there are four things I do not like about the brochure:

SALES APPEAL

1. The promise to restore sexual vigor. This obviously plays upon the average male's vanity to whom this particular loss seems to be a blow to his self-esteem.

2. The threat of contracting cancer should one neglect treatment. This I imagine is aimed at instilling a morbid fear and must be regarded as an incentive to act forthwith.

3. The prodding at the end of the message to "Act now" and "This is your golden opportunity!" To me this smacks of noxious high-pressure salesmanship. Any time I hear or see this brochure I instinctively become wary and "en garde". True, the brochure is enticingly and cleverly composed, but I know that many a worthless stock or real estate property is sold in thick-carpeted, mahogany-embellished offices!

4. The endeavor to have one bring also any relief afflicted with arthritis. (Which, of course, would be most beneficial for the pecuniary situation of this organization.)

COLICLINE HELPS GOUT

The diagnosis of gout is important, but so is treatment. Although it occurs more commonly in the male, it is the wife who is often the doctor's office asking just what she can do to prevent her husband's attacks; and how to help him when he comes down with the painful swelling in a joint!

Q. How can you tell it's gout and not just some other kind of painful arthritis?

A. History is important. When a patient comes in saying that he gets two or three attacks a year in the same joint (with redness, pain and swelling which last a few days) we became suspicious. And once on the diagnostic trail, the doctor takes X rays which sometimes show punched-out areas in the joint. Even if these are not present, an examination of the patient's blood for uric acid will show that it is much higher than the normal level of six.

Q. Once you have made the diagnosis, then what can you do for the patient? Is there a special diet and special medicine?

A. As for the diet, I can't have been known to cut down the frequency of attacks, and in some cases to prevent them altogether.

Q. Is it true that gout occurs only in the sedentary and the people who live rich (eat rich foods and drink a lot)?

A. It may occur in anyone who is susceptible, whatever his habits. But it is true that a moderate amount of exercise, moderation in eating and drinking, and being on the job are obstacles against the steady march of gout.

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: Isn't it true that there are some people in the treatment of high blood pressure sometimes, which cause severe depression?

Comment: I have seen such reactions, a number of times. It is a good rule to consider "drug reaction" in any patient suffering from high blood pressure who, for no apparent reason, become severely depressed. If the drug is stopped, time, there is usually no permanent damage. Fortunately, most patients can take anti-hypertensive drugs without having any depression.

Modern sanitation control in Ontario's urban centres controlled effectively to control of rats in the areas of great human population.

Dymond Discusses Health in Ontario

Rats! Get Rid Of Them

Matthew B. Dymond, MD, CM.

Ontario Medical Council.

The rat's unending association with the rat has extended from times immemorial. This pest has eaten man's food, given its diseases to him, and caused great economic damage. Like mice, the rat can live alone, but prefers to live with his fellows on a community basis.

Experience has shown that man can only defend himself against these unlovely guests by community effort. One household's attempt to control these pests in little use if his neighbours do not join with him. Sporadic attacks on this problem are of little use. The programme must be a continuous one.

The Environmental Sanitation Branch of the Ontario Department of Health suggests that any programme, to be effective, must accomplish the following: 1) remove rat harborage; that is, not provide them with suitable homes; 2) prevent them from obtaining food; and 3) eradicate the rats which are already present.

All new construction should be so designed that spaces are not available to admit a rat (1/2" or over) either on the outside or protected by mesh. This mesh should be no substantial that rats cannot chew through it, and the openings small enough that they cannot squeeze through. Older buildings should be looked over carefully and all possible rat entrances-way identified. Rubbish, waste building material and such should be removed from the property.

Rats cannot exist unless their food supply is close proximity to their shelter. Food should be protected by being stored in rodent-proof buildings, bins or containers. Waste food should be stored in metal garbage cans with tight fitting lids until removed from the premises. These materials are kept, they should be fed during the day and in such a manner that no spillage and leftovers will be available to feed the rats during the hours of darkness when they are most active.

Most of the methods used for the destruction of rats were ineffective until the advent of the anticoagulant poisons. These are relatively safe in that there is little danger of accidental poisoning and when properly prepared, rats do not develop resistance. They will consume the required amount of poisonous feeding until a breakdown in their blood clotting mechanism is brought about. Any wound—even the physiological wear and repair process—continually going on in the body will result in the rat bleeding to death after a few days.

All necessary steps should be taken to insure that no one from these unlovely visitors, not only for economic reasons, but also for the health and well-being of both our family and the community. For more information about this problem may be obtained from your local medical officer of health or the Environmental Sanitation Branch of the Department of Health.

hostess to Minden WI

Minden (PNS)—The September meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. F. Wright with Mrs. P. Clarke, vice-president in the chair. After the usual opening, the roll call was taken of persons of note in the village. The minutes were read and Mrs. Walker gave the report of Visiting Committee and collection was taken for this. Treasurers report was given by Mrs. Couther showing a good balance.

Bills are to be paid and this included the prizes for the School Exhibit at the local fair. The usual business is to be conducted on a tour of the Training School at Lindsay with other branches of the district and Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. Sears are to arrange for this.

The branch plans to make a donation to the Special Project regarding the Northwest Territories. A delegate was chosen to attend Central Area Convention and those to visit the local hospital for the month are Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Sears. All members are to contribute prizes for the card party to be given at the October meeting.

Mrs. Lunham gave a very interesting paper on some of Canada's history with stress on the Canadian Flag and a note regarding this is to be placed in the Minden paper. The ladies thanked Mrs. Lunham with a hearty call of appreciation. Mrs. Fairfield read us a splendid letter from Mrs. Mary in Yukon with notes of happenings in that pastorate.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and W.I. grace and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. W.A. Welch and Mrs. Angus Coulter.

Bottle Fed Baby Can Be Healthy And Happy Also

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have read your column for some time and it has cleared up many things for me. However I find for the first time that I don't agree with something you seem to favor . . . breast feeding.

● Mother who has no desire to breast-feed is constantly belittled by some doctors (even I might add, who know precious little about the actual act and by smug, self-righteous women who "wouldn't think of giving a bottle."

My four bottle-fed children, all under seven, are healthy and apparently have no allergies. They gain well and are quite happy. In comparing notes with friends who do breast-feed I have not found anything to sway me in their way of thinking. I don't sneer at them so I see no reason why they or anyone else should meet at bottle feeding. I am able to sit in mixed company while feeding my baby, whereas these same friends slip off to the bedroom to sit for a half hour or more while the company cools its heels. No one can tell me that the nursing mother does not feel resentful at times like these.

Just because a woman prefers the simple, neat bottle way, certainly doesn't mean she loves her child any the less. Nor have I noticed any unusual morbidity love from the nursing mother.

Gets Plenty of Attention

When I look down into my baby's face as he lies in my arms taking his bottle, all the love any mother could feel goes out to him. When I lay him on the couch and watch him 7, 5, or even 3-year-old holding his bottle with his proud little face shining, I know this is right. But most of all when I see my husband holding him, giving him the bottle with that look only a father has for his offspring, I know these are moments to be cherished. As you can see, our bottle feeding is a family affair. Does a breast-fed baby get this kind of love and attention?

So please, doctor, don't be so little us. You and the nursing mothers. Please stop trying to make the rest of us feel guilty. We don't-and there's nothing wrong with us mentally or physically. Our babies are healthy and happy, and that's what counts. Doesn't it? Breast feeding doesn't produce a happy baby-neither does bottle feeding-only a happy contented mother. Does, Right?

—Mrs. C.

Comment: Right as rain, know or unknown. If I have seemed to be trying to make mothers who bottle-feed guilty, I plead innocent. All I have been doing is presenting the beliefs of mothers who are sold on breast feeding. And not until the column which seems to have riled so many mothers, who do not believe in breast feeding, has the true picture come into focus.

Previously, readers who sent letters on this controversy were at least 8 to 1 in favor of breast feeding. Since the avalanche at negatives, it's a tossup at this point who is going to win. As of now the pros and cons just about cancel each other out. However, the letters come in, it seems inevitable that the bottle-feeders will triumph. It is not unlikely, when you consider that the bottle feeders actually outnumber the breast-fed babies.

As Mrs. C. so aptly put it: "Only a happy, contented mother produces a healthy, happy baby." It's the end and not the means that is important.

RESTLESS LEGS SYNDROME, LACKS A SPECIFIC CURE
Dear Dr. Steincrohn: "It's damnations of insomnia be your imagination!" How I hate those three words. My husband says it's all in my head, when I complain of creeping feelings in my legs that prevent sleep. He tells me to keep my legs still. I keep kicking them when I get under the covers.

I've become an insomniac these years and now for over three years nothing seems to help. My family doctor says there's no cure or known cause for it. Have you ever heard of this peculiar condition? Mrs. O.

The sensation of ants walking up and down the legs, the crawling and creeping feelings are really unbearable. They usually come on, or get worse about half an hour after the patient has gone to bed. "Some sobering thoughts"

Dear Sir: Now that the smoke and tumult of battle is subsiding perhaps an analysis of the Ontario election is in order and it provides some sobering thoughts. According to reports, the Conservatives won 71, an overwhelming victory. Let's take a close look. The Conservatives secured approximately 47% votes. The Liberals 36%, and the N.D.P. 15%.

If seats were apportioned according to the above, we find the Conservatives would only hold about 53, the Liberals 36 and New Democrats 18, that it can be shown that the voters were equally divided for and against Conservative rule. The good book tells us "a house divided against itself cannot stand." When you also find that approximately 85% of eligible voters did not bother to vote, it would appear our parliamentary system is in need of a close scrutiny and examination to more accurately reflect the wishes of the people. In addition to above, there is no question many good candidates were defeated and the best brains of the province thereby deprived of their opportunity for public service. What chance does a single representative have to bring industry to his riding where there is a solid bloc of 30 representing Metropolitan Toronto and its immediate vicinity?

Sincerely yours,

Reginald A. Cox,

1964 Council Candidate

Fingerboard

Mrs. Nelson Palmer of Little Britain is supplying at the school due to the illness of the teacher Mr. Everett Nichols of Oakwood.

Several from here attended the anniversary at Seagrave and enjoyed the singing, especially the mens choir from Toronto in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nichols were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds of Seagrave.

Glad to report Mr. Marvin Hill is improving slowly. Several have received letters from Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. I. Pennell and Mrs. Mortimer and family, visited in Toronto and while there attended the wedding of the former's niece and the latter's cousin. Mrs. Pennell spent a week previous to the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kennel took a plane to the West to visit relatives and their son. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boor of Toronto spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nichols.

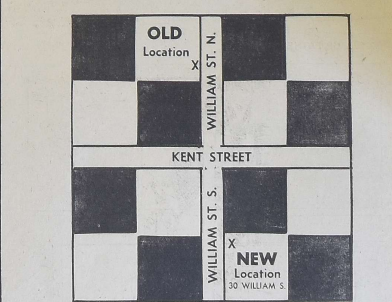

Sorry to report Fingerboard's teacher is confined to his home in Oakwood with a serious sinus condition. Glad to report that Mr. Marvin Hill is progressing in the school at Swift Current, Saskatchewan, after a severe heart attack.

Mrs. Yacki and family of Lindsay are staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kersna, while the latter are away on vacation.

Mrs. Evelyn Brookshire and Mrs. George Stokes assisted at the elections as Returning Officer and poll clerk.

Mr. Barbara Robertson, Dundasford; bran muffins, Mrs. W. Jones, Fenelon Falls; and nut loaf, Mrs. R. Miller, Menden.

COLD WEATHER KILLER

"Found dead behind the wheel of his car..." How many times these or similar words appear in the press during the cold weather months calling attention to the needless expenditure of another human life? The Ontario Motor League reminds us in an item captioned "Invisible Killer" that "now cold weather isn't too far away, drivers should beware of warming up a car in a closed garage." It goes on to warn that "if you start your garage warm-up before starting the engine of your car and do the warming up outside—in a closed garage, an idling auto can produce deadly carbon monoxide fumes in a hurry."

The warning might be carried a step further and contain a recommendation that motorists take the added precautions of having their exhaust systems thoroughly checked for leaks before starting driving begins and driving with at least a no-idle law open to ensure an escape route for fumes which might build up from an undetected leak.

Carbon monoxide fumes are indeed one of the most insidious of all killers because they are odorless and their potential victim is virtually unaware of their presence until they are odorless and their potential victim is virtually unaware of their presence until their lethal attack is well underway. This is one morning hazard which is often means that there is no time to apply a remedy.

Be on guard against this insidious cold weather killer by observing the simple precautions of maintaining a poor exhaust system in your motor vehicle and ensuring that there is an adequate circulation of fresh air within and without while it is in operation.

REVISED RATINGS

Anyone who feels depressed by the suspicion that he may not be the most able living person in his area of endeavor, whether it be soda-jerkery or philosophy, or playing left corner back on a football team, may be comforted by the knowledge that so much research is constantly being done on almost everything that some future scientist could reassess his value and give him a higher rating. Perhaps some eager scholar, hunking for a Ph.D., will produce a thesis to prove him the best all-time soda jerk; conversely, his old enemy along the counter, the one who is a whiz with a magic wand, saint, may be downgraded in future ages.

Encouraging examples from the English Renaissance are that the literary establishment now considers the best poets of that period to have been John Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, John Donne and Puke Greville. Who in the world is Puke Greville? For hundreds of years he was known as one of the most influential and wealthy men of his time. Chaucer, Shakespeare, under Puke Greville, the First, and a poet who rated second to Sir Philip Sidney. Now the mills as the Ph.D.s, grinding slow an fine, produce Greville as a major poet.

On the other hand, the English writer of the Elizabethan era who was best known during the lifetime was George Gascoigne.

Revere Kyle, Alf Snale and W.E. Reesor, will accompany the Town Solicitor to Toronto when the Board of Railway Commissioners will convene for the purpose of considering the town's application for the removal of the G.W. Tel. Co.'s poles off Kent St. His Worship Mayor Beal informed the council that the Board of Railway Commissioners of the Telephone Co. and suggested that the town and Company should get together and settle the matter without unnecessary litigation. Mr. Perry informed the mayor that he would write him. A letter was received from Mr. Perry stating that the matter was out of his hands and would come up before the Railway Board. The representatives will go up with strong evidence in support of the council's contention that the poles should be removed from the main thoroughfare of the town of Lindsay. The bridge has made an application for a hearing in reference to the alleged unsatisfactory train service on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, Lindsay is asked to cooperate with Uchridge in the matter.

OCTOBER 9, 1928
Inventive-Mr. Perry Crawford met with an experience while driving his threshing machine across the marsh bridge north of the village. The engine of the outfit was just on the centre of the bridge when it cracked through. A block and tackle was secured with the aid of several men and two trucks the machine was finally extricated before night. During the operation traffic was diverted and directed through the farm of Elwood Grandy. The bridge has been in operation ever since having been built some 25 years ago by the late Christie Armstrong, who formerly owned the farm now in possession of Mr. William Hill.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

WHAT TO DO WITH A CARROT TOP: A lovely writer: A reddish is supposed to be a glamorous character. But the world hardly win a beauty contest if they got a carrot top, a ruddy complexion and freckles. And that is just what I've got. Is there any hope for me?

The Answer: Cosmetics stand ready to make a knockout of anyone with this coloring. The type is basically dramatic and needs only some clever shading.

The initial effect to aim for is a pale complexion. You can achieve it in two ways: Apply a cream-colored shade of opaque cake or cream foundation. Or apply two liquid foundations—a cream-beige over a white or neutral under-base. Both methods eliminate redness; the first more fully blanks out color. As a finish for either, use a matching powder.

As "toners" for both your skin and hair, wear amber-pink and browned lipsticks—subtle rather than intense shades. Make subtlest a point in eye cosmetics, too. Water green shades, amber pencil and mascara were designed for your enhancement.

On trying this makeup you may well discover that your hair is not half as fiery as you had thought. Pair skin and red hair, however bright, are a mildly striking combination.

But if you wish to subdue your hair coloring, you can try a trick with a deep amber after-shampoo rinse. A fiery short, snappy hairstyle would further the cause. Above all, keep your locks lightly groomed. It's the final stroke in becoming a glamorous woman.

Montreal and Boston tied in season's opening game

(United Press International)

The National Hockey League opened its 44th season Tuesday night with the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins tied in a 4-4 deadlock in Chicago.

One game is scheduled to night with New York at Chicago Thursday. Chicago began the Detroit open the new season and Saturday New York is at Montreal and Boston travels to Toronto where the defending league and Stanley Cup Champion Maple Leafs get their first taste of action.

In Boston, Murray Oliver scored his second goal of the night with less than two minutes left to play to earn the lowly Bruins of recent seasons a saw-off. The Bruins had leads of 2-0 and 3-1 only to watch the visiting Canadians tie them and go ahead. Oliver and Tom Williams gave the Bruins a 2-0 lead in the first 10 minutes and Dean Prentice made it 3-1 with a goal at 14:57 of the middle period.

Montreal Rookie left winger John Ferguson—playing on a line with Jean Beliveau and Bernie Goeblin—scored the Canadiens first two goals and assisted on Goeblin's second.

Defenceman Terry Harper slammed in a 45-second four minutes before Oliver notched his tying goal to give the Canadiens the lead for the first time in the game. Boston goalie Ed Johnston wound up with 38 saves and Gump Worsley helped his Montreal debut, had 30 stops.

Open Defense
The American Hockey League's Buffalo Bisons opened defense of their first Calder Cup Championship in 17th Wednesday against the Pittsburgh Hornets in a 4-1 victory.

Dalrymple

The Anniversary Service was held in the United Church. In the morning the church was well filled to hear Rev. B. Garrett of Lindsay preach a fine sermon on the Gospels. The CGIT girls sang an anthem, and Miss Ann and Susan Russell of Argyle provided two lovely ditties. In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fox sang the Gospels. In the evening, Miss Pat Deverell sang a fine solo, and the YPU choir sang the hymns.

A number of the Masonic Lodge members attended the church service at the Presbyterian Church in Kirkfield. Mr. and Mrs. Art Hedberg attended the wedding of his niece, Miss Pamela Fudge, in Ottawa.

The Boy Scouts have had a couple of interesting outings. On a recent occasion they were guests of the Leicestershire Club, to a supper meeting, at which they were presented with their Patrol Flag, a gift of the Lions Club to encourage boys' work. The past weekend was also an eventful one, when the boys went to welcome a troupe of dancers from Toronto, who spent the weekend at Walter Deverell's camp. The boys and their leaders asked Local Scouts to camp out over night with them, and the boys were glad to have such an opportunity to camp out.

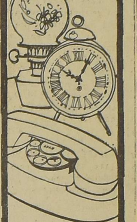

Sympathy is expressed to Mr. Russell Day and family who learned of the sudden death of his brother, Mr. Harvey Day of Toronto. Mr. Harvey Day spent his early years in Dalrymple, but has been in Toronto for 30 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Brown of Bramford, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dawson at Topogee. These were friends which Tom and Trudy made on their return from the States.

Miss Lynna McCaughey and Miss Frances Fox are among those who are taking advantage of the holiday season by going in Orillia, for those wishing to take university work.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fox, Miss Sally Campbell, Mrs. Byers, Mr. Roy Fox and Mrs. Thrasher took a trip.

FACTS ABOUT

ROASTING TURKEYS

Turkeys and chicken are year-round favorites that seem to have special appeal in the fall. At least part of the popularity of poultry is due to the fact that you can buy a bird for roasting at any weight from 3 pounds to 30 pounds.

No matter what size you choose, there are points to remember when selecting a roasting pan for poultry. First, the pan should be shallow, advise Food Experts at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. The chicken or turkey will cook more evenly and more rapidly this way. High sides on a pan slow the air circulation in the oven.

Secondly, be sure that a rack will fit in the roasting pan. The rack keeps the bird from sticking to the pan and allows the hot air in the oven to circulate under the bird. This method gives you even cooking.

Remember to use a pan with out a lid. If tightly covered, poultry, steams as it cooks and the meat of young, tender birds does not require this. Steaming causes breaks in the skin and then juices are lost and the bird develops a wrinkled appearance. If the bird is not to be turned during cooking, a loose 'tent' of foil may be needed to keep the top of the bird from burning.

Roast turkeys under 10 pounds in weight in a 325°F. oven. Poultry over this weight need a 300°F. oven for best results. Poultry cooked at these temperatures has a moist, smooth, glossy skin of a uniform brown color and the skin is not pulled away from the bone.

Timely Tips

On Cheese

Cheese, because it is made from milk, is an excellent source of calcium. A two-ounce cube of Cheddar will provide the day's requirements of calcium. Say Nutritionists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Cheese contains high quality protein. One half cup of cottage cheese contains the same amount of protein as one average serving of roast beef.

As cheese requires little cooking, combine it with foods already cooked, or those requiring very short cooking. Cook all cheese dishes at a low temperature.

Cheese should be cooked only to the point of melting; say food experts at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Over-heating causes cheese to become curdled or stringy.

HOW CAN I ???

Good. How can I make some good furniture and floor dusts, too?

A. Soak old pieces of flannel in paraffin oil overnight, turn up tightly, and wash in lukewarm water; then let these cloths wring gather all dust, and also impart a nice polish to furniture and floors.

Q. How can I prepare my turkey for easier and more efficient quilting?

A. Immerse an entire spool of thread into hot paraffin, and let remain about half an hour. This will wax all the thread on the spool, and since the thread will not then knot, you can do a better job.

Their Golden Wedding Day

Sunday, October 6th, was a anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, received at St. Mary's Auditorium on the occasion and they are seen in the picture above with their family. From the left they are son Joseph and daughter Yvonne (Mrs. Bernard Rhodes), both of Lindsay; son Clayton of North Bay, Mrs. Reynolds and her husband.

A Lindsay couple celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary were pleasantly surprised at the conclusion of a night mass conducted by Father B. W. Kenney at St. Mary's Church on Sunday. Following the mass for the Rev. Mr. Reynolds of St. Paul Street, Lindsay, and then, as the couple turned from the railing to walk down the aisle, the organ pealed out the wedding mass.

At the "open house" reception afterwards in the church hall, 350 persons were present. Telegrams of congratulations were received from Governor General and Madame Vanier.

Lindsay taxpayers are to receive a ten-day, penalty-free, no discount grace period on their overdue tax payments in 1964, in addition to a penalty increase of one-half of one percent.

To assist in getting the tax payments in faster, town council this week gave the third reading to a bylaw recommended by the Advisory Finance Committee to apply the one-half of one per cent increase and to have the 1% penalty become effective not before the first day of the month following the date of payment, which is the 20th.

The former one-half of one per cent penalty came due on the day following the date the taxes became due.

The new bylaw comes into effect the 1st of January, 1964.

Mrs. O. Geiger honored on birthday

Fenelon Falls (PNS)—Mrs. P. Carroll and Mrs. H. B. B. entertained at the former's home on Colborne Street at an afternoon tea in honour of Mrs. O. Geiger, who celebrated her birthday recently. Guests were friends and neighbours of the hostesses and Mrs. Geiger, who enjoyed an afternoon of happy chatter together before refreshments, highlighted by a beautifully decorated cake were served. Mrs. Geiger cut the cake and tea was poured by Miss M. Demill.

In Memoriam
KEETCH—In loving memory of Joseph Kenneth Keetch who passed away Oct. 8, 1955. Those we love we never lose. For always they will be. Loved, remembered and treasured. Forever, in our memory. Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife Pearl and son Donald. (H1102)

Allege "discrimination" BUSINESSMEN PROTEST TREATMENT BY OPS TOWNSHIP COUNCILLORS

Lindsay Drive-In operator and former Ops councillor Barney Rogers and Peter Backogorge, owner of The Embassy dance hall claimed today that they had been treated with "a disgusting lack of courtesy" by the reeve and members of Ops Council, and furthermore were being discriminated against with regard to business licenses.

Mr. Rogers told "The Post" that only 3 businesses out of a long list were forced to pay business license fees. These are The Embassy, the Lindsay Drive-In and Lower Lindsay Frecklers. Rogers and Mr. Backogorge attended the Monday afternoon council meeting of Ops Township and were told, after two hours waiting, that because one member was absent they would have to wait until 6:30 o'clock.

After the other councillor arrived, the council dealt with a wide range of other matters. Mr. Rogers says that during discussion on township accounts one councillor remarked: "I didn't quite follow you, but I guess it's all right" and voted for the motion. During this time another member came in regarding land purchased and was dealt with immediately by the council.

Both Mr. Rogers and Mr. Backogorge say they have spoken to the council before on this matter and were promised it would be looked into, and that they would be notified of the decision. "We go nowhere," said Backogorge, "our appeals were completely ignored, they didn't even record the appeals in the minutes."

Last October Mr. Rogers said he met with council who agreed that it was right that they should be discriminated against and decided to leave it to the 1963 council to deal with.

Councillor Mosson moved that their license payment be suspended but as no second came forward, the reeve ruled the motion lost. Mr. Backogorge says the deputy reeve then lost his temper and shouted: "If the boys said you should pay, then you should pay!"

"The whole situation is just ridiculous," Mr. Backogorge declared, "we waited hours and were treated rudely and did not get any satisfaction."

A war (Continued from Page 1) by came to the defence of the lights. "Merchants have paid good money for them so they must have wanted them."

The members of the chamber finally agreed that Secretary Manager Harry MacDonald should discuss with Hydro Manager Jack Lightbody the possibility of testing a new bulb that Mr. MacDonald said he had been shown and which should have a lower mortality rate.

Says town should buy land locked in industrial zone and relieve owner of taxes

Residential land locked in an area zoned industrial was the basis of a strong protest from Roy Head at the first public hearing called in connection with the proposed new official plan for Lindsay.

Mr. Head, who said he was speaking for a friend who couldn't be there, told planners he felt it was unfair to forbid a person owning land in an industrial zone to be prevented from selling it for residential development.

"Are we going to have to pay taxes for 50 years and not be able to develop our property?" he asked. "You should have consulted the people before this plan was started."

At another point in the meeting, Mr. Head challenged the planners to pursue the matter. "If I own property zoned industrial and can't sell it, the town should buy it and relieve the owners of the taxes he has to pay on it."

Speaking to this matter, Councillor Russell Taylor indicated the meeting back to the main topic. "You are preaching socialism," said Mr. Pugh, "anyway what has this to do with the railway?"

"Because the pension scheme will provide more money, thus more visitors, and the need for a railway for the five lines a day," said Mr. MacDonald. "The various members of the chamber board seemed a little bewildered by the arguments that ensued. 'All I'm trying to tell you,' concluded the secretary-manager, 'is that we need a railroad in the next 10 years. Take my word for it,' he said, 'I'm serious wrong.'"

"Why don't you run as a politician, Harry?" called out James Nolan. "I'm too tired," replied Harry MacDonald.

The meeting then settled down to discussing ways of continuing the battle for the retention of the Lindsay-Blackwater railway line. "Public support for passenger service is wishful thinking," said James Nolan. "So what was more time with questionnaires."

The Chamber of Commerce decided to continue quietly to persuade people to turn up at the forthcoming public meeting to voice their support for the retention of the line. The chamber agreed to inform the mayor of the results of their deliberations as the council had originally asked the chamber to investigate the matter as a citizen's committee.

Reaboro Baptist Church celebrates 90th anniversary

Reaboro (PNS) — The Reaboro Baptist Church observed its 90th anniversary on Sunday, when the Rev. Robert A. and Mrs. Alex Herbert, Charles Veals, Mrs. A. Killaly, Thomas Reeds, Elizabeth Fisher, Ann Killaly, John Veals, William Herbert, Ann Herbert, Charlotte Calvert, A. E. Calvert and Rebecca Killaly.

The church was decorated with beautiful baskets of flowers and there was a good attendance for this special event. Services were held morning and evening.

The Rev. Mr. Price is a former student pastor of the church in 1925 to 1927. He was introduced at the morning service by Mr. Gordon Morden who recalled the days they had spent together in Reaboro and the work of the church at that time. On leaving Reaboro, Mr. Price was married and the same year ordained and went to Bolivia as a missionary for five years. He was also minister at Niagara Falls, Hanover, Caledonia and of pice pastor of Coronation Park Baptist Church, Hamilton.

After his morning message, Mr. Price took his text from the 35th verse, chapter II of Hebrews and after being introduced at the evening service by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Duncan, the speaker gave a challenging sermon on the text from verses 18 and 19, chapter I of 1st Peter.

The speaker congratulated the members of the church on the modernization of it and the improvements as he recalled in his days he had to light gas lamps.

The evening service opened with a short song and special music was furnished by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Douglas Burke and the organist, Mrs. Gordon Morden. Mrs. Burke also sang a solo and two duets were sung by Mr. Keith Morden of Lindsay and Mr. Gordon Burke of Peterborough, two former members.

Others taking part in the service were the Rev. Rowland of Cambridge St. Baptist Church, Lindsay, who led in prayer and a former pastor, Rev. P. C. Reed of Lindsay who pronounced the benediction.

A highlight of the anniversary was the presence of the oldest member of the church, Mrs. J. T. Reeds, who had attended regularly for almost 75 years, joining in 1889. Of those who joined at the same time there are three others living, Mr. Peter Herbert, Herb Reeds, Lindsay, Mrs. Joseph Davies, Lindsay, and Fletcher Calvert, London, Ont.

The church was organized on September 11th, 1873 in a log building near Hillcrest corner which was known as Ebenezer Chapel. 27 members of the Lindsay church had received letters of dismissal for the purpose of forming a separate church known as "The Reaboro Baptist Church of Ops".

The first clerk was Peter Fisher and the first treasurer was Alexander Herbert. The first board of deacons were Mr. John Calvert and Mr. Peter Fisher. The names of members of the newly organized church were Mr. and Mrs. George Calvert, Mrs. Jane Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. John Calvert, Robert Reeds, Mr. and Mrs. John Veals, Mrs. William Hickson, Mrs. Caroline White, Mrs. and Mrs. Alex Herbert, Charles Veals, Mrs. A. Killaly, Thomas Reeds, Elizabeth Fisher, Ann Killaly, John Veals, William Herbert, Ann Herbert, Charlotte Calvert, A. E. Calvert and Rebecca Killaly.

The present church building was built in 1882 and opened on October 15th. The vestry was built in Dec. 9, 1886 under the direction of the following committee, John Calvert, William Jones and John James Fogue. It was built at a cost of $174.74.

Several changes have been made to the church since the church through the years to modernize it. A new baptistry was built and the interior redecorated and remodelled. The pastorate of the Rev. C. C. Smith 1945-1960. A beautiful painting was hung at that time over the baptistry. The painting was done by Miss Alice Veals of Omemee.

The Rev. W. K. Anderson was pastor when the church was built and since then there have been the following ministers: Rev. P. C. Reed, Rev. Robert Price, Rev. Gordon Holmes, Rev. Frank Stevens, Rev. L. S. Hughson, Rev. W. Leaton, Rev. Dr. L. C. Kitchen of McGraw, Rev. D. C. the present minister is Rev. J. G. Duncan.

For several years the minister has resided at Gilmour and is also pastor for the Gilmour Memorial Church.

Many former members of the church are working as ministers or missionaries in various fields included among these are Dr. Robert Reeds who served in China as a medical missionary and is now retired in Beaverton, Ore. and Veals, also labored in China and is now assistant minister of the Thornhill United Church, Rev. John Veals United Church Minister at Caledonia East, Rev. Malcolm Calvert, of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, Toronto, Mr. Eugene Veals who is a missionary in Nigeria, Miss Fiedia Veals, missionary under the Sudan Mission in Ethiopia, East Africa, Rev. A. E. Calvert, missionary in France, Rev. Calvert Carey, Rev. H. F. Veals, baptist minister in Hamilton and Miss Gertrude Fogue, missionary in Ethiopia are deceased.

Among those attending the anniversary services was the Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Price and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Price of Lindsay, as well as many from Gilmour, Peterborough, Lindsay and community.

Rev. and Mrs. Price were guests of Deacon and Mrs. W. C. Veals while they were in Reaboro.

Dam water to install water main

Weekend visitors to Minden found the Cull River at a very low ebb after Gap Construction temporarily dammed the river to connect water mains serving the two halves of the town. Work on the water system is far advanced and should be in operation this year.

Guides at firemen's "Open House"

Lindsay Girl Guides were among the many interested visitors to Lindsay's Fire Hall this week when members of the fire department under Chief Arnold Watson welcomed them to their annual "Open House". The visitors were shown various phases of a fire department's operation and uses of firefighting equipment were demonstrated and explained. In the top photo, Volunteer Group Leader Charles Barjaow explains the workings of a Scott Air Pack to a group of Guides. In the lower picture "Spook" the department's mascot gets into the act as he accepts a pet on the back from Volunteer Fireman Harold Armstrong who is demonstrating the latest thing in plastic casts which exert pressure on the injured member by air pressure. Another phase of Fire Prevention Week in Lindsay is the carrying out of fire drills in all schools. Fire Chief Watson says in review that the efficiency with which the drills were carried out is a tribute to the effectiveness of regular drills conducted by school principals. The chief also cited increased safety conditions at the schools brought about as a result of school board action in introducing structural changes in the older building. In addition to the in-town phase of the fire prevention activities, the department is visiting 12 township schools, carrying out inspections and distributing literature. Later in the week, local industries will be visited with offers of providing fire prevention instruction.

Laurenson-Smith

St. John's Anglican Church, Bowmanville, beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, gladioli and carnations, was the setting for the marriage of Joan Allison McNair Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James William McNair Smith, Bowmanville, to James Murray Goudie Laurenson, B.A. son of Mr. and Mrs. Goudie Laurenson of Lindsay.

The double-ring ceremony took place on Saturday August 31, 1958, at 4 p.m., and was performed by the Rev. K. J. Frampton, rector of the church. The music was played by Mr. William Perry of Lindsay, and the soloist was his wife, Jean, who sang "The Twenty-third Psalm" and "The Wedding Hymn". At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony the Sacrament of the Holy Communion was administered to the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a full-length gown of cartoon-patterned Chantilly lace and brocade, made by her aunt, Mrs. Jack Absenur, Toronto. The lace headpiece featured a scalloped V neckline and long lilypointed sleeves, and the skirt, fashioned from brocade, was very full in the back and fell gracefully into a slight train. Her elbow-length bouffant veil was caught to a pearlized floral headpiece and the bouquet was a cascade of Cymind orchids, carnations and stephanotis. The bride wore the groom's gift of a strand of pearls.

Mrs. John Stones, Toronto, was matron-of-honour and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Neil Bain, Oshawa, Miss Carol Smith, Bowmanville and the Misses Rosemary Griffith and Hilary Duquesne of Jamaica, cousins of the bride. Their dresses were of turquoise pseudo-ede with bell-shaped pointed skirts featuring a bow at the front of the waist. Their headresses were large bows of the same material, attached to nose veils and they wore white gloves and turquoise shoes. They carried cascade bouquets of white and yellow shasta daisies. The little flower-girl was Miss Tracey Lee Stones, Toronto, who wore a dainty bouffant dress of white organza, made by the bride's mother, and carried turquoise shasta daisies.

Mr. Keith Hargrave, Toronto, was best man and the ushers were Messrs. John Smith, brother of the bride, Dale McDuenary, Toronto, Doug Davidson, London, and Howard Nesbitt, Woodville. The ring-bearer was Master Gregory McNair, Oshawa.

The reception was held at the Flying Dutchman Motor Hotel, where Stanley Smith, Bowmanville, was master of ceremonies. The guests were received by the bride's mother who wore a sheath dress of holiday blue lace, with a gracefully draped skirt. Her accessories were the same shade of blue and her hat was a small floral one with a veil. A corsage of dusty-pink carnations completed her ensemble. Assisting was the groom's mother in a gown of lilac lace and organza. Her accessories were a white feathery hat, blue shoes and a corsage of Cymind orchids and stephanotis. During the reception several cables of congratulation from relatives and friends in Jamaica and England were read, and afterwards an evening of dancing was enjoyed. The delicious and exquisitely decorated wedding-cake was made by the bride's mother.

The honeymoon was spent touring the New England States to the coast and for her honeymoon, the bride chose a suit of vibrant green shantung with a beige blouse of the same material. Her accessories tailed her at a dinner held at the Ontario Trading Post and presented her with a set of beautiful Val D'Or china. Two days before the wedding the bride's mother gave a trousseau tea and, following the rehearsal, the wedding party was entertained by the groom's parents at their home in Lindsay.

The bride attended B-lestern Public School, Jamaica and Bowmanville Public and High Schools. Until her marriage she was employed as an Invoice Clerk at the Ontario Training School for Boys, Bowmanville, where Toronto branch she has now joined. Her interests include winter-sports, tennis, bowling and dancing.

The groom attended S.S. No. 2, Pension Twp., Fosholn Falls High School; Peterborough Teachers' College; Waterloo Lutheran University and will graduate next year from Knox College where he is studying for the Presbyterian ministry. His interests are skiing, badminton, reading and photography.

Pre-bridal Events
Prior to her marriage, the bride was guest of honour at several parties. A dimmer-party and miscellaneous shower was given by her cousin, Mrs. Fritz Marti, Bowmanville and Mrs. Gerald White, also of Bowmanville, held a similar shower at which the bride's neighbours

Santa's arrival date set, ask more participation

Santa Claus will be coming to town on Saturday, November 23. This date was confirmed by Jas. Nolan at the Chamber of Commerce meeting in Lindsay Tuesday evening.
Secretary-Manager Harry MacDonald said that in view of the chamber's strong financial position this year compared with previous years, he thought it unnecessary to ask merchants for cash donation but hoped the merchants would participate more with goods and activity support.
At this point several members of the meeting were all talking together when a motion regarding the Santa Claus parade was made. "I'll second that," said Thomas Jones, "alpanied by Mrs. Frank Gourd, of Oakwood, he sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love".

The bride wore a floor-length gown of peach-devoted the gown was styled with a sweetheart neckline and long high-point sleeves. A single petal accented the front of the skirt and at the back two large bow fastenings were joined by a point at the waist. Her train, her headress, a large fabric rose with pearl petals, held a silk illusion veil which fell to a point at the waist.
She carried a large nosegay of pink Sweetheart roses, white baby 'mums and white stephanoids, white lace with white stemmers of various lengths which held a single pink Sweetheart rose in each love knot.

Baddow ladies hostesses for Region 4 UCW Rally

The ladies of Baddow United Church were hostesses to the Fall Rally of Region 4 of Lindsay Presbyterian U.C.W. There was an afternoon session only, conducted by Mrs. Maurice Watson, RRI Federation. In the absence of Mrs. Hicks, Chairperson of the Region, Miss Vina Neal, Victoria Road acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Robt. Montgomery of Bealey. There was an attendance of approximately 50 from the eight churches in Region 4, including 10 Presbyterial officers and secretaries. Mrs. Chambers of Baddow gave a very warm welcome to all and a feeling of friendliness pervaded the whole afternoon.

A moment's silence and a short memorial was conducted by Mrs. M. Fisher for Miss Gilmour of Kinnmount who was being buried that afternoon. Since Kinnmount is one of the churches in that region, the ladies were present at the rally from Kinnmount.

The highlight of this as well as all the rallies in the Presbyterial U.C.W. was the address of The Rev. R. K. McLean of Cambridge St. Church. Lindsay, introducing him Mrs. Stanley Murray, President of the Lindsay Presbyterial U.C.W. said, "he is the immediate past president of Lindsay Presbytery. He and Mrs. McLean have collaborated in the writing of the new curriculum which is to come into use in 1964. He has recently returned from Japan where he was sent by the inter-board committee on evangelistic mission for the summer, as one of a party of 20 from North America, working throughout the continent."

Mr. McLean in his opening remarks said he was amazed by attending the 4 rallies at the strength of the U.C.W. He based his remarks on a few verses read from J.B. Phillips' translation of Paul's first letter to the Romans. Paul speaks of the fact that by faith we receive that "inner illumination of the spirit" because they have become to sense "how tremendous is the power that is available to those who believe in God". He said, "What I have to say about Japan is merely incidental as I try to elucidate the 'inner illumination of the spirit' important as what I learned about Japan, is what I learned about Canada while I was there."

He spoke of the solitariness of the Japanese and of anyone who lives outside the gospel. He said that even in the loneliness, "You do not find in an arranged marriage the solidarity that we find in a Christian marriage. The literal translation of the word 'Wife' in Japanese is 'That thing in the back of the head'." A wife may be a very solitary person because she is under the domination of the mother-in-law. This is a traditional thing that goes on from generation to generation. Missionaries saw that the mother-in-law situation is the cause of most of their unhappiness. We in Canada realize what it means to belong to a gathered people who believe in God.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDonald, Oshawa, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald and Lorne.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Keeley and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gilling spent an evening in Peterboro recently.

Dr. and Mrs. Clinton of Cleveland, Ohio, visited Mrs. Stone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hill and daughter recently.

Mr. D. L. Nicholls, of Midland, spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. W. W. Budd and attended the 80th anniversary of Knox Church W.M.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Day, of Mimico, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garet Day and attended the funeral of their brother, the late Mr. Harvey Day, who passed away in Toronto.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the Day family at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hill moved far north as Huntsville one day recently and report the profusion of colour, very wonderful to see.

people who believe in God. You do not realize what it means to have been nurtured in the faith until you visit a country where they have not had this opportunity. There is a lack of trust and in the place of it there is a charming, friendly, which they try to cover this lack. He challenged United Church Women to make adequate preparation for this new curriculum which is to come into use in 1964, to provide adequate teachers, etc. that our children may come to have this "inner illumination of the spirit". The Japanese people are imitators. They are just beginning to think for themselves. What happens in Japan may determine the future of the whole of Asia."

A very inspirational worship service was conducted by Mrs. E. Hargrave of Long Point with Mrs. Canker giving a splendid paper on "Christian Love". Mrs. Frank Benson of 1962 rally in St. David's was also of Bealey rendered a beautiful solo, "God Understands."

Much activity was reported from each organization even though the membership is small and much credit is due these smaller organizations. Mrs. Murray spoke of Hillcrest Lodge which is a Sr. Citizens' Lodge at Orillia supported by the 6 Presbyteries of Simcoe, Grey, Muskoka, Lindsay and Dufferin and Peel. The U.C.W.'s of these presbyteries are asked to provide furnishings for the Lindsay Presbytery share will be $547. This is to be voted on at the annual meeting in January at Beaverton. She also urged the use of Bible Study.

All the other Presbyterial officers present spoke of their work and space will only permit mentioning finance and supply. Finance Chairman, Mrs. Fisher hoped that every organization would send in its allocation plan, and said, "when you have sent in 100% we will still not have quite enough for the finance committee has not allocated the whole amount. Some organizations ear-marked the thank-offering for the allocation which goes to the M. & M. No money can go for Over and Above until the Board of Women has reached its objective. Donors have the opportunity of specifying where their gifts shall be used. On Sept. 16th the Finance Committee has a finance workshop at Fenelon Falls which includes the president of each local as well as the treasurer and the finance chairman of each local. Each is to bring a box lunch and Fenelon Falls will provide a cup of tea. Miss Olive Geach, Treasurer of the Presbyterial Board that Region 4 at the end of June had sent in 47% of its allocation. She has also received two contributions of $10 each to the Bursary Fund.

Mrs. Ralph Smith, Supply Sec. reported that 3 1/2 tons of clothing had been sent, 30 boxes in May and 70 in June. The T.P.T. has transported these boxes to Toronto free of charge. Hazelton, B.C. is our only allocation for a bale of goods used clothing. They can use pyjamas at all times. Good infants of children's clothing is always available. We had 82 quilts, 21 blankets, 49 babies' quilts, 20 tacked comforters. Rather than quilts, they prefer blankets which can be washed more easily. $2.25 sent to the church treasurer, Mr. Harold Rump, 85 St. Clair Ave. E., Toronto will provide one of these blankets. They also sent 45 pr. mittens, 19 pr. socks, 35 lbs. of soap and they need more. 70 lbs. of old nylons were sent to Korea to be re-woven and made into new articles. Drapes woven from old nylons were sent to the new chapel at St. Clair Ave. E. in appreciation of what Canada has done for Korea.

"The Maidens' Viewpoint"

This past week and the Highlands of Haliburton were filled with people enjoying the colour tours and the scenery.

Come now — "Ed," you'll have to admit that the recent editorial you wrote about the colours "down south" being so much better than the Northern ones — and that our colour was a "washout" must have been written during a slight mental relaxation. Granted the colours to the south of us are good, in their own way, but compared to northern colours — isn't that?

It appears now that the colour will still be here over the Thanksgiving weekend. Even if the leaves aren't at their best — we have enough scenery left over to make the drive up well worth the trip.

The second chapter of "The Case of the Defunct Comet" will be written. I have been assured and reassured from several sources of the fact that the company "stands behind their product."

This is fine and as it should be — provided they don't stand "too far behind."

We'll keep you up to date as time moves along.

Got a short note in the mail the other day — the lady who wrote finished by saying "I personally enjoy your column as much as my husband."

The editor, in his daily rounds, meets quite a few problems. Our Editor was handed a story the other day following a fire in a farm residence. Among the losses was an item — the loss of 2025 pigs. Well, that's a lot of pigs so the editor telephoned the farmer: "When he came to the 'phone he gave me a pronounced lip."

"Is it true you lost 2025 pigs?" asked the editor.

"Yeth" came the liping answer.

The editor very wisely corrected the story to read "two sows and 25 pigs."

Every once in a while I get involved in a difference of opinion with customers regarding the damage done by spraying underbrush. Sooner or later they quote as their Rachel Carson's book "Silent Spring." No matter what is said — this book is taken as absolute authority on the damage done by insecticides. I was pleased to read this article in the Toronto papers last Thursday — it puts this book into proper perspective and backs up my side of the argument.

Professor A. W. A. Brown of London Ontario, one of the experts quote in the book — "Silent Spring" — had this to say:

"She took a few horrible examples and built them up into a very lucrative book. She allowed herself to be pressured by persons who had a vested interest in opposing insecticides."

The book was described as the work of an "extremist."

Dr. Brown said "The greatest danger of insecticides came from their use by untrained persons. Officials must weigh the loss of Canada's whole pulpwood supply, of forests are not sprayed, against the advantages to be gained from safeguarding fish for U.S. Anglers."

So there you have it — it is to be hoped that the damage done by this book in destroying public confidence in intelligent and informed programs of pest control, by skilled operators, will soon pass away.

Visiting at one of the larger hotels in Toronto recently, a friend of mine was complaining about the cost. "When they handed me my bill I asked them if it would be alright if I made a suggestion."

"Certainly sir, what did you have in mind?"

"You know that sign you have in all the rooms, Have you left anything?"

"Well," came the reply.

"Yes," said my friend, "I suggest you change it to read, 'Have you anything left?'"

There was quite a bit of activity over the week-end in Minden. The side-walk engineers were treated to the sight of large diggers, bulldozers and truck fleets working along the bed of the river. The Gulliver has to be crossed twice with pipes for the new water works.

Speaking of water — to break the routine of coffee drinking I decided last week to try a pot of tea. I ordered tea in three different Lindsay restaurants and it was all inferior — the common denominator, of course, was the water — the smell and taste, even after being boiled has returned to the coffee where the strength of the brew is strong enough to overcome the water.

Had coffee in the Cottage Restaurant with Gord Cart and Bob Carter of the local radio station. As usual, the conversation covered a wide variety of subjects.

Bob Carter seemed to me to be a rather quiet and well-informed young man until I remembered his hobby and we got talking about it.

The man's mad, completely unshared this hobby of his — having someone take him up in an airplane to say — a few thousand feet then flying himself out of the doorway or whatever you call the opening in the side of a plane and allowing himself to float through the air flapping his arms and legs and soaring like a bird — free-fall until, at the last minute, he opens his parachute and floats gently to the ground. Must be quite an experience — but too rich for my blood — the highest I ever get off the ground is when I'm talking to someone. Then, I draw my self up to my full five-foot-six, stand on a chair a pop case and then I'm done. This way I can almost meet Gord face to face.

Don't get me wrong — I envy Brother Carter, his nerve and skill but it's not for me.

Dogs and more dogs. The past week I noticed more dogs than ever running free and easy throughout the town and country. Must be the by-law restricting their activities has been lifted. This bylaw of course really interfered with their moving about but now they may be able to do it legally.

Well, as they say, "It's a dog's life."

Dining through Carnarvon and Gooderham this past week it is almost unbelievable the amount of building that is going on. New homes, new businesses — and judging from the past season — the Highlands of Haliburton are just coming into their own. The next ten years should show quite an upswing in business. More and more people are referring to Minden and Haliburton — they are building new homes and starting a new life. These people are referring here are for the most part, highly skilled people, many trades and many arts. Most, that I have been speaking 10, I have no intention of "withering on the vine," they have ideas of working out small businesses and services that will greatly assist the tourist to enjoy their visits to our country.

The older people are rapidly becoming the backbone of the community — our young people, as soon as they reach the age that they need work — are forced to leave the our side world — there is little or no future for them in a small community. This is unfortunate, but this is the way of life. Only when they have made their way and have become successful are they able to return to their homes and live.

The latest series of pictures and write-up on "The Clergy Hour" in Minden appeared in the September issue of the "Ontario Homes and Living". A copy of this article was given to me during the Lindsay Fair by Mr. E. H. Jacques of the White Pine Bureau of Ottawa. Mr. Jacques was in Lindsay with their display in the Merchant's Building.

The White Pine Bureau has developed a slide presentation of Canadian Pioneer Buildings and this is available free of charge to small groups, clubs and societies. Any organization interested should write to: Information Service, White Pine Bureau, Canadian Lumbermen's Association, 27 Southburn Ave., Ottawa 2, Ontario.

The story behind the slides is this:

"Early in 1959 the White Pine Bureau, which is a division of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association of Ottawa, inaugurated search to locate the best examples of homes, churches and other buildings built by our forefathers — the Pioneers of 18th century. The search selected 10 of the most outstanding old buildings, have them photographed, featuring their most outstanding characteristics and, and when suitably mounted, offer the collection for display in Public Library Branches across Canada."

This was done! The photographs by Malik of Ottawa, in display stands and have been touring public libraries for nearly three years. Letters and reports received from Canadians everywhere are genuinely interested in our history, our culture and our national heritage.

The Clergy House of Minden was one of the ten chosen and has been the means of bringing a great deal of attention and interest to Minden and the Highlands of Haliburton in general.

Another week gone by. Don't forget, a drive up this way for the Thanksgiving week-end — it will worth it.

Japanese lonely people, terial U.C.W. held its Fall Rally at Cambridge St. Church with morning and afternoon sessions conducted by the official Chairman Mrs. Elmo Rich of Oakwood, with Mrs. Lloyd Graham, also of Oakwood, as secretary. Approximately 100 ladies were in attendance, with a good representation from each of the eight churches in the region, and each church answering the roll call with "What's New" in the house. Mrs. W. McCarty, President of Cambridge St. U.C.W., extended a hearty welcome to all present. The two highlights of this rally were the Bible Study by Mrs. B. Garrett, wife of the minister of Queen St. Church and the address by Rev. R. K.N. McLean, well-known minister of Cambridge St. Church who has recently returned from the summer spent in Japan.

Mrs. Garrett after looking over the leaflet, "The Covenant" which is to be studied this year said it was one of the most interesting studies and also makes use of "The Word and the Way" She divided the study into 10 groups for more intensive study and had each group report its findings.

In introducing Mr. McLean, Mrs. Murray, President of Cambridge St. U.C.W., said it is the immediate Past President of Lindsay Presbytery. He and Mrs. McLean have collaborated in writing the first year in kindergarten work for this new curriculum which is being introduced in 1964. He has just returned from Japan where he was sent by the inter-board committee, on an evangelistic mission with a party of 20 from North America.

Mr. McLean in his opening remarks said, "We are gathered in Christian fellowship to find what our neighbors are doing. We are going to share with you what the Christian church is doing in another country. He based his remarks on a few verses read from J.B. Phillips' translation of Paul's first letter to the Ephesians. Paul speaks of the fact that by faith we receive "inner illumination of the spirit" because they have been come to sense "how tremendous is the power that is available to those who believe in God".

The theme of your rally is "Our Christian Faith" therefore I want to talk about this passage with relation to how we have been brought to Japan. I came back doubly grateful that we here in Canada have been nurtured in the United Church of Christ until you have visited in a country where they have not this opportunity. The Japanese people are a very lonely people. Missionaries speak of this too. The strength we gain from the fellowship of meeting together in a Christian congregation is unknown to them. There is much loneliness in their family life. Where you do not have the pattern of "That Holy Family" to follow is very difficult. The literal translation of the word "Wife" in Japanese is, "That thing in the back of the house". It is the custom for the mother-in-law to live in the home of the oldest son when he marries, which often means that the new wife is merely a servant to the domination of her mother-in-law. This is a traditional thing which goes on from generation to generation.

Report from Ottawa

A resume of affairs on Parliament Hill as reported by Russell C. Hony, M.P.

The first order of business when the House of Commons reconvened on September 30th was to determine "who sits where". The question arose as a result of the separation of Real Couette and his followers from the Creditistes from the Social Credit Party. The question of seating arrangement in the House is of some considerable strategic importance because it establishes the priority of speaking by the Party Leaders in the order in which amendments may be moved to government legislation, and other matters of tactical importance.

The Liberal party forming the government sits on the right of Mr. Speaker. The Progressive Conservative Party, constituting the Official Opposition across the floor of the chamber and closest to Mr. Speaker on his left. Until the split in Secord ranks there was no problem between the two minor parties. The Social Credit Party had 24 members and sat next to the Official Opposition and leader Robert Thompson ranked next in precedence to Mr. Diefenbaker. Mr. Douglas and his 16 N.D.P. followers were confined to the end of the Chamber and the chamber little ranked beyond him the other two opposition leaders.

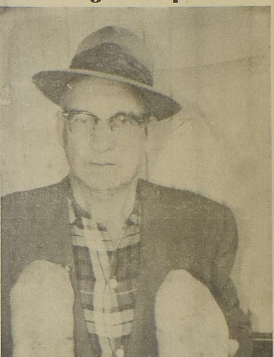

Speaker Allan MacNaughton, who has the final responsibility for seating arrangements, pointed out to the House that the real question for determination was whether Mr. Couette and his followers were really a new "Party", or merely a different version of the Social Credit Party. Stating that three parties have been recognized in the House since 1927, Mr. MacNaughton went on to say that the recent split in the Social Credit Party "creates quite a new situation to have a third party divide into two sections or blocks a few months after a general election and during an adjournment of the House".

Stanley Knowles, spokesman for the N.D.P. party for the position that the cleavage in the Social Credit ranks had in fact created a new party, and thus the N.D.P. group, with 17 members had become the second official opposition group. Mr. Knowles also thanked the Progressive Conservatives. Hansard reveals some humour in the debate as Mr. Knowles said the question is "whether there has in fact been a division of the Social Credit Party into two parties, whether they are two parts of the same party or two separate parties, and so on. From what we have read in the papers I find it strange they should be so tight together, cheek to jewel, without exchanging blows. Sorted Gilles Greengard, Chief lieutenant of Real Couette snapped "It's no worse than being beside you", causing Mr. Knowles to respond with one of his few French words, "Touche".

Official Opposition leader Diefenbaker delivered a long commentary on the whole matter as he sprayed political grapeshot in all directions. He charged that the problem confronting the House might have been avoided if the Pleasant weekend produces some unpleasant surprises

A visit to cottages in the Inclusive Estates area over the balmy October weekend produced some unpleasant surprises for some of the cottagers. OPP Constable J. Plumtree of Fenelon Falls Detachment was called upon to investigate three break-ins discovered by cottagers taking advantage of the summer-like weather to drop in on their summer properties.

Minden Recreation Committee pledges minor hockey support

At a meeting of the Minden Recreation Committee, Chairman Lyle McKnight welcomed the representative from the Rotary Club. Also present was Don Maddock, district representative from the Department of Education.

The possibility of extending minor hockey facilities in the town was discussed but the recreation facilities in the town club were well under way and the club will be formed this season. Arena Manager Robert Harvey Sr. said that preparations for a senior citizens club were well under way and the club will be formed this season.

Midnight crowd watches flareup

Charge five former residents, one lays counter-charges against police officers

Charges and counter-charges have followed in the wake of a "Donneybrook" which was a time threatened to spread like wildfire on Lindsay's main street early Sunday morning.

As a result of the incident, five former Lindsay residents have been charged, four with causing a disturbance and one with obstructing. In addition, counter-charges of assault have been laid against three Lindsay police officers and one OPP constable.

Charged with causing a disturbance are Leonard and Geraldine Titus and Nelson and Pearl Gilroy, formerly of Lindsay, now living in Toronto. Another former Lindsay man, James S. Adams, also of Toronto, has been charged with obstructing a police officer.

The charges followed a disturbance on Kent St. in which OPP Const. Emery became involved. It is reported that the Lindsay police and the Toronto police were arrested and charged.

The counter charges were laid by Mrs. Pearl Gilroy when she was released on bail later on Sunday.

Those charged with assault are Corporals Ross Bailey and William Mosley, Const.

Lower, dam Gull River to lay water pipes

Workmen on the Minden waterworks project lowered and dammed the Gull River on Sunday in order to lay water pipes from one side of the river to the other. This was done to link the pumping station on the north side of the river to the rest of the town.

Soon to be removed

Announcement was made last week that the Bank of Montreal had agreed to finance the increased real planned a new branch of the bank for Lindsay. The existing structure (above) will be replaced by a modern building.

EDITORIALS....

IT COULD HAPPEN HERE

Scenes and reports of mob violence are not unusual in these days of great unrest in many parts of the world, some of them relatively close to home. Generally speaking though, when we read of these things or view scenes of this nature on our TV, screen or in the news, we are ourselves with thoughts of "it couldn't happen here". Those who witnessed the "Donnybrook" on Kent St. late Saturday night and early Sunday morning probably felt less certain of it.

Dealing with an isolated bit of trouble-making the affair quickly took on all the aspects of a mob scene, shutting from one point of action to another and back again while police mingled with the crowd sorting out the real score spots and trying to keep the thing from spreading. For a while it was touch and go with the risk of a real flareup being heightened when one of the crowd raced up behind an off-duty provincial policeman, slammed his fist into the officer's nose back then, two on one. The med his fist into the officer's nose back then, two on one. The med his fist into the officer's nose back then, two on one. The med his fist into the officer's nose back then, two on one.

One of the surprising features of the incident was the apparent lack of respect for the law on the part of some of those involved. Instead of respect, it might be termed an attitude of outright belligerence, one which virtually challenged the right of police to interfere. This, of course, is an unhealthy state of affairs and one which cannot be tolerated. We have got to have, and maintain, respect for law and order and the police who are expected to enforce the law require the support of the public if they are to do an effective job.

The weekend incident could have been a lot worse — left unchallenged, future incidents of this type would be sure to come with and this is why it is so important that crowd-drawing and other action of a riotous or mob-like nature must be effectively dealt with.

"ROLLING STOCK"

Canadians probably have a greater per capita investment in "rolling stock" than people in any other country in the world barring, perhaps, the United States. Most of us have been conscious of the steadily increasing number of motor vehicles on our highways and wondered vaguely "where it was all going to end". It has been revealed for the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce to make us acutely aware of the phenomenal growth in the automotive industry and its role in the national economy. The data is contained in its "Facts and Figures" 1963 edition which proclaims, among other things, that "Canadians bought over half a million new cars in 1962 — a record 502,565 units."

According to FACTS AND FIGURES "there is an average of one car per household and 8.2 persons per vehicle in Canada. This compares with a density of approximately 2.4 vehicles per person in the United States and 6.6 in the United Kingdom."

"Motor vehicles provided governments with an estimated $663 million in revenue in 1962, which represents 21.2% of the total net general revenue of the provinces. Of the total motor vehicle revenue in Canada in 1962, 15% was derived from motor fuel taxes and 6.2% from registration fees."

Other interesting facts and figures in this informative booklet about the Canadian automotive industry in 1962 include:

- Total production of passenger cars and commercial vehicles amounted 209,780 units — an increase of 117,883 units over 1961.
- The average hourly earnings by wage-earners in "motor vehicle manufacturing industry amount" — $2.47.
- Total sales of passenger cars, trucks and buses totalled $1,762,916,000.
- There were 21,027 convertible cars produced in Canada in 1962 — an increase of 10,501 units over 1961.
- There were more than 5,780,000 vehicles registered in Canada in 1962, of which 4,536,000 passenger cars.
- Canadians drove an estimated 47.5 billion miles during last year on a total of 467,106 miles of highway, roads and streets.
- Net sales of gasoline totalled $3,514,910,000 (imperial gallons and net sales of diesel oil totalled 153,571 imperial gallons).

Well may we ask "Where is it all going to end?" But the end is not in sight and therefore no one, not even the automotive industry knows the answer to that one.

CAMOUFLAGE BEING REMOVED

The camouflage is gradually being removed from some of the favorite old vote-catching gimmicks. Now, instead of promising the people something and leading them to believe they will get it for nothing, governments seem to be at last coming to the point where they are getting the public something with a price tag attached to it. Of course the tag was always there but it was covered up with so much window dressing that many who got the goods really believed they had received something from the government, often something which elected governing politicians had promised them.

Latest development in this matter of removing the camouflage has to do with the proposed increase in old age pensions by ten dollars per month. The government has announced flatly that it will mean an extra one per cent, or from four to four and a half dollars per month in personal income tax. This at least makes the public aware that these things do cost money and that there is only one place for government obtains money and that is from the taxpayer.

There is, however one feature of the proposed arrangement that still hasn't been brought out into the open

Reports and Remarks...

Canada has spent eight years and $7 million developing an amphibious military vehicle called the Bobcat. All this time and effort there has been talk of scrapping the project and buying a similar U.S. vehicle. The reasons? Because the American vehicle is said to be a little better and, what's more, it's cheaper.

If these are the only reasons there are for scrapping the Bobcat then we have no reasons for scrapping it at all.

There never was a military weapon or vehicle that was ever perfect in its murderous purpose. The Sten gun, the Bren gun, the Spitfire and even the Lee Enfield rifle all went through their various Mark Ones, Twos and Threes. The Bobcat can improve too.

And as for the US vehicle being cheaper, this is impossible. All we have spent $7 million of the Canadian taxpayers' money developing an industry — for that's what a military vehicle is — it is nothing but insanity to say that an American vehicle is cheaper.

The $7 million and the money that follows in production is money that will go to Canadian manufacturers to keep Canadians from being unemployed, to allow more Canadians to pay taxes.

To buy an American vehicle would kill a part of Canada's economy, help fatten the US purse and put more red ink in our balance of payments ledger.

We would be cheaper if the US government were to agree to allow Canada's unemployed to share American Social Security benefits.

—The Independent Businessman.

ELECTION COSTS

There is a simple way in which election costs not only can be reduced but efficiently increased. The only conceivable reason that every level of government insists on preparing its own voters' lists is that they are the most accurate machinery in the elections are a traditional medium of petty patronage. With major elections occurring at the rate of almost one a year, isn't it reasonable to expect our government to put their electoral machinery prepare one master voters' list and check constantly up to date? —Vancouver Sun.

BOOKLET TO HELP LAYMAN IDENTIFY METEORITES

Canada's farmers and other rural residents are being asked to help clear up some of the mysteries of outer space.

Valuable space clues come from meteorites, pieces of interplanetary material that plunge to earth. Scientists want all the help they can get in finding meteorites and which, if dealt with, might make possible even higher pensions for those who really need them without increasing the tax burden. We refer to the fact that old age pensions continue to be paid to those who really have no need of them at all — people with substantial pensions or income from other sources. True, it might be held by some of these people that they "paid for it and should get it" but what they would be forgetting is that if these pensions were only for those in need, those contributing would certainly not be called upon at this time to pay more. In fact, it might just be possible that they would find themselves in the position of having to pay less.

DEPRESSED, DISTRESSED, OPPRESSED are terms of designation we are hearing quite a lot about these days in relation to industrially underdeveloped municipalities.

Applied at the local level during the recent Ontario election by Liberal Candidate S. C. Benson, who suggested that Lindsay have itself declared a "depressed area", the term was resented in some quarters. This resentment, it would appear in the light of later and continuing developments, was due, to some extent at least, to a misunderstanding of the term's intended application. This same misinterpretation of what the terms "depressed", "depressed" or "depressed" meant when applied to municipalities has been the subject of considerable discussion in the House of Commons as recently as this week.

During these discussions, Canada's Labor Minister Alan MacEachern objected strenuously to what he called a "wrong emphasis" in suggesting municipalities receiving special assistance to develop industrially were depressed. "They are really," he said, "areas of future opportunity in view of special aid to industry to establish there." Enlarging upon this, the labor minister went on point out that "such areas were made eligible for special assistance because they failed to grow as rapidly as other areas".

What, we would ask, is wrong with any municipality availing itself of any opportunity to grow industrially if it feels it is not developing space with other areas? What stigma is there attached to being designated as an underdeveloped area, especially if it means more industry and more opportunity for people to find employment? To put it another way: Can any community which is underdeveloped industrially afford to have turned any stone which might hide beneath it the key to industrial growth?

No doubt there will be some resentment in areas of high industrial concentration which are reluctant to see incentives given to encourage the growth of enterprises to expand industrially but this would be of selfish motivation and show a total lack of interest for the welfare of other communities, yes, even of the nation as a whole. Before condemning the application and acceptance of industrial incentives, we believe the industrial development commissioners of all centres in which industrial development shows signs of lagging, should undertake first to investigate the matter fully. In Lindsay's case we may say "not" when we should be saying "yes". Other towns and cities have said "yes" with beneficial results.

One more point, lest there be another area of misunderstanding. This is not a matter for political prejudice. Aid to industrially underdeveloped areas was in existence under Conservative administration and is continuing under the present Liberal government.

are willing to pay for them. The Geological Survey of Canada will pay upwards of $100 for a meteorite.

Because they live for the most part in sparsely settled areas and devote much of their time to working on the land, it is felt farmers are among the most likely people to come across a meteorite. One Canadian farmer found a meteorite virtually in his own backyard. It had been used for years to prop open the barn door.

To help the farmer and his neighbor identify meteorites, the National Research Council's Associate Committee on Meteorites has had published an eight-page, illustrated booklet describing the origin of meteorites and how to identify them.

Prepared by the Geological Survey of Canada, a branch of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys, the booklet is printed in both French and English and in non-scientific language describes the appearance and characteristics of meteorites. Photographs show the three types of meteorites and rocks or other objects commonly mistaken for meteorites. Copies are available free from the Geological Survey of Canada, Ottawa.

By studying meteorites, scientists may determine, for example, whether the radiation level in parts of the solar system is so high as to mean certain death to the space traveller. From meteorites come information about the age of the solar system; meteorite studies may also help solve space-vehicle re-entry problems.

Persons finding what they believe are meteorites are being urged to get in touch immediately with the Associate Committee on Meteorites of the National Research Council, Ottawa. Specimens may be sent to the Geological Survey of Canada or the nearest university for identification.

The size of meteorites varies greatly. They may be no larger than a pin head, or a mass weighing several tons in Canada. Alberta and Ontario have yielded the greatest number of meteorites, although they have been found in most parts of the country.

Largest Canadian meteorite, weighing 386 pounds was found in 1869 near Iron Creek, Alta., about 70 miles east of Edmonton. The second largest, weighing 370 pounds was found in 1854 near Madoc, Ont., about 30 miles north of Belleville. —Dept. of Mines, Canada.

THERE MUST BE A BETTER WAY

We are reminded every day, and often many times a day, that this nation must produce more educated people or be buried, both militarily and economically, by communism. As a matter of fact, the pressure for more education is growing so strong in America, one may easily be led to assume that ignorance is very closely related to treason, or at best a decided lack of patriotism.

I am certainly not anti-education but it seems to me that there must be a better way to improve our youth to seek knowledge.

A young man whom I have known since he was twelve is a typical case. This boy had expressed the desire to become a doctor and his father had encouraged him. After one year of college, however, the boy quit school and accepted a job in the mills of a large industry. The boy's father was very disappointed and asked me to talk to his son about returning to school. I consented, since I felt that this lad could be an outstanding success in any field of endeavor.

After several preliminary thrusts, which the boy parried with admirable dexterity, I was forced to ask him outright why he had elected to become a mill worker.

"I have told Dad more than once, but I don't really mind going out again," the boy said. "Of course, I could give you the old 'blessed are the horny hands of men and all that rot, but you see, I really would like to be a doctor, but I got to figuring: Take the years required to qualify, plus the chance that I would not be successful; add the extra taxes involved if I did reach the high-income-bracket level, mix well with the fact that doctors will most likely be working for the government in a few years, and you arrive at the same conclusion I did."

The boy seemed to be beyond reach, but his father would not concede defeat.

"I tell you, Dad, I have the most security anyone can have, outside of jail, right where I am," the boy said at last. "In three years I will be earning about seventy-five hundred a year. If I am off for lack of work, we have the guaranteed annual wage. Should I get sick, we have insurance paid by the company. I cannot be forced to work any faster than I choose to work: the union won't allow it. You just can't beat a deal like that."

"Suppose the company goes out of business?" I asked, thinking I saw a weak place in the boy's defense.

"No problem," he shot back. "In a case like that, the government will declare this a disaster area and feed us, or both." Then as an afterthought, he added, "Boy, Uncle Sam's really in a cube. If he wants people to go to school so bad, why does he keep working so hard to make the educated and the uneducated equal?"

In the face of such logic, I can only add that the voice of this nation's plea for better education appears to be drowned by the great sound of opposing action.

HATS TATTLE
Hats tattle on "Millady's" mood. And the male who is expert at hat analysis can skip the guessing when trying to tell which way a woman's emotions are stirring at a given time.

Veteran Hollywood designer Edith Head talks about the "Hat-watcher's guide to a woman's mood. She says 'two new who wear the mannish, new styles from milliners are competitive, aggressive and on the warpath.' And here is a guide on what type of a woman you are in the kind of hats you wear.

The black lace little nothing hat with veiling over the eyes means a woman is feeling femme fatale and adventure some.

A broad-brimmed hat that shades the face indicates hands off. She's in an evasive mood.

Ultra-fashional hats that make show a woman's face and stare show a woman is more interested at the moment, in impressing other females. She wants nothing to do with the male while wearing it.

Full boxes and other of the hats she has showing lots of hair — like Jackie Kennedy's favorite hats — broadcast that the woman is sure of herself.

Q. What is an approved way of washing corduroy?

A. Using lukewarm water and mild suds, lift the corduroy garment up from the bottom in the water. Rub badly soiled parts with a soft brush. Rinse in clear water, then hang up wet without squeezing or wringing out the water. While drying, shake occasionally. When thoroughly dry, raise the nap by stroking with a brush in the same direction as the ribs run. An automatic dryer is ideal for corduroy, fluffing up the nap as it dries.

Q. How can I "dirt-proof" my brick fireplace?

A. Keep it clean easily by brushing the surface with liquid wax. When dust gathers it can be readily wiped off.

Q. How can I keep suede shoes new-looking?

A. By rubbing them with a

Ironing Aid

A large-sized bottle of the shaped type of fingernail polish remover you find, if kept in your laundry, will find invaluable in removing any "minked fabric" that may adhere to your iron because of too-great heat. It is also good for removing adhesive tape or excess glue that has bubbled over the mended spots in jewelry or pottery.

Pro-Atm Towelover
Only a hurricane wind can blow your garbage or trash away if you set them in side old automobile tires when the storm signals loom up.

Iron Skillet
A little vinegar and salt boiled in your iron skillet will remove the untidy black spots or burns.

HAM LOGS WITH RAIN SAUCE
1 pound ground beef; 1/4 cup milk; 1/2 cup quick-cooking rolled oats; 1 egg; 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish; 1/2 teaspoon salt; dash freshly ground pepper; 1 tablespoon cornstarch; 1/4 cup cold water; 3 tablespoons lemon juice; 2 tablespoons vinegar; 1/2 cup brown sugar; 1/4 cup seedless raisins.

Combine first 8 ingredients; mix well. Shape in 6 logs, about 6 1/2 inches long. Place in 11 1/2 x 7 1/2 x 1 1/2 inch baking dish. Blend cornstarch and water; add remaining ingredients. Cook and stir till mixture bubbles; pour over ham logs. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg.) 40 to 45 minutes, basting occasionally with the sauce. Makes 6 servings.

COURET MAIT BALLS
1 pound ground beef; 1/4 pound (1/2 cup) Braunschweiger; 1/4 cup finely chopped onion; 1/4 cup finely beaten egg; 1/4 cup milk; 1 teaspoon salt; Dash pepper; 2 tablespoons fat; 1/4 cup dry mushroom-soap mix; 1 cup cold water.

Combine first 8 ingredients; mix well. Shape in eighteen 1 1/2-inch balls; chill 1 hour. Brown meat balls, a few at a time, in hot fat, shaking frequently. Blend soup mix and water; add to meat. Cover; simmer 15 minutes. Serve with mushrooms. Serves six.

BEEF AND NOODLE CASEROLE
1 box noodles with sour cream and cheese sauce; 1/2 pound ground beef; 1/2 cup chopped onion; 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup; 1/4 cup of milk; 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento; 1/4 teaspoon thyme, crushed; dash pepper; 1 cup soft bread crumbs; 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine; 1/4 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese.

Prepare the noodles with sauce mix according to label directions. Brown meat; add onion. Stir in soup, milk, pimiento and seasonings; add noodle mixture. Turn into 10 x 4 x 4-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with mixture of bread crumbs and butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Q. How can I remove rust stains from my kitchen sink?

A. Cover these stains with kerosene for about four hours, then wash off with piping hot water and a strong soap. Another method is to rub the stains with a piece of raw denim, on, followed by soap and water.

Q. How can I, when cooking cauliflower or cabbage, prevent the cooking odors from permeating my house?

A. By dropping a few walnuts, shells and all, into the pot while they're cooking.

TRANSITION
We are turning into a nation of lightweighters. Authorities in the clothing field say when chemists invaded the fabrics mills a transition from heavy to light weight came about.

Now, yesterday's heavy Lindsey-Woolsey is giving way to synthetic fabrics which weigh less.

One of the newest of lightweight is a nylon material which has been treated so that it breathes. Hundreds of tiny little holes in the material allows inner moisture — such as that created by perspiration — to escape evaporation.

Rainwear manufacturers spotted the advantages of fabric breathability and used the material in men's and women's rain coats.

Several manufacturers are introducing ski jackets and parkas of this breathing nylon material — and now it is not hard to find breathable "oil skins" for foul weather gear for yachtsmen.

A poncho-tent-sleeping bag cover combination is particularly intriguing. Golfers seem to prefer this waterproof yet breathable material — it is cool and comfortable.

BETTER THAN 5% PERCENT
You may not realize it but better than five-and-one-half per cent of all fires start in someone's kitchen. It might be a good idea to check your kitchen for fire hazards and available extinguishers.

First for prevention — the range should have adequate clearance from woodwork and other combustible material — it must be kept clean — always slay in the kitchen when cooking fat foods. Now for putting a fire out. Never, never use water. It has a lower boiling point than fat so it will make the fire spread and the fat splatter.

One approved method, aside from using a conventional extinguisher, is with baking soda. Just dump the soda fast — right on the base of the flames. It is a free food product and Won't harm food. Just rinse off the soda and the food will be ready to serve.

Fashion Hint
The newest Eton suits have suede elbow patches.

Cleaning Combs
Combs made of hard rubber, or bone can be cleaned by letting them stand for 10 minutes in a bath of warm water containing a couple of tablespoons of household ammonia. Scrub with a small brush. Rinse and dry. Alcohol and vinyl solutions are good cleaners and disinfectants for hard rubber or bone combs. Nylon combs can be sterilized by boiling.

Paint Remover
For dried spots of paint on your hands and fingers the morning after a paint job, use some fingernail polish remover. It softens the paint quickly.

Sponges
Sponges used in the bathroom may be kept soft and sweet if washed occasionally in warm water to which a few drops of lemon juice have been added.

CHOCOLATE PASTRY CAKE
2 4-ounce packages sweet cooking chocolate; 1/4 cup sugar; 1/4 cup water; 1 1/2 teaspoons instant coffee; 2 teaspoons vanilla; 1 or 10-ounce package piecrust mix (2 sticks); 2 cups whipping cream.

In saucepan combine chocolate, sugar, and instant coffee. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, till smooth. Add vanilla; cook to room temperature. Blend 1/4 cup of the chocolate sauce into piecrust mix; divide the pastry in 6 equal parts. Press each part over bottom of an inverted 9 x 1 1/2-inch round cake pan to within 1/4 inch of edge. Do 10 layers according to the number of pans you have.)

Bake in hot oven (425 deg.) 5 minutes or till done. If necessary, trim layers to even the edges. Cool. Then run the tip of a knife under lid of cake to loosen. Lift off carefully.

Whip cream until it begins to hold soft peaks. Fold in the remaining chocolate sauce. Place 1/2 cup of the pastry, spreading chocolate cream between layers and over top. Chill at least 2 hours or overnight. Trim the stick candy.

Serves 9 to 12.

Daniels—Dalby Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Murray Daniels are pictured above with their attendants following their wedding in Mount Pleasant Rd. Baptist Church, Toronto, on August 17th. The bride is the former Valerie Marilyn Dalby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Dalby, of Fenelon Falls and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray C. Daniels, of Toronto. The groom's grandfather, Dr. Percy B. Loney, performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Ruthanne Daniels, was maid-of-honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Miss Judith James, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Miss Marie Daniels, sister of the bride, of Toronto. Miss Marlene Greedy, of Toronto, was junior bridesmaid. Mr. Brian Ottaway, of Toronto, was best man and the ushers were Donald Mitchell, cousin of the bride, of Whitty and Gordon Rumford, of Toronto.

Something new for Thanksgiving dinner

Year after year, as in the first Thanksgiving feast, the golden browned turkey remains the master of the holiday ceremonies. Though the feast is much the same, there is a difference in the appearance and the eating quality of the turkeys. Today's bird is designed for, and especially grown for, our modern methods of cooking. It is plump and attractive, and tender and juicy for mighty good eating.

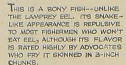

Charts giving the roasting time are merely approximate and tells you when to put the turkey in the oven. The best test for doneness is to pinch the thickest portion of the drumstick while protecting the thumb and forefinger with paper or cloth. When the meat feels very soft the turkey should be done.

For something new serve a cranberry ice with the turkey as a variation on the usual cranberry sauce. Refreshing and colourful cranberry cubes upon whipped mixture into trays and press ice cube drawers down into mixture. Cover trays with aluminum foil and freeze for several hours or until firm. —Martha Logan Food Feature Service.

Early days of "The Academy" recalled with the advent of "Save the Academy"

The advent of the "Save the Academy Theatre Foundation" has stirred memories of the theatre's earlier days in the minds of long-time Lindsay residents. One of them — Ford W. Morley — has the following recollections of its contributions to the town's theatrical entertainment:

Recognized by many as one of the best in the country, the Academy Theatre was at one time owned by the late Alex. J. Fisher, of Dr. John Ross, Kent St., Lindsay.

Early road shows included "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Bonny Brier," "East Lynne" and many others.

A familiar and popular troupe was headed by the famous Mark brothers—Joe, Tom, Alex, and Ernie — and in this connection, it is interesting to note that the late Jim Perrin, who married actress Marie, one of the great lady actresses.

"Guy Rags, minstrels made a very appearance and featured in their production by a street parade with band and members of the troupe in long coats and top hats."

"The Man On The Box" played to a packed house and the low draw card was a former Ojibwa show boy named Meek.

"The late Wilbert McWaters, a Lindsay boy, and Miss Newton, a Lindsay girl, also appeared at the Academy in their own road show."

"Minstrel days in Lindsay dated back to the days when Lindsay Minstrels were in show."

Carnival-cad president tells about convention

A play-cad president put in appearance at this week's meeting of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club. President Herb Hardy showed up wearing a costume of some 500 delegates to the annual Ontario, Quebec and Martinique Kiwanis convention at Niagara Falls at a special session. Delegates and friends at the convention numbered over one thousand.

President Hardy presented a report of the highlights of the convention to the club and remarked that Niagara Falls, the home town of his own honeymoon anniversary, September 25, forty-three years before.

YWA executive installed at September meeting

The September meeting of the Younger Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican Church was opened by a short Devotional Service led by Mrs. T. H. Humphries.

The rector, the Rev. David Lenton, then invited the group to sing into the church and he then installed the new executive for the 1983-84 season. The new executive is as follows: Past President, Mrs. N. M. Rothwell; President, Mrs. Lorne MacCallum; Vice-President, Mrs. T. H. Humphries; Treasurer, Mrs. L. Rance; Recording Sec. Mrs. P. H. Humphries; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. Stanley; Doors Secretary, Mrs. J. Stanley; Doors Secretary, Mrs. J. Stanley; Doors Secretary, Mrs. J. Stanley.

Following the installation of officers, the new president, Mrs. Lorne MacCallum conducted the business meeting.

The Little Helpers Party will be held in October and all baptized members of the parish up to and including the six year olds are invited to attend. Members are asked to bring a toy suitable for Christmas gifts to the October meeting and also to return their United Thank-Offering boxes. It was decided to have a rummage sale in November.

Rev. David Lenton closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments and a social time followed.

Here they are:

HUNTER SAFETY TRAINING

"With the coming of the hunting season this fall, there will again be quite a few disappointed hunters who will wait until the last moment to approach the licence issuer, only to find that they must present some evidence of having previously held a licence, or failing this proof of successful completion of the Hunter Safety Training Course."

"Anyone interested in hunting who has not previously held a hunting licence or is a beginner is required to take and successfully complete the Hunter Safety Training Course. This is a course offered by a group of volunteer instructors in cooperation with the Department of Lands and Forests, and offers each student a basic knowledge of safe and proper gun handling."

"The primary aim is, of course, to reduce the great number of hunting accidents."

"A student upon completion of the course is required to pass a written and an oral examination and to demonstrate in a practical way the safe handling of a firearm in a variety of situations."

"If successful he is then issued a 'blue card' in two parts one of which he may retain and the other to be presented to the licence issuer."

"Persons 1 year and older may apply to receive instruction by simply contacting the Department of Lands and Forests, or the certified instructor in their area."

"The license may only be issued to 15 year old applicants however, upon submission with his card a consent by (a) both parents where he is a minor, and (b) all other cases by his parent or guardian."

"Persons living in the vicinity of the town of Lindsay who wish to be included to get underway shortly."

"If information may be obtained by contacting the department."

GOT A PLACE TO HUNT DEER?

"Dear hunters who have not been fortunate enough to secure a hunting site yet are invited to consider the opportunity being offered by the regulated deer hunting schools at Clyde and Bruton Townships of Haliburton County."

"These schools, which were added to Algonquin Park in the spring of 1961, have proven to be extremely popular and have been taken advantage of the special conditions of the regulated hunt area."

"Clyde and Bruton Townships are in the middle of Ontario's southern deer range, and the deer population is such that the deer hunting season is assured. In 1961 hunter success was 33.7%, but in 1962 this had increased to 35.8%."

"At the same time the numbers of hunters and camp limits increased from 418 hunters and 50 camps in 1961 to 534 hunters and 73 camps in 1962. Incentives are that there will be approximately twenty campsites available for deer hunters looking for a place to hunt. These sites will be offered on a first come, first served basis on Monday, October 7, at 10:30 a.m. (E.D.T.) at the Department of Lands and Forests office in the Provincial Government Building, 322 Kent St. West, Lindsay."

"For the uninitiated we should add that Clyde and Bruton Townships are located in the northern corner of Haliburton County, about 20 miles northeast of Haliburton and 35 miles northwest of Bancroft and 5 miles south of Whitney. The fee for a regulated hunt camp licence is $20.00 and restrictions will be placed on camp size, (like maximum of twelve hunters)."

"Because these two townships are included in Algonquin Provincial Park, special conditions of the hunt, e.g. type of camping equipment, (tent trailers, etc.), mandatory return of hunt information, etc. Special maps showing available camps will be on display at Minden, Haliburton, Goodhurst and Appleby headquarters in the Lindsay Forestry District, Bancroft headquarters (Twined Forest District), and Whitney headquarters (Humber Forest District)."

"As well as at the District office of the Department of Lands and Forests in Lindsay, for the convenience of the prospective hunt camp hunters."

Who will be next warden?

"Who will be the next warden of Victoria County Council?"

"That's the question which is expected to be causing some speculation in the community with the present warden nearing the end of his term."

"Three names are being mentioned in the opening phases of the hunt camp hunters."

"The names being mentioned are: Mr. J. R. Kennedy of Verulam, Reeve Lloyd Ashmore of Emily and George James of the town of Lindsay. Mr. J. R. Kennedy has been on the ballot for two years and was defeated by Mr. J. R. Kennedy in the last election."

"The business period followed. The bales had been packed and shipped. The Secretary, Mr. L. Faux read a list of ar-

Single hospital bill could offset total cost

"We have no unemployed employees on relief here, but lack of provisions for Ontario hospital services to relief recipients is costing the taxpayer thousands of unnecessary dollars," Welfare Officer Harry Pearce made this statement to "The Post" in an interview last week.

Pursuing the subject of hospitalization Mr. Pearce said that at the present time, the committee has suggested this be investigated and reviewed at the county level, which matter would eliminate heavy hospitalization costs to the taxpayer if all recipients can be insured.

"Only one recipient would have to be hospitalized for a few days and the cost would more than pay the necessary yearly insurance premium for all recipients."

"When you take the cost of a hospital bed at the present rates and cost of coverage for the average family for the OHA there is quite a difference."

"There has been considerable discussion on the matter of late and we are hoping to come to some agreement in the near future."

"I am also waiting to discuss with the county clerk and get a yearly report on the cost of recent hospitalizations, for recipients and compare it to the cost of premiums."

"I think the public will be for a shared help without proper advantages."

Lindsay area OAC student Edmonton conference delegates

Edmonton: Bruce Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Lindsay, O.R. No. 3 Lindsay, was the Ontario representative to the 27th Congress of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, Sept. 29 to Oct. 4.

The national congress was held this year at the University of Alberta, in Edmonton. The purpose of the congress is to decide on policy and to legislate upon subjects of mutual interest to Canadian university students. NFUCS is a national student union consisting of over 100,000 members from 39 universities across Canada.

Topics of special interest at the congress this year will be "Biculturalism" concerning the growing feeling of Canadians on the dualism of our society, "Academic Freedom" dealing with the rights of students and professors to thought and action in light of the recent RCMP investigations and the "Canadian Study" a look at the financial need of the Canadian Student for the furtherance of his education.

While attending the conference, Mr. Hutchinson visited the University of Alberta, where he was a student. He was also a member of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, NFUCS.

Mr. Hutchinson has been very active in campus affairs. He is a present member of the Union Council.

Milk price story conveyed wrong impression

Only the distributor received more explanation

Ed. Northey, President of the Lindsay Milk Producers' Association takes exception to the statements made by the distributors regarding the possibility of increases in the price of milk. The statements referred to by Mr. Northey, "this will be the price of milk, the price will be a 10c per milk increase but in May had something to do with the producer. I don't. The increase was solely the result of the distributor and the producer didn't get any of it."

Mr. Northey explained the government's milk price policy. The Ontario Milk Board has nothing to do with the rise in the price of milk. There was a 10c per milk increase with a formula laid down by the Ontario Government from producer to distributor. There was a 10c per milk increase with a formula laid down by Premier Roberts in 1962 holding the formula in force in absence so that the government could not raise the existing formula which was in Lindsay.

Poetically-minded native son pays hometown a visit

A man with a poetic turn of mind who was born in Lindsay and now lives in Kansas City, Missouri, is currently paying his old home town a visit. The man is James C. Fox and many readers will probably recall the verse he has published some months ago expressing his feelings for the place of his birth.

Mr. Fox has lived in Kansas City since going there in 1928 and is now with the Chevrolet Division of the General Motors Corp. at Buffalo, N.Y. A supervisor, he recalls the days when 50 cars an hour used to come off the assembly line. "It couldn't be done now," he says, "because the cars inwards today are much more complicated. They have many parts under the bonnet now which weren't even dreamed of then."

He retired from the job in 1951, 47 years after leaving Lindsay.

Donald Gordon re-appointed CNR president

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—(UPI)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced Friday that Donald Gordon had been re-appointed as Chairman of the Board and President of the Canadian National Railway.

The reappointment of the controversial head of the CNR followed in the heels of a national convention about the future of French-speaking Canadians to top management posts in the railway.

The 61-year-old Gordon has been in the 75-thousand-dollar a year post since 1950. In a letter to Pearson he said he was "anxious to be relieved, when it is possible, of these heavy and varied responsibilities which go beyond the field of management."

However, he said, he was "convinced" with the seeing through to completion of work of reorganizing and strengthening the railway. He expects this work will be finished in a year and a half. At that time he would ask, "In good conscience" to be released from his duties."

Noticed along the way

People shouldn't really jump to conclusions if they happen to look out their window and see the neighbour hammering nails, or even the chisel of the homestead suddenly appears on the scene brandishing a claw hammer and taping along a leg of zinc-coated roofing nails. Chances are they haven't come unstick at all. In fact, they may have quite a lot to be said for it, or should it be the nail?

The trend is likely to snowball and boost the sale of zinc-coated roofing nails no longer appearing in the Independent. The Independent man of a letter which tells of a unique way of overcoming Dutch Elm Disease, killer of this country's state's elms.

Kidney transplant victim dies after surviving for week

London, Oct. 4, (UPI)—A Teeterville, Ontario, tobacco farmer died Friday after surviving for a week on a kidney taken from a dead man.

Officials at St. Joseph's hospital in London, Ontario, said Kenneth Comer, 31, died shortly after taking a "bad turn" this morning.

The kidney was taken from 45-year-old Edmund Matthews of Seaford, Ontario, who died after being hit by a boiler door at a home in the town.

Surgeons said earlier this week that the transplant had my back yard which several years ago shed its leaves in July.

Remembering an old formula written by a doctor in Wisconsin, I drove into the trunk at ground level, about twenty 1/2" zinc-coated roofing nails.

The next year the tree improved greatly, and today there is very little sign of any disease left. Again it is a beautiful shade tree, about two feet thick and sixty years old.

The nails cost ten cents. To cut it nearly one hundred dollars. If others would try this, before the trees are too far gone I believe it would save thousands of fine trees.

W. D. Harrison,
Niagara-on-the-Lake

The writer may have "hit the nail on the head" as far as coming up with a cure for Dutch Elm Disease is concerned... here's hoping!

A good chance of success if Comer's body was able to overcome the body's natural desire to reject foreign matter.

Comer was suffering from Nephritis, inflammation of the kidney, before the operation last Friday, and was in serious condition. His condition improved Monday, but deteriorated as the week progressed.

The only other recorded operation of this kind in Canada was a successful one — was performed on identical twins in Montreal two years ago.

Impressive ceremony marks new minister's induction

An impressive service was well presented by Rev. Frank Swickhammer, of Ottawa. He stated that the church today is a continuation of the ministry of Jesus Christ. He also charged the church as to their duty to be teachers of the things of God; to be conquerors over the powers of the world.

Rev. E. Williams, of Park Street Baptist Church, Perth, Moderator, of the "Presty Valley Association of Baptist Churches" conducted the service.

Rev. S. D. France, of Cobourg led in the opening devotion. Rev. R. A. Magahay, Church clerk, read the statement of the church re the call of Mr. Bowdway and of his excellent qualifications for the ministry. Rev. Mr. McLeod of Whitby offered the prayer of induction.

well presented by Rev. Frank Swickhammer, of Ottawa. He stated that the church today is a continuation of the ministry of Jesus Christ. He also charged the church as to their duty to be teachers of the things of God; to be conquerors over the powers of the world. The only other recorded operation of this kind in Canada was a successful one — was performed on identical twins in Montreal two years ago.

Excellent examples of the work of the artist were shown in the pictures hung on the wall. The works of Sybil Andrews of Vancouver were especially colorful and of humorous exaggeration and dynamic symmetry. Miss Pratt's prints were ethereal and mysterious, and she inherited from her poetfather and literary mother.

The speaker was warmly thanked by Lois Smith, Thanks to the speaker, Prof. W. E. Fletcher, of Ottawa. He stated that the church today is a continuation of the ministry of Jesus Christ. He also charged the church as to their duty to be teachers of the things of God; to be conquerors over the powers of the world.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the church and a pleasant time of happy fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Correction

It is regrettable that in the article in Thursday's "Post" the early history of the Academy Theatre that a former Lindsay actor-Wilber McWaters was mentioned as the "late" Mr. McWaters. A number of former acquaintances and friends will be interested in learning that he is still living and a resident of United States.

Attention has also been called to the fact that Mrs. Gertrude Waite, Victoria Avenue, was a member of the concert committee when the late Mr. Waters and his wife, portrayed theatrical roles while J. Courtice was the tenor soloist and Mrs. Waite (the former Gertrude Baile) was the pianist.

Graphic art combines a number of art forms which have one thing in common, emphasis on drawing," the Lindsay Art Guild was told at the first meeting of the 1963-64 season.

The subject of the lecture was printmaking and the speaker was Miss Claire Pratt of Toronto. The newly elected president, Mrs. D. M. Thomson, was in the chair, and her first official act was to present to retiring president Miss Nellie King on behalf of guide members, a hand-wrought silver brooch.

Miss Pratt, a graduate of the University of Toronto in Printmaking and English, has done post graduate work at Columbia. She studied print-making at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and is a top producer of wood cuts, having exhibited there and in many important Canadian galleries as well.

In outlining the various types of printmaking and the qualities peculiar to each, the speaker quoted drawing as being the "grammar of art". A painter in oil, she stated, can get away with more nonsense than can the maker of a fine art print. Drawing is the basic means of expressing an idea pictorially, used by prehistoric man in his caves.

Prints are the most democratic form of the graphic arts, because of multiple copies. They combine both art and craft, and the process is peaceful and relaxing, a continual and joyful discovery. There are four categories, Relief, in which the parts not to be printed are removed; Intaglio, the reverse of relief, as the incised areas are printed; Lithography, in which the printing is done from a flat ground stone upon which a picture is drawn with a greasy crayon filled with acid; and the fourth method is silk screen or stenciling, in which areas not to be printed are blocked out. As wood cuts are Miss Pratt's special study, she gave detailed description of their development: the joys to be found in woods, their texture and grain. She demonstrated use of knives and rollers, and the fine price paper upon which the prints are pressed, each using a different colour.

Competitions will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with Saturday events consisting of the final world class class with tractors and the inter-school competitions.

Following the close of competition on Friday, an evening horse show will be featured. Throughout the match one of the really big agricultural machinery displays will be seen and in addition, there will be cooking demonstrations, fashion displays, plus fun for the kiddies.

It didn't take "all the king's horses and all the king's men" to lift the dredge "The William Francis" out of the Saugeen River and load it on trucks for the first stage of its trip to Labrador but it did take a lot of man and horsepower.

Sold by his four-year owner Ray Weldon of Weldon Equipment, Lindsay — to the Iron Ore Company of Canada Ltd., several days were required to make the equipment land-borne and the pictures above tell the story of the "big tug".

In the upper photo, the bore of the dredge is maneuvered out land for removal, an operation which requires several hours. In the second picture down, the powerhouse of the dredging equipment has been hauled part way out of the river but was balking at the prospect of becoming a landlubber. A workman is seen lugging a heavy iron which will link the Wilson Welding and Marine's derrick with a king-sized earth-mover (next picture down) in preparation for the supreme effort to land the reluctant dredge. It was not until many hours later that the operation was finally completed and the heavy equipment on its way to Labrador.

Seven county plowmen entering the big one

Seven plowmen from Victoria County will compete in class B will be held on Thursday, October 10, at the World-Canada-International (Ontario) Plowing Match at Caledon this year.

Plowmen from 18 nations are expected to compete in the coveted world trophy or some of the other valuable Ontario prizes.

President of the International Plowing Match is Alvin Mark of Cameron, who has also been a director for many years.

Competing from the area with horses will be Byrnell Wylie of Oakwood and Gerald Bell, of Woodville.

No protest action planned by Lindsay area dealers

Essa dealers in the Lindsay area indicate they are not planning to join in protests against the Imperial Oil Co. Ltd., such as taken by dealers in Sudbury.

Dealers there closed one day this week to protest a reduction in their commission from 6.75 to 6.5 cents.

Lindsay dealers say they have been receiving only 6.5 for some time now but seem quite satisfied in general.

Reeve Frank Brown of Lutservorth is adamantly against the construction of the municipal building for the township and refused to sign any motion concerning the proposed building.

The township councillors had agreed unanimously that a township building was necessary and passed a motion applying to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval of dispensation of the approval of the electors in connection with the building's construction. After the reeve refused to sign the proposed by-law, Councillor Robt. Beehey then signed it on behalf of the Council.

"The reeve strongly voiced his disapproval of the project," said one councillor while another member explained that the reeve wouldn't agree because he didn't believe it would be constructed for anywhere near the $100,000 estimated by an engineer.

The councillor went on to explain that it was proposed to build the offices under the winter works programme which would enable them to claim 75% of the estimated $50,000 labour costs. The remainder of the cost would be materials. Councillors Art Hodgkinson, Robt. Beehey and Secretary Treasurer Jack K. Househalt had visited the Ontario Municipal Board in Toronto earlier in the week to find out the procedure necessary to build township works under the winter works plan.

The councillors claim that the building is necessary to improve township services to ratepayers.

Lindsay Fair men at Simcoe Fair

Lindsay Circuit Exhibition was well represented at Simcoe Fair last week when Dr. A. F. Codlin, John Jenkins and Newton Wilson took part in the event. They were accompanied by Reginald Cross, also of Lindsay.

Located in the heart of the tobacco growing belt, tobacco exhibits filled a whole building at the show. A five-day event, it features programs for school students and 4-H clubs. It was estimated that 6,000 boys and girls took advantage of free transportation to attend the fair.

Failed to give employee book, fined $50 here

Two Unemployment Insurance Commission officers and one lawyer were on hand to give and question evidence given against a bookkeeping operator in Lindsay court Friday.

The resort operator was charged with failing to supply an unemployment book to an employee, and failing to mail other employment books into the commission.

Albert Bach, who told the court he had been operating the Fiesta Villa for ten years, was fined $50 and costs on both charges, the magistrate showing leniency to a first offender.

Mr. Bach said that he had been working short-staffed when the incident occurred, which had been an oversight on his part. One of the officers told of checking the account books during the summer and finding no book had been issued to one of the employees.

He said that the employees have been delivered to the Commission, were still in the accused's possession.

Rules regarding the Unemployment Act were sent regularly to all employers, said the witness.

Ushered in on fiery note

Fire Prevention Week gets hot reception

"Fire Prevention Week" in Lindsay was ushered in on a fiery note.

Fire completely gutted hot house occupied by Fred McCabe at the foot of Ridout St. early Saturday. It was feared for awhile that Mr. McCabe might have been trapped in the burning house but he was later located standing near the building.

The fire, which caused damage of about $400 to the property was first noticed by two women returning from the theatre.

Later the same day, firemen were called to the home of Roy Vickery on Queen St. where a tool shed had taken fire. Also to Mary and Lindsay Street where a car belonging to Bertram Eyles of Cameron was on fire.

Damage to the tool shed was about $100 and no injuries, as the car reports the fire chief.

On Sunday, an alarm brought them out to 29 Pottinger St. where a car fire which was extinguished before they arrived.

Tells naturalists of friendship with Seton

CBC nature lecturer, Miller Stewart spoke on his personal friendship with nature author Ernest Thompson Seton at the first indoor meeting of the Lindsay and Area Naturalists Club on Monday.

Mr. Stewart's topic was "The Victoria County Days of Ernest Thompson Seton" and flavoured his talk with personal reminiscences of the great Lindsay author-naturalist.

About 50 persons were present at the meeting and a number of new birds in the area and they were asked to take special note of any Hawk Owl seen in the Lindsay area. Quite a number of birds rarely seen, season.

Councillor makes a discovery

Objects to take-over for park, committee to study board's plans

Councillor J. Hutton learned for the first time since his appointment to Lindsay's city council, that the town had full control of all park land at present under Parks Board jurisdiction and could appropriate such lands at anytime. He learned this Monday night while objecting in council to the board's request to take over the existing Lindsay Aquatic Camp site — part of the 16-acre tract of land recently purchased by the town from Crown Assets Corporation.

As a result of Mr. Hutton's objections, a committee was named to meet with the board to tour the parks and get a first-hand look at their plans for future development. The Parks Board had asked for the 16-acre section to develop for park purposes but some of the councillors felt there were sufficient areas allotted for such purposes and that anything additional would bring requests for increased over the existing Lindsay Aquatic Camp site.

Mr. Hutton questioned the feasibility of the request. "I won't support it," he said, "I feel there is sufficient park area now and there may come a time when it will be required for industrial purposes."

Foundation to guarantee expenses

Would deed Academy to Lindsay but seek tax exemption agreement

The Academy Theatre Foundation has the blessing of Lindsay's city council and those involved in the move to take over the theatre and renovate it have received high praise from the members.

Mayor Jos. Holton told council this week that the foundation would like to deed the theatre to the town when it is purchased with the understanding that an agreement would be entered into between the two parties, whereby the foundation would be responsible for all expenses, including maintenance and heating and the building would be taxed.

A committee was named to study the agreement and submit their findings to the October 21st council meeting.

A wonderful thing for the town, and all the principals are to be congratulated, commented Councillor J. Ekins.

Mr. Councillor Jos. Hutton said the council knew all the details regarding the matter and should not wait but clinch the deal "here and now."

The matter was appointed to study the agreement and submit their findings to the October 21st council meeting.

Legion team wins championship

Omanee (PNS) — The Legion Juvenile baseball team managed by Max Free won the championship of the village league 9-2 over the Lions team.

Four teams made up the league — Legion Firemen and two Lions teams. Some 45 boys participated in the summer and autumn progresses. It is hoped to be able to field a good ball team from the best of these in the future.

Glema Mae Hall wed in Woodville United Church

Woodville United Church was decorated with baskets of red and white gladioli and autumn flowers when Glema Mae Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall of Woodville, was united in marriage to Raymond Douglas Metherell, son of Mrs. F. Metherell, of Lorneville.

Rev. E. A. Martineau, pastor of the United Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a street-length gown of white lace over white satin and her shoulder length veil was held in place with a crown of pearls and sequins. She wore the groom's gift, a pearl drop necklace and carried a white ribbon with a red flower, fern and streamers of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Jean Hall was her sister's bridesmaid and was wearing a street-length gown of red silk organza over taffeta with lace collar and white capulet and accessories.

She wore the bride's gift, a black alaskan diamond neck lace and carried a shower bouquet of red and white flowers with white satin streamers.

Mr. Delmar Drew, friend of the groom, was best man.

The reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a brown figured dress with beige accessories and a corsage of gold flowers. Assisting was the groom's mother in a turquoise figured dress with matching turquoise coat and white accessories and a corsage of gold flowers.

Following the reception 50 guests sat down to a delicious wedding dinner served by group four of the United Church Women's Federation of Woodville Church.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a white suit with red accessories.

Following a brief trip to the honeymoon, took up residence in Lorneville.

Guests were present at the wedding from Woodville, Toronto, Schomberg, Argyle, Burlington, Galt, Lindsay and Lorneville.

"This way, the Parks Board has full control and I remember correctly, we were assured by the mayor at the time of purchasing the property that the land would be kept for future industrial expansion," he said.

The mayor assured him that the town could at anytime take over the properties.

"Then the board must have been doing a good job as I have never known of this regulation," commented Mr. Hutton.

"I will accept that as a complement," smilingly remarked former Parks Board Chairman Carl Brown.

Must be more night accidents before lighting entertained

There will have to be more night accidents at the junction of Highways 7B and 35 (Lindsay's western limits) before the Department of Highways will consider lighting the intersection, Lindsay Council has advised.

In a letter from the department to the council, the department from the council to install lighting, it was stated that there must be a record of at least three night accidents before consideration would be given the matter.

Suggest recreation commission pare its budget next year

Members of Lindsay council have indicated they feel there should be a reduction in the recreation Centre's budget for the year 1964 through more active use of the new facilities, thereby creating additional income for the recreation commission.

It was recommended that a letter be written to the commission requesting them to review the possibility of decreasing their year end budget through more extensive use of the facilities now available.

It also recommended that since recreation facilities are available to all residents of Victoria County, recreation representatives should appear at the November session of the Victoria County Council to request assistance towards recently completed renovatory and also to explain their facilities more fully.

Councillor Russell Taylor was asked to contact Recreation Chairman Herb Simpson to make arrangements for the

"How many accidents must we have before they consider it dangerous?" asked one councillor.

"There has already been one accident," said the councillor. "I don't think it's dangerous," queried another.

"Apparently not," remarked another councillor. "As it happened during the daytime."

TIPS FROM A READER ON CHRONIC ANXIETY
It is one thing to sit behind a desk and let a chronically anxious patient to keep her chin up and everything will be all right in time. It is quite another to be a sufferer you and give some tips on overcoming chronic anxiety. Perhaps this letter will help some sorely troubled souls.

Dear Dr. Steiner: Three years ago I was nervous and nervous followed by chronic anxiety. I found several things that did wonders for me. First of all reading of other similar cases in your column gave me courage because I realized I wasn't alone in the fight.

I started out getting lots of rest always taking a nap in the afternoon. I began exercising with a TV program. There were times I was so scared I couldn't even get out of a chair. With a little prayer and these exercises I began to find a little confidence.

I have always hated to cook, but I began to study nutrition to get my mind off myself. It is fun. I now eat nicely balanced meals and this has helped.

too. I used to weigh 104 pounds and am now down to 136. I discovered that colas and coffee irritated my nerves and I cut them out. To get going in the morning I started taking a shower and rinsing off in cool water; it makes one feel wonderful.

I used to take several nerve pills during the day but I have found that a brisk walk in the evening helps take away the need for so many. I still have a few hills to climb, but I have faith that these can be overcome too. As other people can conquer them, if they keep trying and have faith.

RAYNAUD'S DISEASE

Dear Dr. Steiner: In cold weather my hands get dead white; then when they warm up they get very red and uncomfortable. I feel much more normal in the summer. What could this be? Mrs. Y.

Comment: There's a condition we call Raynaud's disease in which the symptoms are similar to yours. But this is only a guess on my part. Better see a doctor for a complete evaluation. He may find that your trouble is due to inflammation with major hypothermia of the nerves in the cervical (neck) region, or due to what we call Scalenus Anticus Syndrome, in which a muscle constricts a nerve in the shoulder and causes symptoms in the hand.

If it is Raynaud's, there's some trouble in the small arteries. Some overactivity in the sympathetic nervous system causes these arteries to contract abnormally and the hands get white and cold and numb. The condition occurs mostly in women (90 per cent as compared with men). Although it is not a life-threatening disease it produces much discomfort in cold weather.

Patients with the condition should protect their extremities with specially lined gloves and overshoes. If it is pronounced, they are better off moving to a sunny and warm climate. In some cases female hormones help; in others, alcohol. For a time, at least, the use of vasodilator drugs to open the small blood vessels works well.

Patients are better off without tobacco as they are in

Oakwood UCW meets

Oakwood (PNS) — The general meeting of the U.C.W. was held in the schoolroom of the church with the East Oakwood Four Square in charge of the worship. The theme of this was "The Bible Speaks," and was given in the form of a skit with Mrs. Risinger as Anna, Mrs. A. J. Tipling as Sue, Mrs. W. Webster as Mary, and Mrs. Farr as Joan. More Bible reading every day, and just "Hit and Miss," and more of the Bible in the general meetings was stressed. Mrs. A. J. Tipling was the leader and read a poem "My Precious Bible."

In reporting their work done it was stated they had three affidavits completed which had been made by Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Tipling, and these with other articles for the Autumnale were put forwarded to Mrs. Tong in Hong Kong. Also during the summer, the ladies had bought bulbs and had sold flowers. This talent money was used to make Mrs. Farr a life member of their unit. In making this presentation, Mrs. Risinger spoke of the willing helpfulness Mrs. Farr had shown in the unit, especially in the free use of her car, as she brought members of the unit to the various meetings. Taken completely by surprise, Mrs. Farr thanked the ladies.

Mrs. Tipling planned the Life Membership pin on Mrs. Farr. Flowers were sold by Mrs. Risinger and Mrs. Webster. Mrs. Tipling and Mrs. Leonard Webster.

After the business part of the meeting, which consisted in planning meals for the Fair Board, and any others who wished to come, and also the book sale for the Oakwood Fair, for which the ladies have a concession. The South group served a cup of tea and a social time was enjoyed by all.

CAUSES OF NEURITIS ARE MANY AND VARIED It is not unusual for people who have neuritic pains in their legs, or "strained" a nerve by physical exertion. Neuritis, like many other terms in medicine, often becomes what I call a waste-basket term: all kinds of aches and pains are lumped into it.

For example, consider Mrs. D. who has been having pains in her leg. She wonders what caused it.

Q. I've had this pain down my legs for months. Could it have caught cold in the nerve?

A. First, it's important to make the diagnosis of neuritis. Mrs. D. But let's suppose it's really neuritis. There are many more causes of neuritis than I have time to list.

Q. What might be the cause in my case?

A. Frankly, I don't know. Could that have anything to do with it? Do you think we have examples, which will give you a chance? We have been helped an idea of the differential.

Q. I've had this pain down my legs for months. Could it have caught cold in the nerve?

by a systemic infection due to Mrs. X.

Q. You have seen a virus, chronic trouble in the teeth, otitis or sinusitis, or to typhoid, diphtheria or malaria.

Often we find it in people who are chronic alcoholics or chronic arsenic or lead poisoning.

I have seen neuritis in people who have diabetes gone, who have leukemia. Some who have a vitamin B complex may also suffer the discomforts of neuritis (tingling, pain, burning, etc.). To overcome neuritis, not only the diagnosis but its actual cause is important.

WANT TO HAVE A BABY

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: We have been married for seven years and we have no children. We haven't been to a doctor about it. I weigh 200 pounds and my husband weighs 112.

I've heard the trouble may be that I'm overweight. Besides my husband drinks beer. Could that have anything to do with it? Do you think we have examples, which will give you a chance? We have been helped an idea of the differential.

A. First, it's important to make the diagnosis of neuritis. Mrs. D. But let's suppose it's really neuritis. There are many more causes of neuritis than I have time to list.

Fenelon Falls

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Towmley, Mrs. Helen Sargeant and Miss Andrea Sargeant spent a few days last week in Pittsburg, Penn. where Miss Sargeant remained to attend the School of Design. Last year she took a course at a similar school in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken McArthur have returned from a holiday in Western Canada.

Mrs. Dundas left last week for Toronto where she will spend the winter months.

Eleven ladies from Fenelon Falls were in Woodville to attend the 80th birthday party of the W.M.S. of Knox Presbyterian Church, Mrs. A. S. Cur, Council president of Toronto was the guest speaker and almost 200 ladies were present to renew acquaintances with former friends and enjoy the gracious hospitality of the Woodville ladies.

a man reaches his 60's, is it common for his sleep to be disturbed by having to get up once or twice a night to urinate? Mr. B.

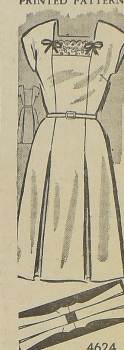

Comment: It's common. In addition to the kidneys, the doctor checks on the prostate gland.

SOAP WITH ART

The newest fad bubbling on the front pages of soap with art. Housewives, career women and teenagers are joining in turning cakes of soap into decorative objects either for use in the house, for gifts, for parties or for sale, and for sale for the benefit of assorted community projects.

Just about any household odd end can be used for decorating — beads, felt, buttons, sequins, net, ribbon and decoupage. One manufacturer warns that art objects should be turned to art objects sold by the thousands.

In Chicago, a teacher is helping her students carve soap fish to be used as gifts for parents and teachers for Christmas. A Vermont housewife sells cakes from antique gift cards and pasters. The soap and attaches a miniature letter to the person to whom she's sending the gift. In the hundreds Washington Women's Guild members will have their soap bars sold in a hospital's gift shop. They will purchase new equipment for the hospital with the money Housewives in Detroit and St. Louis create colorful soap fish and sell them at church bazaars. And in Wisconsin, a group of women bought extra equipment for the school lunchroom with the money made on decorative soap fish.

Floral Printed

Do you have a bathroom multi-colored, bathroom wallpaper? One manufacturer says it will start distributing a matching floral-printed bath tissue.

A cup of unsifted flour either cake or all-purpose weighs more than a cup of sifted flour. —UPI Strip a salad Gelatin layers make the design. Be sure each layer in the pan or mold is chilled until almost firm before you add the next. And, if the gelatin mixture that you pour over a firm layer chilled until partially set. You'll have nice definite strips. You may find the layers to your fancy.

For elegant French green beans. Simple with a bean salad. Strip off ends beans — scissors do best. Hold beans by the string. Pull bean through slicer. No tool! Hold bean on cutting board; with knife, pin diagonally end to end. Add pinch of rosemary to cooking water, or serve with butter-toasted almonds.

HOUSEHOLD SCRABPOO

By Robert Lee Auto Upholstery
A splendid cleanser for the upholstery and inside coverings of your car can be mixed with ammonia and detergent, mixing up into a suds and using just the suds with a clean cloth or brush. Then rub over the cleaned portion with a cloth wrung out of clear water.

Emergency Adhesive
For a temporary adhesive or to mend something that will just be kept around and never used or put in hot water — try transparent fingernail polish. It works on dishes, as well as glassware.

Lowest bid rejected

Lindsay Board of Works rejected the low bid for their gravel requirements for winter use on the roads, on the grounds that the material was not suitable for the purpose required.

Jenkins Construction and Gravel Ltd. of Lindsay, were considered the lowest bidder for suitable material and received the contract. "Quality is very important," said Steve Fount Thompson's Crushed Stone of Beaverton had submitted the rejected low bids for pit run gravel, crushed gravel and sand. High bidder was Keene Construction of Peterborough.

OPS CATCHING UP

Council decided to appeal new taxes tax assessments from Ops Township for land at the airport and at the lagoons. Town Clerk B. Bates was instructed to enter an appeal.

"The Township of Ops is catching up with us over our fire truck charges," laughed Finance Chairman Taylor.

TOUR PARK SITES

Members of council toured and inspected the parklands in the town this afternoon to judge the need if any for additional parklands at the Lindsay Auto Camp site. The parks board had asked for a 16-acre section to develop for park purposes, but some town councillors thought there were sufficient areas allotted for such purposes.

The complainant in the case had been standing on the street while making his paper route rounds when the accused approached with another friend, pointed the weapon at him and fired, the pellet striking him just below the eye. He said he had gone home crying to his parents, showing them the mark the pellet had made.

The accused said he thought the complainant was fooling. Defense Counsel J. McQuarrie said he felt it was more a case of foolishness than neglect and asked suspended sentence.

Says watching the World Series with mercury over 90 too much Watching a baseball game with mercury hovering between 90 and 103 degrees Celsius, said Percy Skitch who, with his wife and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Skitch at Los Angeles, California, although frequent flyers at Daytona Beach, but were too far away from Lindsay, California to make a call there. There is a town in California called "Hell," said Mr. Skitch, and some people were startled when the Los Angeles news paper carried a headline saying that it was warmer in L.A. than in Hell.

Vexing decorative lighting aired briefly in committee

The vexing question of "$1,500 a year is a lot" (per annual maintenance) he said. "Next year's council will have to make a decision on the matter. Unfortunately, bad advice was given at the time they were installed."

Mayor Joseph Holton said today that Lindsay's York Street parking lot project rapidly shaping up and should be completed in a few days. In the meantime, the lot is already in use and parking is free pending the surfacing of it and installation of parking meters.

In reply to a question from Mayor Holton at Tuesday night's committee meeting of council, Engineer Eric Booth said that the lot would be surfaced with crushed rock within ten days. Metering is to follow later.

Thorough bull prize-winner for its owner

A Hereford herd sire bull "WHIR" Vern Stars* belonging to Thorah Township farmers Peter Smith and Sons has collected many honours. The bull won championship awards at Beaverton, Bayskayen and Markham fairs. The farm has also secured other awards at these fairs.

At the Robokeyn Region, a Hereford Show, their bull won first place in his class, also senior champion bull and grand champion bull. Peter Smith and Sons also won first in breeder's herd second for junior heifer calf, second in get of sire, second with three calves bred and owned by the exhibitor, third with two bulls any age, and a special prize for the best beef bull on the grounds.

At Markham fair, farmer Smith obtained a first in the senior bull class and champion bull, first and second in junior female calves, first and second in junior bull calves, second breeder's herd and second in the get of sire class.

Pellet strikes lad in chest, court convicts

A 16-year-old boy known youth will probably think twice before pointing any kind of a firearm at anyone in the future. He was given a year's suspended sentence and a $40 in costs when the court found him guilty of pointing a firearm (pellet gun) at Lindsay today.

The complainant in the case had been standing on the street while making his paper route rounds when the accused approached with another friend, pointed the weapon at him and fired, the pellet striking him just below the eye. He said he had gone home crying to his parents, showing them the mark the pellet had made.

The accused said he thought the complainant was fooling. Defense Counsel J. McQuarrie said he felt it was more a case of foolishness than neglect and asked suspended sentence.

Minden

Mrs. K. Daniels had the misfortune to fall and break her arm and will be at her home for some weeks yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Hie, Geraldine and Sharon of Stouffville were weekend guests with the James Hies.

Mrs. James Fairfield left to visit the Bond family in Ottawa.

Mr. Fred Stamp is a patient at present in Ross Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nastall have returned following a weeks holiday in Detroit and with friends.

Mrs. Don Shaw and family have been visiting her sister in Oshawa.

Expected To Land

The U.S. Air Force says a jet bomber trying for a speed and distance record is expected to land at Newbury, England, this morning on a flight from Okinawa. The B-58 "Hustler" is taking the Arctic route to England. It has been refueled five times in the air by jet tankers. If all goes well, the air force says, it will be the longest supersonic flight in history.

Old, Young

Old and young responded today to Algerian President Ben Bella's appeal for volunteers to push back Moroccan forces seeking control of outposts along their frontier. As the recruits signed up for military duty, Ben Bella sent two advisors back to the Moroccan capital at Marrakech for negotiations with Khat Hassan.

Return To Normal

Traffic on the Welland Canal has returned to normal after police dismissed a bomb threat as a hoax. The water way was closed for two hours last night when police at Thorold, Ontario, received a telephone tip from a man that a bomb had been placed in a lock and would explode shortly. The canal was thoroughly searched but no bomb was found.

"Moving Toward"

U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart says he believes his country and Canada are "moving toward" the polling of their energy resources to cut power costs in both countries. U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart said a Washington news conference yesterday there is "quite a bit" of support in his government for such action. His remarks apparently tie in with earlier suggestions by Trade Minister Sharp for joint Canadian-American studies of energy resources on the continent.

Joint Exercises

British and American fighter planes reportedly will begin joint exercises with the Indian air force later this month. The move stems from an allied agreement to help strengthen Indian air defenses against possible aggression by Red China.

French Industries

Quebec hopes to see French industries as well as French investments established in the "birthplace of French culture in North America." Germain Levesque, Provincial Minister of Trade and Commerce, told this recently for representatives of the Paris Chamber of Commerce and Industries yesterday in Quebec City.

Woodville

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Imrie, Douglas, Diane and Nora, visited in Sundridge with relatives.

Mrs. Lloyd Pethick who has spent the past four months at Port Stanton on Sparrow Lake has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Goad and family, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Goad and family, Sudbury and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Goad and family of Oshawa, spent the holiday with their mother and aunt, Mrs. Howard Goad and Mrs. Art Goad.

The whole community was shocked and saddened when it learned of the sudden death at the wheel of his car of Mr. Lockie McInnis a much respected and life-long resident of the district. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. McInnis and family at this time by the whole community.

Mr. David Faed of the University of Toronto and Mrs. Cecil Boye, of Ingersoll, visited Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Faed.

Dr. and Mrs. Andrews of Oshawa visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Austin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. T.G. Morrow and Mr. Russell Veale were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morrow and family at their home.

May R. Shaver

After a brief illness May Roy Shaver, daughter of Green Gahler, Norland, passed away October 8th.

Born at Claremont, she is survived by her husband Stanley Shaver, a daughter, Mrs. Hans W. Yetter (Sister of Agincourt); granddaughter Vicki, a brother Robert of St. Thomas; her brother Donald S. Rawson of Saskatchewan predeceased her in 1961.

Mrs. Shaver was a well-known and well liked person having taught for some 30 years and in late years at Lutterworth and Minden.

Service was from John Welch Funeral Home with Rev. Staples conducting the service with interment in Pleasant Point Cemetery, Mariposa Township.

Pallbearers were Jerome Roy, Arthur Hodgkinson, Leslie Laidlaw, John Housell, George Prentice and John Ferguson.

Floral tributes were numerous and from many places giving not to a life of dedication to education.

summer home, Birch Point on of Swanses, visited their parents, Dr. E.J. and Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Lloyd Pethick.

"The Maidens' Viewpoint"

Want to get yourself a pheasant? If you do... you never had a better chance than now.

Starting today, (October 16th) and going through until November the 30th there is an organized pheasant shoot taking place at Sibbald Point Provincial Park, five miles east of Sault Ste. Marie on Highway 48. Turn north on the Highway side road, go up about half a mile and you're at the entrance to the Park.

The shoot is restricted to 25 hunters per day, on a first come, first served basis. Bring five bucks with you and you're in business — if you get there early enough. For this, you are allowed three birds, per day, any sex. The shoot is from Monday through to Saturday — no action on Sundays.

So, if you want a good day's controlled shooting, grab your guns and five bucks and head for the park.

A drive through the park is well worth the trip even if you have no intention of hunting. This park, located on the south end of Lake Simcoe is the last word for campers and picnickers. The double entrance is beautifully landscaped with huge stone gate entrances. Most of the roads throughout the park are fully paved — those in the outlying sections are well-gravelled.

The public has the use of 495 acres of well-conditioned park land in which to camp, etc. There are lots of camp spaces — trailer sites and grade "A" drinking water available.

For the public visitors there are also flush toilets, fireplaces, already split and piled and picnic tables. Home was never like this. What you can't see is trailer service, trailer-electric outlets or boats for hire.

There is also available launch ramps, swimming and fishing. The park is also patrolled and supervised. Further facilities include museum, picnic shelter (if it rains) booth and store — change houses for the swimmers-boats excursions can be arranged and Indian handicrafts are on sale. The Indian House is interesting and educational.

A visit to this park is quite an eye-opener.

D.R. Cutts, superintendent of the Park site may well be proud of the work he and his staff are doing. There are five permanent staff supervisors and over double this during the camping season.

Driving through the park I met two of the supervisors — Eric Bell and Delbert Sedore. Lindsay people will remember Mr. Bell — he's on old Lindsay boy and he was telling me that quite a few people from "over East" as they refer to our area: drop in occasionally but not as many as you would expect. There's no excuse now — you know where the place is — just a short drive from Lindsay — and I'm sure that when you visit the park you'll be as impressed with it as I was last week.

If you aren't the picnic type — you want the drive and the enjoyment of the trip but not the fuss of picnicking then have no fear — one of the newest and most efficient eating places is almost on the doorstep of the Park — "The Grant Restaurant". Located on Highway 48 and the Highway side road they are well-equipped to serve all types of meals and lunches, etc.

Opened last June, this restaurant operated by John and Clara Pirooski, has proved to be highly successful. Visitors from the Sharon and Newmarket district will remember the Pirooskis. They used to operate the "topps" on the highway near Sharon.

Mr. Pirooski has had quite a fight on his hands since he first started going blind in 1957. Totally blind in 1959 he was forced to sell his business and go into hospital. In 1960 a major operation restored his eyesight. After resting for about a year John became restless and decided on the location he has now to open a new business.

So, you have no problem — you can have the trip and with no fuss or bother, the Grant will look after the inner man.

Now that he has started we may as well make the rest of this week's column a few tips on trips and eating.

Right close to home — Bobcaygeon to be exact — there is a restaurant that offers you a wide selection of exotic oriental food. Specialists in Chinese food, sea food, steaks, and chops, the MING restaurant is only as far away as your telephone. A call to them will make available take-out orders of Chinese foods in two, three, four and five portion dinners.

The Ming Restaurant, operated by Edmund and Susan Mah, is tastefully decorated in oriental style and is a comfortable and relaxing atmosphere in which to enjoy a snack of a full-course meal. The next time you are through Bobcaygeon drop into the "MING" and enjoy their excellent coffee and fortune cookies.

In this day and age of complexities we are often apt to overlook the obvious. This doesn't have too much to do with travelling. I just happened to think of it.)

One of the Big Town papers was trying to get a picture of a correspondent in a recent divorce action. The proceedings involved several prominent people and the young lady who was correspondent in the case was a beautiful and talented young actress. When the story came out there were no pictures of her — the editor wanted to know why not.

"We can't get anywhere," came their reply "our best men are out now." "Get more men on the job!" ordered the editor.

Later on in the day the editor inquired again, "have you tried the servants?" "We have offered them money — no luck — we've tried the local photographers but are unable to come up with anything."

The editor searched around until he spotted a young couple reported they were breaking in — he had only been around for about two weeks.

"Young man," he asked, "would you go out and get a picture of me?"

In about an hour or so the young man was back with the picture.

The editor called a meeting of the staff and when they were all assembled he turned to the young reporter and said "Would you mind telling us how you managed to get this photograph?"

"I went to the address you gave me, rang the doorbell and when the lady answered the door I asked her for the picture — and, she gave it to me".

Back to the travelling. Last weekend we took a trip through Barrie, Midland, Port McNicholl and up to Huntsville and back to Midland — I'll have to admit that their colour and scenery is almost on a par with what he have in the Highlands of Haliburton.

The trip through Port McNicholl and Victoria Harbour was pleasant but both places could use a suggested sign on their road system — "Men should be at work."

The highlight of the trip came on Highway 103 from Wabushane to Poots Bay — this newly completed Highway is through the best of scenic country, lakes, rocks cuts and perfect tree colouring.

A rock nearly a quarter of a mile long with sides of up to fifty feet in height is quite impressive. The rock face has been brushed and raked clean and smooth and gives the impression of being sawn from the solid rock. You have to see it to appreciate it.

Eating is always a problem on these jaunts through the country. Should you ever decide to take this worthwhile trip let me recommend the "Chatterbox" restaurant just outside of Wabushane.

The food is good — well-cooked and served perfectly. They have quite an efficient staff in the Chatterbox. From the time your order is taken until the time it is served piping hot there is no fuss or bother and the waiting time is kept to the minimum.

One waitress was looking after approximately 35 people while we were there and she did it without any noticeable strain.

The quiet efficient manner in which this establishment is run is one of the main reasons that eating there was such a pleasure.

Our circulation manager gets the odd letter or two — this one came from a customer — "When I subscribed a year ago you told me if I wasn't satisfied you'd give me my money back. Well, I would like to have it back. However, to save you the trouble please apply it on my next year's subscription."

Well, it takes all kinds.

Fenwick has been bothering me for some time now to let him take over writing this for a week or two. The Finch has been down through the cities of Cooperstown and Williamsburg, Va., and I know he wants to tell you about it. So, for the next week or two Fenwick will be in this spot.

Elizabeth Ann Fisher

Elizabeth Ann (Wilson) Fisher, of Lindsay, passed away at the Waterman Private Hospital on October 10, 1969, following an illness of eight years. The deceased was in her 90th year.

Born in Verulam Township, she had resided in this district for the past 43 years and was the daughter of the late Martha and Thomas Heron. Before moving to this district she had resided in Fenelon Township. The deceased was a member of the United Church.

Two daughters, Martha Irene Coulson, of Lindsay and Katie E. Wilson, of Toronto and one son, Newton G. Wilson, survive.

The funeral was held on October 12th from the Mackey Funeral Home, Lindsay, at 2 p.m. and interment was in Fenelon Falls cemetery. Rev. B. Garrett, of Green Street United Church, Lindsay, conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Frank and William Coulson, Clara Wilson, Arthur Smith, Thomas Heron and Allan Pinney.

$186.00 reported realized from September bake sale

The October meeting of St. Mary's Parish Council was held in St. Mary's auditorium. The membership convention reported six new members the total now standing at 410 members.

A meeting of the Parish Council Region No. 3 will be held at Kirkfield, at which yearly reports will be read. Father P. J. Byrne will speak on the Rejuvenation of the Catholic Way of Life. A very successful bake sale, convened by Miss Mae Murtha, was held at which $186.00 was realized, including a draw for a turkey won by Mrs. L. Cain.

Former Little Britain man ordained at Lyndoch Church

Melbourne F. White

Melbourne Francis White, a teacher at Toronto Central Technical School for 31 years until retirement in 1961, died suddenly in Toronto General Hospital on September 28th, 1963. Since retiring, he had been living in Arizona and at his summer home in Bala, where he had been the Muskoka representative of a Toronto real estate company.

He was educated at a rural public school in Cartwright Township, Durham County and at Port Perry High School. In 1917-18 he attended the Faculty of Education at Queen's University, following which he was a public school principal at Belleville, and assistant principal at Memorial Public School in Hamilton.

After a few years as principal of continuation schools at Grand Valley and Tottenham, he graduated in Arts at Queen's and in 1923 he joined the staff of Exbridge High School. In 1930 he was appointed to the Toronto Central Technical School where he taught until retirement.

He was a Past-Master at Zeevelde Lodge No. 220 (Exbridge) and a member of High Park United Church. In 1923 he married Verna Wallace of Greenbank, Ontario. A son, Joseph F. White B.Sc. is an engineer and a member of Toronto University School of Engineering and is now President of Electronics Design Associates, Toronto.

Besides his wife and son, he is survived by a brother, Dr. Lloyd White, a former teacher and member of the Toronto Board of Education, a sister, Mrs. Olive Beacock and another brother Ernest White, both of Port Perry.

He was pre-deceased by his parents, the late Francis White and Selma Mills, a brother, Earl and a sister Grace, all in the Beas-1943. During the failure of cock farm at Nestleton.

Little Britain (P38)

Thirty-nine members, including both Pastors and "laymen", from 17 Evangelical Baptist churches, sat in council at the invitation of Lyndoch Baptist Ministry of Glen R. Goodhand. Pastor Goodhand gave a three-fold statement of his "Conversion to Christ", "Call to the Ministry", and "Doctrinal Beliefs". The statement was unanimously endorsed by the council and a motion was passed to recommend that the Lyndoch Baptist Church proceed with the ordination followed the same evening.

Glen spent his first 20 years in the Little Britain area attending the High School here, playing both hockey and baseball for the village teams, including being a member of the Championship Juvenile team of 1952. He graduated from Central Baptist Seminary in Toronto in 1960. Following two and a half years of pastoring in Newmarket, he accepted the call to become pastor of the Lyndoch Church, near Pembroke, Ont., where the ordination took place.

The Irish potato crop in the 1840's, his paternal grandparents, Thomas and Elizabeth White, crossed the Atlantic from County Cavan to New York on one of the old-time sailing vessels. After learning the milling business there, Thomas White brought his wife and son, James, overland to Millbrook where he bought a grist-mill. When his family became larger he turned to farming near Blackstock.

The Rev. C. G. Ward of High Park United Church conducted the service, and interment was in Resthaven Memorial Gardens on Tuesday, October 14th.

Mrs. Francis White and son Ernest lived in Nestleton for several years. Mrs. Harold Beacock moved to Port Perry on the death of her husband in 1956. Their son, Allen and Earl and a sister Grace, all in the Beas-1943.

There Were Fireworks on Campus That Night

IT HAD BEEN YEARS SINCE GENEVA PRINCE defeated Columbus Day football game. Those boys at N.H.S. are generally tough. So there really were fireworks on Geneva PRINCE's Commons in the evening, as this drawing of the climax of the match authorities overlooked the fact that the undergraduate shouldn't have used fireworks in violation of school ordinance, and the town fathers, too, forgive the breach of the law.

The drawing was made from a photograph taken by one of the students. When the photographer studied his shot afterwards, he exclaimed to his roommate, "Boy! What a coincidence! If you scrutinize the scene closely, you'll see that the seven bursts shown, two are duplicates. That is the way, two of the explosions exhibit the identical same flaming design.

How quickly can you spot which two those are? Afterwards, it can be amusing to embellish the scene—perhaps with distinctive colors.

Step above the Law?

A THEFT is 27 steps ahead of an officer, and a burglar is 27 steps ahead of a burglar. But one of the officer's steps are equal to 1/2 of the thief's. How many steps will the officer have to catch him?

ITS IN THE CARDS Cryptarithmic

IN THE set-up, write the numbers and party names as they are served at your next card party. Some of the male guests may like to try to guess or figure out the answers to the following:

How many cards will be dealt from a shuffled deck of cards before a player can be sure of holding (a) royal flush? (b) a full house?

The answers are:

(a) A royal flush consists of the ten, Jack, Queen, King and Ace of one suit. Therefore, to be sure that you hold a royal flush you need to be dealt at least 17 cards since the deck might be one of the required cards from each suit.

(b) To be sure of holding a full house, which is three of one kind and two of another, you would need to be dealt 7 cards since the first 3 cards could be three of each kind and the fourth card the one needed to make four of one kind and the fifth card the one needed to make three of another.

(c) To be sure of holding a full house, which is three of one kind and two of another, you would need to be dealt 7 cards since the first 3 cards could be three of each kind and the fourth card the one needed to make four of one kind and the fifth card the one needed to make three of another.

made at October meeting

The October meeting of Blythe Chapter, I.O.D.E. opened with prayer at the 9:10 motel with the Regent, Mrs. G. Pepper, in the chair. The secretary's report was read and approved and the roll answered by 14 members and four guests. Following the treasurer's report and a motion to pay outstanding accounts, some correspondence was read. Members were reminded that the Citizenship ceremonies would take place at the Court House with a reception for the new citizens at the home of Mrs. T. Jones of Hughes Chapter. In the absence of the Education secretary, the regent brought several items from this department to the attention of the members. The plans for the annual Blythe Ball were discussed and tickets distributed.

The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Lytle. Following for two new members believed to be welcomed into the Chapter at the next meeting. The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Jean Lindy, the new V.O.N. nurse in Lindsay. She gave a brief history of the V.O.N., started in 1897 by Lady Aberdeen and named for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. There are 122 V.O.N. offices across Canada, located in every province except P.E.I. Miss Lindy described four causes being cared for at the present, to illustrate the variety and scope of the work. The need for the service was first felt in Lindsay in 1947. The branch was formed, financing started and in September, 1951, the first nurse located here. At the moment, the programme is in three definite parts, home visiting, hospital referral and prenatal classes.

Church Committee, Beaverton. Pallbearers were Clarence Lillio, Geo. Benson, Herman Koeltge, Stanley Murray, Arthur Weldon and Wm. Thurnon.

Sergeant and Mrs. Marilyn Short and Marilyn and David of Ottawa and Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Short of Toronto, spent Thanksgiving Sunday with the mother of Marilyn and Francis, Mrs. A.L. Short, at Oakwood.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Campbell and family of R.R.2, Sundridge, Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Campbell and family of Lorneville, and Mrs. Hugh Inrie and family of Woodville and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brown and family of Lindsay. The occasion was Verna's and Cecil's tenth anniversary.

McPhail-Brailford Nuptials

St. Paul's Anglican Church, Minden, was the scene of a pretty wedding on October 5, 1963 at 11 a.m. when Mavis Brailford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Walter Brailford of Rutherford, Yorkshire, England, was united in marriage to Victor Sherwin McPhail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McPhail of Maple Lake.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law Allan R. Capon the bride wore a gown of white pearl de sole with lace inserts. Her headress, a circlet of tulle leaves, tear-drop pearls and rhinestones, held a finger-tip veil, and she carried a spray of white and red roses on a white Bible.

Her only attendant was knecce Dawn Capon in blue chiffon over blue taffeta and a spray of flowers for her hair. She carried a bouquet of yellow 'mums. The best man was the groom's brother, David.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Capon, her sister, entertained the bridal party at dinner.

A reception was held that evening at the Capons where friends and relatives enjoyed a social evening and wished the newlyweds good luck on their future life together.

LEAVE YOU HOLDING THE BAG?

Have you, there, we wouldn't do a thing like that! No wire, a wall phone is a WALL phone. It's usually when this happens, the calling party has suddenly realized that he has the wrong number, and simply hangs up. Elementary politeness would require that he excuse himself for bothering other needlessly, but he prefers to hide in the shade of anonymity and compound his fault. A simple, "I'm sorry, I've got the wrong number," may not make up for the mistake, but it certainly indicates a sense of social responsibility and, as often as not, is all that's needed to bring a compromise or even humorous reply from the "wronged" party. Of course, no one in his right mind would ever purposely call a wrong number, but . . . despite all our emphasis on looking the number is paid jolting it down etc. . . mistakes do happen. When they do, it's good to remember that two wrongs can never make a right.

TWO WRONGS

Ever answer the phone only to find no one on the other end of the line? Don't forget irritating, isn't it? Usually when this happens, the calling party has suddenly realized that he has the wrong number, and simply hangs up. Elementary politeness would require that he excuse himself for bothering other needlessly, but he prefers to hide in the shade of anonymity and compound his fault. A simple, "I'm sorry, I've got the wrong number," may not make up for the mistake, but it certainly indicates a sense of social responsibility and, as often as not, is all that's needed to bring a compromise or even humorous reply from the "wronged" party. When they do, it's good to remember that two wrongs can never make a right.

... AND THEN THERE'S GEORGE

For many of the area around the one at Chester, England, had been plagued by a rash of wrong numbers, and telephone employees thought they were dealing with a mad man. Every time the call came in, the employees would try to track down the culprit, they came empty. But one day the call came in, and the employees found a note pinned to the box was raised by about four feet; the culprit was a telephone pole that had been blown down by a storm. George it fell tall and all of it apparently playful, liked to grab the telephone wires with his tongue and hang them over the line. The wires would get tangled up, and cause telephones to ring all over the place. They stopped when the wires unwound.

PECAN CHOCOLATE

LOAF CAKE
 1½ cup once-sifted all-purpose flour or 1½ cups once-sifted pastry flour; 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon baking soda; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ cup shortening; 1½ cup lightly-packed brown sugar; 1 egg; 2 oz. unsweetened chocolate, melted ¾ cup milk; ½ cup coarsely-chopped pecans.

Grease a loaf pan (4½ x 8½ inches, top inside measure) and line with greased waxed paper. Preheat oven to 350°F. (moderate)

F. Fold three times the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cream shortening; gradually blend in brown sugar. Add and beat in egg and then the melted chocolate. Combine milk and vanilla. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk, combining lightly after each addition; fold in pecans.

Turn batter into prepared pan and spread evenly. Bake in preheated oven about 1 hour. Stand cake in its pan on wire rack for 10 minutes, then turn out onto rack and peel off paper.

Allow cake to cool completely.

TIMELY TIPS

Don't make the mistake of waiting until cooked meat is cold before refrigerating. Refrigerate such foods as soon after the meal as possible, say food experts at MacDonald Institute, Guelph. This refrigeration is necessary, as bacteria, which causes food poisoning, multiply quickly at room temperature.

Wondering how much bread to buy for stuffing a turkey? Food experts at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, tell us that a one-pound loaf of white bread, two or three days old, makes about four cups or one quart of light, fluffy crumbs with the crusts removed.

Purchase $\frac{2}{3}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of a pound of chicken per serving. Remember too, that some persons like two servings of meat at a meal.

A loose "tent" of foil over the top of a roasting bird will keep it from burning. Foil is recommended rather than a tight-fitting lid on the pan.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

By Roberta Lee

Scratched Furniture
If you've become concerned about the nicks and scratches your furniture has acquired, try this treatment: First darken these scratches with wood stain and then apply white shellac to the scratches, one coat at a time, until they are filled.

Plastic Cement
Sometimes that special plastic cement that comes with plastic veneer has a way of becoming too thick and gummy for practical use. In this case close the bottle tight, soak it in warm water for a while, and it will regain its usable consistency.

Peeling Carrots
To avoid those yellow stains on your fingers and hands when peeling carrots, peel them under water.

CARE OF COOKED POULTRY REQUIRES PROPER STORAGE

Short and proper storage of cooked poultry will mean that you get "the most for your money", say Home Economists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Here are a few guides. Always put the cooked poultry into the refrigerator within 4 hours of taking it from the oven. Plan to use the meat within 4 days. Remove the stuffing from the body and neck cavities. Wrap well and ore separately from the eat. This reduces the chan-s of spoilage. If most of the ard has been carved, remove e rest of the meat from the recess and wrap tightly to ore. (Be sure to make roth, using the bones, right way while the carcass has maximum flavor.) Refrigerate the gravy in a separate container as well.

There are many recipes for cooking cooked poultry which have a condensed soup or creamed sauce base. The recipe below uses soy sauce, corn starch and consomme for the base. This recipe uses large pieces of meat, rather than chopped meat, to save the home-maker time.

Town plan objection

Sees serious encroachment on the liberty of the subject

Alleges ensured devaluation

"The practice of acquiring land by first ensuring its devaluation would appear to be a serious encroachment on the liberty of the subject and bordering on what is commonly called 'sharp practice'."

This statement is contained in an objection lodged with the Lindsay Planning Board at a public hearing held Wednesday night to receive opinions from ratepayers relative to the proposed new official town plan. It was registered by Charles H. Brett, of 30 St. Paul Street, in respect of property owned by him.

Speaking following a request from his son, Frank, for clarification of his position relative to the purchase of residential land partially contained in an area designated green strip for future public ownership, Mr. Brett read a prepared statement in which he declared, quote: "My objection to the proposed planning is based on the fact that the entire property on which I live, in all I believe about six or seven acres that I purchased as residential land, is now to be classified for future public ownership. It therefore follows that the value of my property is greatly reduced. I am not alone in this. I am sure that many other owners in the market as its future use is restricted by the embargo placed on its use."

"While having every sympathy with the desire of the Lindsay Planning Board to give the public access to the river frontage, the area planned for public use exceeds the need for this purpose. Furthermore, as the residential area in this ward is limited by the amount of the industrial area already defined, it would seem extremely unfair to allocate such a large area for public use where the residential area is comparatively restricted."

"The desire to give access to the river is fully appreciated, but there is no doubt that satisfactory arrangements could be made without the arbitrary procedure of ensuring devaluation. If the town wishes to acquire land it should be purchased, if it were available, at the market price. The practice of acquiring land by first ensuring its devaluation would appear to be a serious encroachment on the liberty of the subject and bordering on what is commonly called 'sharp practice'."

J. McQuarrie, chairman of the official plan committee, speaking to this matter told the meeting that it was not his place to give such a long range parks board plan to have the Sugar River's banks ultimately become a green or recreation strip. "I am sure that this is a 'broad principle' and that 'if you came to the municipality and said this land has been sitting in the street for such and such a time and that you wanted to convert it to residential use, provisions in the plan say 'this land to be given due consideration'. It doesn't mean that an intention of land set aside as a green zone."

Barricades and hoardings now require special permit

Lindsay's council has put long sharp teeth in its new by-laws governing barricades and hoardings.

Given third and final reading this week, the by-law is designed to eliminate problems arising out of demolition and construction projects in which the K.M. Hospital is affected.

Court chuckles but fines him

Says only accident in 10 years when cruiser hit his truck

A young Cannington man drew chuckles from the court last week when he testified that he had only one accident in the ten years of driving and that was when a police cruiser ran into the back of his truck.

Joseph Swain was charged with careless driving from the evening of Sept. 7 when OPP Const R. McGregor followed him and saw the truck cross the white line a number of times, and climb the curb at Chandler's Corners.

The officer said that the accused had smelled of drink and was unsteady on his feet. "It was quite true, your worship, as I had put in a long day selling cattle," said Swain. He admitted to taking a few drinks before leaving on his trip home.

He was assessed a total of $71.50 and a charge of being impaired was dropped.

Colony house catches fire fears for unique home

A chicken coop house owned by Victor J. Chandler of Chandler's Corners, at the junction of Highway 7 and Cambridge Road north, was destroyed by fire last week with tires and other stored materials, the coop did not contain any chickens at the time.

The damage is estimated at around $100 by Mr. Chandler. He said the start of the nearby house when his wife asked him to look outside to see what the crackling noise was. He did, and found the chicken coop house well ablaze. A small fire extinguisher was used to try to contain the fire.

Ailing MacMillan won't lead party in next election

Blackpool, England (Oct. 10) (UPI) — An ailing Prime Minister Macmillan has announced that he will not lead the Conservative Party in the next election. He said that he would like to lead the party but his health would prevent him from doing so.

Home says Queen Elizabeth has been informed of the decision.

Slow start forces campaign to extend canvass time

A slow start for the Community Chest Campaign has made it necessary to extend the time until the objective is reached, which may be to wards the end of October, Chairman Don Anderson announced today.

Canvassers are going all out in an effort to complete their calls as soon as possible.

Qualified returns from the industries indicate receipts are about the same as last year, he said, but it is still too early to give an exact figure on the campaign's progress.

As was announced earlier, subscribers who have contributed at their place of employment have received stickers to put on their doors as a guide to house-to-house canvassers. It is hoped, Mr. Anderson said, that this will to some extent overcome the problem of residents being canvassed twice as was the case last year. "It is working quite well and is saving considerable time and is eliminating the 'overlap' he added.

The Visiting Division of the United Canbada Canada Ltd. is again, for the second year, encouraging their employees to donate to the campaign by giving a ticket on a draw for every $5.00 donated. It was responsible for nearly doubling the donations last year, said the official, and from all reports is expected to top that figure this year.

Considerable credit must also go to the service clubs for their effort in the campaign, noted Mr. Anderson, and to the industries and business houses for allowing time off for some of the employees working on the campaign.

"I am appealing again to every citizen to make a special effort to see that we go 'over the top' this year and to welcome the canvasser when he calls at the door".

Calf leads men a merry chase

A small but agile calf led a number of men a merry chase on Angeline Street North on Friday afternoon when it escaped from the Community Sale Barns. Changing course too quickly at one spot it landed on its hindquarters and then sped away again before the men could get close. After a while it was outsmarted and its brief period of glory was over as it was hustled back to the barns.

Lindsay man ratepayers chairman

Melvin DeGroot of Lindsay was chosen as chairman for the newly formed Fenelon Township Ratepayers Association at the protest meeting of the township ratepayers.

It was announced earlier that Mr. T. Evers would be chairman but after a meeting of the committee following the protest meeting, Mr. DeGroot was elected.

Frank Stukus, owner and operator of Byrnell Manor, was elected secretary, with five other members to represent the sections of the township.

They are Hugo Beal, Morley Byrnell, Gordon Ferguson, Percy Burridge and Fred Barker.

The group of ratepayers met to protest the recent assessment increases which in some cases are four times higher than 1963 assessments.

The V.O.N. is one of the proudest of all organizations that depend on the great deal upon the Lindsay Community Chest for support.

Canada Geese being featured on stamp issue

The Canadian Post Office Department plans to increase its stock of Canada Geese.

At present the 10 Canadian airmail stamp shows a single Canada goose but on October 30 a new 15c airmail stamp will show a flight of four geese.

Postmaster General Avelius Denis says that since the 7c stamp is being replaced early next year with a new design it was felt the Canada Goose should be kept on at least one stamp in view of its popularity as a stamp subject and because it is the only waterfowl that bears the name of Canada.

The new 15c airmail stamp will be in the large vertical format size as opposed to the small size of present Gannet airmail stamp. The stamp was designed by Angus Strath, noted ornithological artist from Winnipeg.

Application for water service has been made by the rental housing development seen under construction in the picture above. A co-operative federal-provincial-municipal project, the houses are being built in Logie St.-Kawartha Drive area.

"It is surprising to see all this building going on in a 'depressed area,' isn't it," quipped Mayor Jos. Holton when the application was read at the Lindsay Water Commission's October meeting. His workshop noted that another 15-house development is going to be built on Short Ave.

Mrs. W. Harris hostess to Cameron WI

The September Cameron Women's Institute was held in the home of Mrs. Will Harris with a good attendance.

Many useful hints were given in answering the Roll Call on household hints. Mrs. R. Naylor gave an interesting reading on the motto "Don't walk next year in last year's rut. It was decided to charter a bus and spend one day in Toronto at the area convention in November. It was moved and seconded that each member bring a donation for a present for the little adopted boy.

It was decided to get more paper to finish the Tweedmill History which had been commenced.

Hand-carved horse from Sweden symbol of gift shop trade

Mrs. Ed Hamilton of the gift centre on Kent Street displays a hand-carved painted horse found in Sweden. They are used as trade-marks in shops, to show that they stock hobby and handicraft supplies. The gift centre stocks unusual and exotic items from the four corners of the world. The proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hamilton, who also operate the "Coby Shop" in Cobocook moved to this area from Columbus, Ohio, about a year and a half ago. They had been coming to their cottage in the Cobocook area from Ohio for many years and decided to move to Canada permanently.

Gold-trimmed regalia worn for first time

One hundred and seven years ago, Faithful Brethren Lodge, now of Lindsay, was founded in the village of Manilla. It was the 77th Masonic lodge formed and chartered in the Ontario jurisdiction. This week W. Bro. Hugh M. Carter and officers of the lodge wore gold trimmed regalia for the first time. The occasion, which was most auspicious, was attended by a large number of members and visitors from the area.

Grand Ole Opry playing one-day stand here

Lindsay followers of the internationally known "Grand Ole Opry" which makes its headquarters at Nashville, Tennessee, will soon have an opportunity of seeing them perform in person. The troupe is booked for a one-day stand at the Lindsay Recreation Centre next Saturday with the Lions Club as sponsors.

Wilma Lee and Stony Cooper with the Clinch Mountain Clan will head up the can which will appear at 8:30 on the Saturday evening. During the afternoon a matinee show will be held by the Lions Club featuring Gerry Warren and The Tremblers with stars of rock and roll, with spot appearances by Grand Ole Opry.

Proceeds of the entertainment are for the Lindsay Lions Club community welfare account.

Native of Newfoundland addresses club on province

Cannington (PNS) — At the regular meeting of the Cannington Lions Club the members heard an interesting talk on the province of Newfoundland by Fred Walker, a native of this island and at present on the teaching staff of Brock District High School.

Mr. Walker gave a word picture of this interesting province from the time man first stepped on this island to the present time. He explained its financial difficulties, its problem of securing industries, the railway, and the new highways. It was interesting to hear Mr. Walker give the dialects of various communities on the island.

Insurance firm now occupies new offices

A widely known Lindsay Insurance firm has moved into new quarters on William Street.

Now Mason and Whyte, general insurance agents in Lindsay since shortly after the first world war, are now occupying the former street level office of the CPR.

William D. Whyte joined the insurance firm of Mason and Whyte in 1947 after serving during the war with the RCAF, and he took over the company entirely when Mr. Mason passed away in 1953. Prior to the war Mr. Whyte had been a public and high school teacher. A past president of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club, and past lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Division 6, he is a Canadian Legion member and a member of the curling and golf clubs. Mr. Whyte is married and has two sons ages 18 and 20.

Tenders for coal supply, new truck, dealt with Tenders for next winter's supply of coal and a new truck were dealt with by Lindsay's Board of Water Commissioners at its October meeting.

Three tenders to supply coal — Lindsay Coal $19 per ton, John L. Baker $17.18, J. G. Baldwin and Son $20.20 and $18.50 (two grades). On the mayor's motion, the lowest tender is to be accepted, assuming that all of these are satisfactory.

Tenders to supply the truck were Graydon King $2,400, Peet's $2,375, Arnold's $2,625, Mowbray $2,105.90, J. Earl Graham $2,600. The tenders were referred to the chairman with power to act.

Commissioners decided against buying gasoline for its Board of Works' department of gull channels when the estimated saving to be effected was considered. Supt. R. J. Reynolds estimated yearly consumption at about 1,000 gallons. On the board, available prices for gasoline, the switchover would involve a saving of about $29, it was pointed out. Commissioner Murray Grant observed that the amount of saving around involved it wouldn't be worth it.

Chairman Duncan Sinclair said he had been approached by some of the garages — large water consumers — who wondered why they didn't get their own gasoline.

When it was estimated that there were about 35 service stations in the area being supplied water by the commission, and the amount of gasoline used taken into consideration, members were hard-pressed to figure how they could divide the business up.

STOP!!...killing yourself

By Peter J. Steinhorn, MD., F.A.C.P.

PATIENT RALLIES TO DEFENSE OF DOCTORS

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I would like to come to the defense of the poor harassed doctor who gets knocked from every side for not listening to the patients tale of woe.

She has come in with a long story about how she feels and how she has suffered. She thinks she can diagnose her own case. She takes 20 to 30 minutes of the doctor's time while the office is full of other patients, some of whom are much sicker than she.

Some will even have to leave without seeing the doctor because he is only human and can do just so much. Why not tell only the essential part and let the doctor diagnose the case, prescribe the remedy and get on to some other case.

I don't have much patience with people who get their feelings hurt because the doctor doesn't have time to listen to all they wish to say. I am not a doctor nor a doctor's wife but I get pretty fed up with all this talk about a doctor not listening to his patients.

I think a doctor should be kind and sympathetic but how about the patient being kind and understanding for a change? Can't people understand that the doctor is just human and would like a little understanding from his patients? He takes more time with some of them than I would. I assure you, Doctor's Friend.

Comment: I would be ungrateful not to appreciate what you are trying to say in our defense, Doctor's Friend. There is much truth in what you say.

Unfortunately, not the whole truth. It is important for the patient to have his say; some doctors are too impatient to listen. As a result, many patients leave frustrated and helpless.

"DOPE!" Many patients go from day to day feeling like martyrs because they refuse to take sleeping pills, even when prescribed by the doctor. "It's dope," they say. "Not for me. I don't want to get into the habit of taking the stuff."

I have had to argue long and hard with some patients to take a sleeping pill. If only for a few nights, to break up a dangerous cycle of insomnia. Protracted loss of sleep is often one of the first indications of a severe nervous collapse.

Patients won't go wrong if they take these medicines only under the advice of their physician. If he says yes, then advise that you take it. You will get into trouble only if you bootleg the stuff. When the prescription has run out, don't try to get it refilled without your doctor's knowledge.

You will never get into the habit of taking sleeping pills if you follow this rule. Think of these pills as temporary crutches to get you over some rough spot in your life. Unless you are the type who overdoes in everything—over-smokes, over-drinks, over-eats, etc. I doubt that you will ever be in the position when you can describe your reliance on sleep pills as a dope habit.

For Mr. K. I let your family take a sissy for getting into the habit of taking a snooze every day. It's wonderful medicine for what ails you.

Bethany

The Bethany Women's Institute sponsored a bus tour to the Kitchener district, traveling via Denure Coach Lines. The 40 passengers thoroughly enjoyed their trip. Points of interest visited were the Edwards Gardens in Toronto, the home of William Lyon Mackenzie King, the Pioneer Village at Doon. They were taken on a conducted tour through Plant at Kitchener, where they were also served with lunch and each lady presented with a pound of shortening. Visited numerous historical sites in the Kitchener-Waterloo area including the Tower erected in memory of the United Empire Loyalists, which overlooks the Grand River. On the homeward way all enjoyed dinner served in Guelph.

Mrs. Laura Spiers, Toronto, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neals.

Mrs. J. Hay and Mrs. L. Letbridge of Edinburgh, Scotland; Mr. and Mrs. C. Crawford of Oshawa, have been guests with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kerr.

Mrs. Guy Tripp is spending a few weeks with relatives in Toronto.

Mrs. G. Henry elected

King Albert H & S President

The King Albert Home and School meeting was held recently in the school auditorium with a very good attendance.

Mrs. N. Wilson, vice-president, opened the meeting with O'Canada, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. E. Junkin read the Home and School Creed. Mrs. N. Wilson announced that at the last Home and School executive meeting, Mrs. G. Henry was nominated as president and at this time, took over the meeting.

The minutes were read of the June meeting by Mrs. C. Bessie, secretary and Mrs. W. Carmichael read the treasurer's report. Mrs. Henry extended a welcome to all present and promised to do her best during her term of office as president. Important changes took place during the business session as follows. Mrs. G. Saville moved that four or five meetings be held namely: October, December, February, April and May and this was carried. Mr. H. James moved the meetings be held on the second Tuesday of the month. Also carried. It was decided that the U.N.I.C.E.F. collections would be made during the daylight hours the same as last year, but the boxes returned to the school the next day and the draw held at recess for prizes.

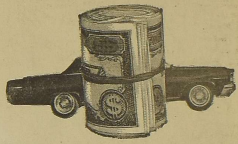

It was generally felt that some children had a considerable distance to travel back to school on Halloween's night. Other business included a contribution to the local Muscular Dystrophy Association drive. Discussion on the purchase of an Opaque Machine as an aid to the teachers was held and a demonstration suggested for the next meeting.

Mr. W.J. Stanley Brown, Principal, addressed the group and stressed co-operation between the parents and teachers. He described education as a tripod with the child, home and school as its base—if one leg lets down, the whole structure is weakened. The parents went to their child's room where the teacher outlined the program for the year. The parents living on streets running east and west won the attendance contest so lunch was served by the north-south parents, with Mrs. Kennedy convening, closing an evening.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

CAN WOMEN OF 42, 51 STILL HAVE BABIES?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn I am 51 years of age and have been going through the menopause for the last six years and have no more hot flashes. It is possible that I can become pregnant now? Mrs. B.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn I am 48 years old. I haven't had a period in 15 months. I have flashes, am tense and nervous. Can I be sure I am over pregnancy and child-bearing? My husband thinks there's nothing to be concerned over and he says it's easy for him to say so, but I asked my doctor and he said he couldn't be positive, but the chances were not in favor of becoming pregnant. Can you give me more definite information? Mrs. G.

Comment: Dear Mrs. B. Chances are you are way out of what many women call the "danger zone." Dear Mrs. G. You are not far behind. But like your doctor, I'll have to hedge; as the man said "Chances are you'll never get hit by lightning, but there's always the possibility when they expose yourself."

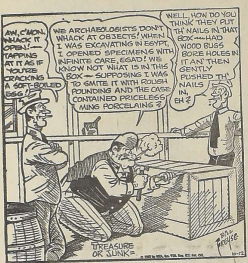

CAUSE FOR NERVOUSNESS?

I write today of a woman who has reason enough to be nervous. You or I would be too, under similar circumstances. And I enclose her letter so many women who are disturbed because they can't get a new fur coat, a new car or tail-to-wall carpeting, will be more patient and thankful for what they have. And likewise so many men who haven't become vice president of the firm, and are disappointed because they were next in line for the promotion, will be thankful for their good health and present success and worry themselves unnecessarily. Here is the letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I read your advice to people every day in our paper. Now I have a complaint. I am sick of being sick. I don't know what to do about it. I don't think I can stand it much longer. Can you tell me what to do? I am almost 35 and have nine children. The youngest is 11 years old and the oldest is 21. I have a wonderful husband and am tired of worrying him about my sickness.

STREAM SET FOR TRAPPING MINK

By MARY SUE MILLER

WHO'S AWKWARD? Scene in the lobby of a celebrated New York hotel. A kaleidoscope of fashion, as ladies gabbed for luncheon. The first sight, the costume suit, the important hat, the crushed glove and the flash jewel - all were present and looking elegant. Until, that is, a waister sat down!

Then what was been a picture of loveliness suddenly became a study in awkwardness. Slim demure, slumping in their chairs, resembled sacks of meal. Heavy women, feet stuck out and knees ajar, took on the aspect of a lady waiter.

Just so, poor posture detracts from feminine looks and fashions in any situation. And all so unnecessarily, for it is so easy to carry oneself gracefully. To take a graceful seated position, simply follow these tips:

1. Sit squarely on your "sit-in" bones.
2. Pull your waist in and up.
3. Let your shoulders fall relaxed.
4. Hold your back in a straight line, whether or not it rests against the back of a seat.
5. Avoid crooking your neck and letting your chin sag.

6. However you arrange your legs, keep the knees together. Place the soles of your feet on the floor, the toes of one foot slightly ahead of the other. If you're shy, you may cross the knees. But no chattering, please! No feet in the line of passage, either. It is not the people who step on others' toes who are awkward.

7. Compose your hands in your lap and keep them still.

8. Practice all these motions until they flow into one continuous action. Then you'll really be sitting pretty!

INSOMNIA IS PROBLEM TO RICH, POOR ALIKE
Dear Dr. Steincorn: As a steady reader of your column I'd like to see your viewpoint on the sleep problem. Mrs. G. for some important clues.

Comment: I know of nothing that nags both the healthy and sick human as does loss of sleep. Insomnia is a strange bedfellow. It bedevils the rich and the poor; the healthy and the sick; the young and the old; male and female. Insomnia is the universal guest who insists on staying overnight and night after night.

What I'd like to do, Mrs. G., is to send me a letter which states your problem. Is it snoring? Inability to fall asleep? Wakefulness in early morning hours? Or a score of other complaints? I'd appreciate it if other readers will do likewise.

MAY FIND ANSWER
Out of this practical "research" may come an inkling, at least, of the answer on the problem. We've learned much about the mechanics of sleep & dreams through the investigations of scientists in a laboratories, but study of those persons of personal sleep problems by such a poll may offer some important clues.

If you have suffered from insomnia and have overcome it, tell me how. If snoring no longer keeps your family awakened, tell me how you accomplished the miracle.

Call them tricks, tips or what you will; send them on. I may add up to something useful. Consider yourself as participating in a scientific experiment by writing in your experience. On the other hand if you've "tried everything" without help, tell me about that, too.

For the past few months I have been doing some serious investigation into the sleep problem. And with your help, perhaps I can come up with some simple insomnia cure which have practically given up who think they will never again experience the sweet serenity and satisfaction of a good night's sleep.

I will not be able to answer

Rebekahs and Oddfellows and Grilla were present for this special occasion and heard a fine address, brotherhood in the World to be, by Bro. Max Singer, P.D.D.G.M. from Sunnyside Lodge of Toronto.

The presentations followed a delicious dinner served by the Queen Mary Lodge and your letters personally, but intend to report upon the findings at some future date. Perhaps we will learn how to turn off wakefulness as simply as we do water running from a faucet.

At least we can try: anything better than turning and tossing night after night in hopeless surrender to insomnia.

USE OF BLOOD THINNERS

AFTER CORONARY ATTACK
Many wives and their husbands, too, are concerned with the doctor's suggested treatment after a coronary attack. They hear so many conflicting reports from neighbors and friends that it is natural that they become confused and anxious. For example, listen to Mrs. A., whose husband has just arrived home from the hospital after his attack of coronary thrombosis:

Q: I understand what is meant by coronary thrombosis. It means closing off of a coronary artery by a clot that interferes with the circulation of the heart. But I don't understand what is meant by blood thinners. Why should my husband have to take them for so many months? Do all patients like my husband need them?

A: I know what you mean. Many people like yourself wonder if it's necessary to get blood for blood tests every week or so. They hear of a friend whose doctor doesn't believe in giving blood thinners for so long.

Q: Well, what do you think about it?

RELY ON DOCTOR
The most important thing for you to remember is to rely on your own doctor, and not on what your neighbor's doctor is doing for your neighbor. Every case is an individual problem unto itself. What are the usual blood thinners?

A: Heparin is a common one. So is dicoumarol or one of its derivatives. The doctor takes the blood test every week or so to determine how the prothrombin time is which indicates the thickness of the blood. Depending upon this finding, he orders the necessary blood thinners.

Q: What is their actual purpose?

A: To try to deter further clotting in the blood. In this way the drugs prevent complications and wards off new attack of thrombosis.

Now, in theory this works fine. In many patients we are certain that the drug has prevented further trouble. However, in many it doesn't work that way. They get second, and third, attacks anyway. But we doctors make our decision to use it or not, depending upon the patient himself. How serious was the attack in the first place? Has he already had serious complications?

DANGER OF HEMORRHAGE
If the attack was a mild one although it's difficult sometimes to tell which was mild and which was serious) the doctor may decide to give the blood thinners only during the patient's stay in the hospital. As soon as he gets home and discontinues them, I haven't used blood thinners on all my coronary patients. There's always the danger of hemorrhage in using these drugs. The doctor has to be careful. Especially when the patient is a known bleeder, or has been suffering from severe ulcer of the stomach.

Q: So I suppose my husband had better take his dicoumarol until his doctor says stop.

A: That's about it. You'll have to rely on your judgment. Remember, he was good enough to treat him after it. Don't rely on neighbors when in doubt. Call in a heart consultant if you want to put your mind at ease.

Q: Well, I guess we'll just go along as is. We're thankful he has done as well as he had. No use borrowing trouble.

A: That makes good sense. (Released by the Bell Syndicate Inc.)

SUCKING THINGS BEEN SAVING THOSE JOONING STAMPS, AND AT LAST HE'S GOT ENOUGH FOR THAT FISHING KID—

HOWEVER MRS. S. HAS A BETTER IDEA AND WHO IS HER SPOUSE TO STAND IN THE WAY—?

Cowan-Weaver Nuptials

Christ Anglican Church, Orono, Peterboro, Port Omenaw, was the scene of a pretty wedding on October 5th, 1963, when Rev. R. S. Mansfield united Diane Phyllis Weaver, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sisson of Omenaw in marriage to Beverly Cowan of Orono, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Cowan.

The wedding music was played by Milburn Jones with Mrs. Lois McConnell singing the "Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love".

The bride looked charming in an afternoon-length gown of organza over taffeta with borders trimmed with sequins and pearls and finished with a sash and neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her bouffant veil was held in place by a crown set with pearls and she carried a white Bible with a shower of yellow Sweetheart.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Fay Morrison of Omenaw, the bridesmaids Miss Donna Allin Oshawa and Miss Lawrence Shewna of Brooklin, sister of the groom, and the flower girl, Miss Kathy May of Brooklin, were in dresses of green shantung with matching wedding headpieces and shoes. They carried nosegays of bronze nuns.

The best man was Russell Major of Orono and usher were Francis Cowan and Kenneth Sisson.

At the reception Mrs. Sisson wore a dress and jacket in teal blue crepe with bodice of the dress in rose metallic. Her feather hat and gloves were in matching rose and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Cowan wore a taupe dress and jacket with matching feather hat and gloves and a corsage of yellow roses.

For going away the bride had a two-piece knit suit in brown and beige, accessories to match and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses.

Reabro delegate, wife return from N.B. trip
Reabro (PNS) — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reeds have returned from an enjoyable ten-day trip to St. John, New Brunswick where Mr. Reeds was a delegate at the Milk Foundation of Canada Convention at the Admiral Beattie Hotel. Mr. Reeds is the first vice-president of the Toronto district. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Herb Simpson of Stouffville.

They were pleasantly surprised to find an acquaintance, Mr. Moore of Acadia University who was the guest speaker a few years ago at the Anniversary services at the Reabro Baptist Church.

They left St. John Saturday morning and returned home Monday evening after a beautiful trip with the new scenery which was enhanced by the fall coloring which was at its best in that part of the country.

Attend luncheon at Peterborough

Mrs. S. Elden and Mrs. M. D. Lindsay attended a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Foote of Peterboro last Friday where they met a number of ladies from the Eastern Ontario District Progressive Conservative Women's Advisory Committee.

Arrangements were made for a luncheon to be held in the Empress Hotel next Saturday at one o'clock when it is expected many ladies from Victoria, Haliburton, Peterboro, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings Counties will be in attendance. Lindsay women interested are invited to call by Mrs. Mack or Mrs. Elden regarding transportation.

Mrs. H. Harman-Smith of Vernon, B.C., National President will be the chief speaker. Other speakers will include Mrs. Kaye McFarland, Provincial President of the P.C. Women's organization and Mrs. D. Downey.

EDITORIAL..
HARD TO BELIEVE
BUT THAT'S WHAT THEY SAY...

Visiting the scene of the fire which left several people homeless in Lindsay Monday night when a combination business block and apartment house was severely damaged something of a very surprising nature was learned... Hard as it is to believe, some of the people living in the third floor apartments reportedly didn't know where the nearest fireescape was.
It is extremely fortunate that no one lost their lives in the fire as might well have been the case had it broken out a couple of hours later than it did. The fact that no one died, doesn't lessen the need for citing the necessity for ensuring that apartment dwellers are fully familiar with available emergency exits. We go to great lengths to try to ensure maximum safety in other buildings where many people congregate and there is no reason why the same shouldn't apply to people assuming occupancy of apartments.
Another thing which strikes us as being somewhat out of keeping with the times is having to rely upon human agencies to alert apartment dwellers to the presence of fire. Surely in the light of modern developments, an adequate warning device could be installed at strategic points in any building of this type. We say this because sometimes it just isn't possible for people outside to reach the fire in the inside because of smoke or the fire itself. In buildings of this type an easily accessible point of contact with all apartments (warning signal) shouldn't be either impractical or economically prohibitive.

Reports and Remarks...

NEW DRIVER LICENCE SYSTEM REQUIRES CORRECT ADDRESS
Is your correct address on your driver's licence?
Right now the Department of Transport is preparing to send to you — by mail — the application form for your next driver's licence. It is a new type of form, with your name printed on it.
"Under this new system, it is more important that ever that the Department have the right address for every driver," said Hon. Irwin Hackett, Ontario Minister of Transport. "Any driver who has changed his address and has forgotten to advise the Department should do so immediately, to ensure that he receives his application form for his next licence."
By law, a driver is required to notify the Department of a change of address within six days. Special forms for this purpose are available at all licence issuing offices. The mailing of application forms will launch Ontario's new system of drivers' licences. This will begin the transition to drivers' licences that will be valid for three years, and will be renewable on each driver's birth-date.

Remember way back when

Our citizens will be pleased to learn that efforts will be made during the coming season to add greatly to the strength and efficiency of the Citizens' Band. The organization has had a very successful season and in all its engagements as well as in its park series, its playing has evoked the most favourable comment from music critics and the citizens generally. At a meeting recently held the organization was placed on a more effective basis. The excellent executive and the enthusiasm of its members augurs well for the future of this organization. During the coming season an effort will be made to add to the strength of the organization from the numerical standpoint. Already several new musicians have been enrolled and others could be secured if positions were available. The members will lend every endeavor to bring the membership of the band up to 35 by next spring. The best advertisement the town can possess is a first class band, and our citizens should be their share helping to make the local organization one of the crack musical organizations of the Dominion.

Kimmound, Mr. Leonard Hughes happened with a very unfortunate accident while employed on the farm of Mr. J. Hurst, about four miles east of Kimmound. He received painful injuries when kicked in the face by a horse. Dr. R.O. Frost, of Minden, was immediately summoned and the young man was later removed to the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, for an x-ray.

Missionary at Bobcaygeon
Bobcaygeon—Rev. Davis, a missionary of Manchuria and who with Mrs. Davis is on furlough visiting in Knox Presbyterian Church and delivered a very interesting illustrated address on that country, its people and some of the wonderful results of the missionary work.

Mount Horeb
Friends of Mrs. Fred Porter are sorry to hear she is confined to the Ross Memorial Hospital where she underwent surgery on her foot. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Friends of Mr. John Murphy, Lindsay, are sorry to learn she is a patient in the Ross Memorial Hospital since her return from a holiday spent in England, Wales and Ireland. All hope to see her up and about again soon.

The Friends of Mrs. Wm. Stalker of Lindsay were sorry to learn she is confined to the Ross Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Stalker had the misfortune to fall on her bedroom floor breaking her right shoulder in three places. All hope she will soon be able to be home again.

Zion Fenelon

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Henry visited Mrs. Henry's brother and sister-in-law and family at Bolsover.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sims, Catherine and Lawrence, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry in honour of Lawrence's birthday.

Several families from Zion attended anniversary services at Cameron, where Mr. Murray Laurensen, a local man, studying for the ministry was guest speaker.

PSI Community Health Plan opens 10-day enrolment drive

Once again the Victoria Community Health Plan is available to all permanent residents of Victoria County.
Robert Clement, spokesman for Physicians Services Incorporated, told "The Post" that the plan is offered without restrictions as to age or condition of health and he stated that the coverage is the most comprehensive form of medical protection available. The plan explains, includes such features as first call coverage without limit to the number of necessary calls during any period of time and there is no limit placed on the amount of necessary medical services received.
The original enrolment in the PSI plan took place in the town of Lindsay in 1961 and was extended to all residents of Victoria County in 1962. The plan has been offered to many counties in Ontario but Lindsay remains one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the plan.
The enrolment period on this third occasion will be for ten days on this Thursday.

In Memoriam

SHEEHY — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Violet Lorraine who passed away October 24, 1962. She has gone across the river to the shore of ever green, And we long to see her dear face.

But the river flows between Some day, sometime, we shall see.

The face we love so well, Some day we'll clasp her loving hand.

And never say farewell, Always remembered by Hugh, Gloria, Greg and Eric.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle Rev. R. D. Flyer.
Mrs. W. L. Silverton, of Stouffville, was the organist and Miss Patricia S. Clair, R. 2, Cannington, became the bride of Alexander James Macdonnell, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Macdonnell of Moab, Utah, U. S. A.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore silk organza over taffeta dress with bodice & skirt appliqued with daisies. The back featured tiny buttons to the waist with panels giving a bow effect. Her elbow-length veil was caught with tiana and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Mrs. Sherill Lawry, of Downsview, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor and wore mint green nylon chiffon over taffeta and carried a nosegay of yellow and bronze mums.

Christopher Lawry, of Downsview, was the best man and the ushers were Mr. Edward Stouffer, of Cannington, brother of the bride and Mr. Desmond Smith of Toronto.

After a reception held in the Ringwood Church Sunday School rooms, the bride donned a cranberry red suit with white and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following a honeymoon in Ontario and U.S.A., the happy couple will reside in Toronto.

Remarks

Hutton said he was considering seeing his lawyer about the attack made upon him. I consider this damaging and it is untrue," he declared.

At Monday's meeting Mr. Found in an exchange of words with Mr. Hutton is reported as having said, "I have no intention of stating and writing with commensurate on one side and whiskey on the other. I think it is a disgrace for some members to come into the chamber, reeking as they do, and I hope you print it."

NOTICED

along the way

Man is slipping... not making, (although that was just plain man, the lad who's supposed to be in command of business, rule the household and all that sort of thing).

A. Terry Jackson of Lindsay has conclusive proof that since 1900 A.D. has lost some of his humanity, protection if you prefer, against the will of the female of the species.

Looking through an old scrapbook the other day, Mr. Jackson came across this newspaper clipping which illustrates very well just how far man has yielded ground in what once must have been a winning battle to avoid being tricked into matrimony by artful ladies. Here it what they looked like?

Historic Note

In the year of grace 1700 Parliament enacted the following table of legislation: "That all women, of whatever age, rank, profession or degree whether virgin, matron or widow, that shall from or after such act impose upon and betray into matrimony any of his majesty's subjects by means of scent, paints, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish heels, high-heeled shoes shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft and the misdemeanors and be liable to the marriage upon conviction shall stand null and void."

Unfortunately the clippings didn't include any pictures of women as they appeared in that man's era... Wonder what they looked like?

Nowadays man's got to have a pretty sharp eye in his head and a keen memory for general features to be sure the woman he's having dinner with at night is the same one he left over the coffee-pot that morning... But that's life in the woman's world today... a blonde this morning, a brunette by nightfall.

On the subject of matrimony and related matters, many parents of United States manage to retain their bachelorhood.

The World Almanac says there has only been one bachelor president, an agile sidestepper of feminine lures by the name of James Buchanan.

Mrs. Nellie Smith

Long associated with dry cleaning industry, dies on vacation

A widely known Lindsay business woman - Mrs. Nellie Smith - vacationing with relatives in England, died unexpectedly last Sunday while attending a church service in Manchester, England. Mrs. Smith, 61, in June, 1962, was due back in Lindsay some time in November.

Mrs. Smith had been associated with the Lindsay Cleaners and Dyers for about 25 years as an office executive and was very popular with clients and clients of the company.

Mrs. Smith had a known heart condition which had necessitated a previous leave of absence from business.

Mrs. Smith leaves two daughters, Ruth of Lindsay and Ellen (Mrs. B. Barkwell) of Ottawa. Her husband predeceased her.

The funeral will be held in Manchester, England.

Hogch and Lytle Ltd., Mariposa and conducted by Bill Webdale and Ray McCarron.

Full houses order of day for Kiwanis "Black and White"

Full houses have been the order of the day for the Kiwanis "Black and White Revue" at the Academy Theatre. Before the opening night on Monday the cast of 60 performers, the largest ever, only audience of a school-conference.

The three-night run of music, comedy and feature films, has been a success. This year's show which stars local artists is the 11th annual production put on by the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay and is produced for the club by George Zarof of Hamilton.

Ex-principal looks back on Haliburton days with humour

The auditorium of the Haliburton County District High School was filled to capacity with graduates, parents and their friends for the annual commencement Exercises last Friday.

N. A. Sisco, B.A., assistant superintendent of Secondary Education for the Ontario Department of Education, was the commencement speaker. He began his address with humorous reminiscences of his time as principal of the Haliburton high school. He went on to discuss history as interpreted by the eminent historian, Arnold Toynbee and stated that from observing the rise and fall of societies it could be seen that social progress came from adversity.

Mr. Sisco compared the school's progress with the progress of the Middle East who had grasslands where life and civilization began.

BB pellet strikes girl in face

Oakwood (PNS) - A serious accident nearly occurred on Saturday afternoon at Oakwood when Lois Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Squires was hit in the face with a BB pellet.

Several young children, including Lois, were playing outside a house when some boys came along with BB guns. One of them pointed his gun at the girl and said, "I'll shoot you."

The pellet struck the small girl less than an inch above her eye. Fortunately no harm was done except to the nerves and tempers of the parents and children.

ARDA chairman calls meeting

A public meeting of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Association was held on Thursday night in the Ontario government building to draw up plans for ARDA pasture programme in this district and the conservation projects in the Glenora-Hartley area.

The aim of the meeting, said Victoria County Chairman Clare Curtin, is to eliminate the possibility of misunderstanding on the part of the public, including urban people.

Mr. Curtin pointed out that more than farm problems were dealt with by ARDA. It was he said, concerned with conservation on a broad scale. He cited falling water tables as a matter of prime concern to both rural and urban people.

Automatic alarm foils burglars

An automatic burglar alarm foiled would-be thieves attempting to break into a service station near Powles corner early today.

Police say an attempt was made to break into Hebel Motors on Highway 35 north but the intruders must have got scared when the alarm went off.

OPF Const. D. Reeds sped to the home to find the station deserted but a rear window broken.

Town declines to support anti-planning board idea

Lindsay Council has declined to support the idea of a planning board. Council voted unanimously, non-concurrent with the recommendation of the Ontario's select committee that planning boards be dissolved.

Mayor Holton claimed that planning boards were necessary to relieve council of pressure and that the board could serve the community working with council and on the board we need people who have an earnest desire to do a good job."

A hard one to control

Monday night's fire in Lind-picture above shows firemen proved to be a stubborn one to control even when attacking from all directions. The blaze from a rooftop Watson directs the activities of his men while immediately below, firemen direct a high pressure hose on the blaze from ground level. The fire in the former Blackwell Bldg., northeast corner of Kent and Cambridge Sts., caused an estimated $750,000 damage and dislocated several business offices, apartment dwellers and a newspaper plant. A sudden roll of newspaper literally floats in the plant's doorway.

Agree in principle to accept Academy Theatre conveyance

Lindsay Council Monday night agreed in principle to accept the gift of the Academy Theatre from the Academy Theatre Foundation, subject to a satisfactory agreement that would protect the council's interests in the future.

The foundation had submitted to council a draft agreement setting out the objects of the trustees and details of the conveyance of lands and premises to the town for $1.00 a year. It was proposed that the property would then be leased back to the foundation in perpetuity, for $1.00 a year, with the town waiving taxes on the property and agreeing to apply for any government grants for the property that might be obtained.

ZELLER'S — RETAILERS TO THRIFTY CANADIANS

"The Maidens' Viewpoint"

Before I turn this column over to Fenwick for two or three weeks there are two or three things I'd like to finish up.

I have had several inquiries about this Sibbald Point Park — the people have been wondering what about the "toilets, fireplaces — already split and piled and picnic table." That isn't the way it went in but how it comes out, no one knows — the splitting referred to firewood — believe it or not you never know what happens between the typed copy and the finished product. I even read my own stuff — I never know what can happen.

I found a new place of business the other day. I've known about the place but haven't taken the time to stop in. But the way less and anyone else who may have gone by with out stopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Moody came from Thistleton and have opened a small restaurant and home baking shop. The meat pies are out of this world and the bread just melts in your mouth.

The Moody's are more than pleased with the reception they have received — in fact it keeps them baking day and night to keep up with the orders. They hope to expand and wholesale meat pies to the various district restaurants. The Moody shop is located about four miles north of Fenelon Falls on 121 almost opposite what used to be the entrance to Max Brandon's "Log Chateau".

The next time you go by this way — stop in — it will be well worth your while.

Last Saturday afternoon I spent a couple of very enjoyable hours at the Fenelon Falls outdoor art display. The showing was at "The Anchorage" — a very delightful place with a magnificent view of the falls. For years I have worked in this locality and Saturday was the first time I was able to visit and appreciate "The Anchorage" surroundings.

The interior of The Anchorage is an artist's dream and shows a great deal of skill and artistic appreciation.

I met so many people and had so many names thrown at me that I couldn't begin to remember them all.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Pellelier I hope that's spelled correctly were very gracious and welcomed their efforts to make everyone feel at home.

This group of artists, both local and outside the area, deserve a lot of credit for the work they are doing. Their exhibition was highly professional looking.

I noticed one thing — there were very few Fenelon Falls people interested enough to turn out to see this exhibition — this was their loss. The opportunity to see work of this type is not always available and it is unfortunate that when it does come so few avail themselves of the opportunity.

Well, that's about it — for the next couple of weeks at least, you are in the hands of Fenwick Finch.

It's about time — though he'd never leave. Before telling you about Cooperstown, N.Y., I'd like to tell you about last Saturday in Lindsay.

As you know Wilson Tire and Battery have moved our corner Oakwood Road and have set up shop. Outta place it is too. Their tire shop does credit to a large city.

James Fenimore Cooper made this area famous in his Leatherstocking Tales. You can easily relive them by walking along Stage Coach Lane and taking in the old buildings with tank gas — after he was and by standing at "Mt. Vie what to look for if you should finished he said — "Fenwickson" — The Leatherstocking make the visit.

The cat art director Jack Pollock is showing me at the East Central Ontario Art Association exhibition in Fenelon Falls. The product of Gordon Grove's skillful hands. Bearing a price tag of $100, the investment was a trifle higher than I was prepared to go on this occasion besides "Minerva" might have been jealous. More about the show a little later in this column.

— don't run away — there's a free draw and free coffee and free donuts! Now Reg, knew how to get my attention — there's nothing to get my attention — but nothing that stops me quicker nor interests me more than anything "free" so, I parked the car and whipped in and in spared a cup of grog and one of "Walt's donuts" also put my name in for the draw.

While finishing my coffee had quite a visit with Pete McNabb of the Radio Station — he was busy taking pictures. Was just getting ready to leave when Bob Carter came in to clear the windshield on my car.

"Say, Fenwick," he said, "How'd you like a free package of 'Folio Magazine'?" "If she free, I'm fer it," I answered.

"Well," Bob hedged, "It's not exactly free — you see this microphone — how about a short interview?"

So that's how come I got to be on the air — got a free package of mags and a microphone.

After the interview Bob jumped into his car, left me, the service station and my windshield half cleaned. It's to be hoped the young gaffer doesn't do his sky-jumping like he does the windshields on cars — she'd be a poor deal half done.

For the last part of this week let's take a little look at Cooperstown, N.Y. — The Home of Baseball!

Cooperstown is located at the foot of Otsego Lake and is a beautiful little town. The Home of Baseball! is the main theme throughout the community. A short drive below Syracuse brings you to Cooperstown.

In 1789, Judge William Cooper, father of James Fenimore Cooper, novelist and founder of Cooperstown, erected his home at the foot of Otsego Lake. It was surrounded by a few huts and stood on Main Street near the present entrance of Cooper Park and commanded full view of the Lake. The house was replaced in 1799 by Otsego Hall which was destroyed by fire in 1852.

During my visit I found the timepiece, very quiet and restful although each year it is becoming more and more commercial. Times change and a great many of the old timers I know twenty years ago have gone and their place is taken and more business-like group of people. The atmosphere is still there — only now you have to pay to enjoy it.

James Fenimore Cooper made this area famous in his Leatherstocking Tales. You can easily relive them by walking along Stage Coach Lane and taking in the old buildings with tank gas — after he was and by standing at "Mt. Vie what to look for if you should finished he said — "Fenwickson" — The Leatherstocking make the visit.

A short trip up Scenic Highway 35 over the weekend make me realize the summer season is sure past and done with. The only way you could get a cup of grog was to wait until you got home and brewed it yourself. When things close down up here they don't fool —

Sitting around the table late other night in "The Clay Pipe" room the conversation got around to a certain lodge operator — "he's his own worst enemy" — stated one of the group.

"Not as long as I'm alive", growled one of the members as he lit a cigar and settled back.

That takes care of this week about longer later? It won't be long until Amos Moosenick is on his way down south again — we didn't get as much time to visit this year but there's always next season — have a good winter Amos.

Artists rendezvous at Fenelon Falls

A night of surprises

Cut lines inside Wed 3-2 col cuts A night of surprises also Friday night was a night of surprises for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Purdey of Lindsay. Mr. Purdey, actively associated with the Royal Canadian Legion at Lindsay as sergeant-at-arms for several years and Mrs. Purdey with the Ladies Auxiliary, are leaving Lindsay shortly for Belleville. Learning of their impending departure, the Legion executive decided to mark the occasion in a special sort of way. In the bottom photo, President Jack Dames pins the Sergeant-at-Arms Medal on Mr. Purdey; in the next picture down, Zone Commander Ian Scott extends a hand of congratulations to Mr. Purdey after presenting him with the first Certificate of Merit ever issued by the Lindsay branch. In the bottom picture, Ladies Auxiliary President L. Brasher presents a gift to Mrs. Purdey.

Yelverton

Two carloads of Yelvertonians were present at the Lindsay District Co-Op's annual meeting and banquet held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall in Lindsay. A delicious hot roast beef dinner was enjoyed by members present.

Mr. Ken Wilson and Mr. Grant Yeo (Durham Counties Beef Judging team) are to be congratulated on their fine showing and came second in their class.

Mrs. Herb Taylor, of Blackstock is spending a few days with the Wilbert Malcoms. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Malcolm showed some of their coloured slides at the Janesville Presbyterian Church Bazaar at the Orange Hall. Several Yelvertonians attended the chicken supper in Nestleton and Cadmus and Bethany Church anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jackson, of Brooklin, hosted the Art Rowan's. They also attended Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grille of Columbus, 60th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Page and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stinson attended the Beef and Pork Bar-B-Que dinner in Reene Community Centre.

Group "B" makes plans for Holly Tea at meeting

The Little Britain UCW Group "B" met in the church for their Thanksgiving meeting with a fair number present. The president Mrs. Helen Palmer opened the meeting with a poem entitled "Plant Yourself a Garden" followed with the singing of a hymn and prayer. The roll call was answered by members present, and the treasurer's report given. Mrs. Doris Griggs had a lovely display of the new books on hand. Mrs. Doris Mason gave an interesting reading on Community Friendship. All were reminded of the preview of new films that would be on display at Cambridge St. United Church. The Holy Tea was discussed and convocations for the different groups were appointed. The turkey supper was discussed and final arrangements made. A jewellery demonstration was discussed, but no plans made at the present. Mrs. Allison Little and her group opened the Worship Service with the theme being "With Grateful Hearts", followed with the singing of a hymn. The scripture reading was read by Mrs. Muriel Cornell. All joined in prayer beginning with "We Thank Thee." The offering was taken by Mrs. Doreen Taylor and dedicated by Miss Elva Gorrill. A very enjoyable solo was given by Mrs. Beryl Little. Mrs. Allison Little gave the benediction. Mrs. Muriel Cornell gave an interesting reading entitled "Let us Come Before His presence". Mrs. Beryl Tannin gave a Thanksgiving reading entitled "The God Who Goes Before". Mrs. Little closed with prayer.

A contest in connection with Thanksgiving was enjoyed by all and a delicious lunch was served by the group.

Lindsay cemetery superintendent accepts position at Belleville

Thomas Purdy, former superintendent and secretary of the Lindsay Cemetery Board, has resigned and will take up new duties as superintendent of the Belleville Cemetery Company commencing in November, he informed "The Post" today.

Mr. Purdy came to Lindsay from Saskatchewan in 1951, being appointed to his former position in 1952. He said that he and his family had made numerous friends during his stay here and regretted leaving, but felt the new position held "a terrific challenge" and promised "considerable scope".

He was an active member of the Canadian Legion (Sgt.-at-Arms) and of St. Paul's Anglican Church. He was also secretary of McArthur's School S. S. No. 6.

Mr. Purdy's successor is his former farmer, Kenneth

THOMAS PURDY

Blackburn of Argyle, who was with the board since 1953.

Mr. Blackburn will take over the duties of superintendent, assisted by Mrs. Blackburn who will act in the capacity of secretary.

Queen St. home gutted in Sunday night fire

A fire, believed to have started from a overheated water heater, completely gutted the two-storey inside frame home of Duncan, 1545 Queen St., Sunday night.

Firemen were called to the scene around 10:30 p.m. and worked for over an hour bringing the fire under control.

One Thomas Surpren and Don O'Neill — was treated at the Ross Memorial Hospital for cuts received from broken glass and a radio newsmen and fire standing nearby was drenched by a hose that inadvertently came loose.

Mrs. Dagnies told "The Post" that prior to the fire she had hung out some washing and had gone to visit her mother-in-law next door to wait for her husband to return from his work. A neighbor came in and told her of the fire, she said.

Mr. Dagnies said he had received the call at the Millbrook performance where he is a guard and immediately returned home.

"That was one of the fastest fires I ever had," he commented.

A considerable amount of clothing and other articles were badly smoked and fire damaged, he said, and the property only partly insured.

The fire was kept confined to the house, said the fire chief, and nearby homes were undamaged.

Mrs. R. Preston speaks on "Hong Kong" at UCW meeting

Bethany (PNS)—The United Church Women met in the School House Hall for their October meeting with Mrs. Thomas Jennings presiding.

Mrs. Herb Coppins had charge of the worship service of hymns, prayers, scripture reading, all with a "Hong Kong" theme. The offering was received by Mrs. Bruce Ryler. Mrs. Ross Davidson gave the financial report. Minutes and correspondence which included thanks from Mr. and Mrs. James McKinnon and Mrs. Eileen Wilson were read by secretary Mrs. Addison Scott. Mrs. Jennings reported having attended the Church Official Board meeting and that a visitation of all members to create new interest was planned. It was decided to forgo the usual Ford Surpren and that instead, letters would be sent out asking for cash donations. Members were asked to contribute savings coupons and purchase of additional pitchers for the church kitchen.

Mrs. Ralph Preston had charge of the study period and told of an interesting manner of life in Hong Kong. She said "This British Colony of some 398 square miles has a 99% Chinese population, with an English Governor. It is one of the few territories in the world that retains both free enterprise and free trade. Its major industry is textiles and they have up to date spinning mills and looms. It is also a ship building center and has a plan of contrast with its natural beauty of scenery, with its winding hill roads overlooking dark and crowded tenements. A busy business counterpointed by the incessant call of Mahjong, with its delicate food and tempting shops and its hungry homeless children, with its perennial tragedy and its spontaneous gaiety.

Cattle rustlers reported working Sunderland area

Sunderland (PNS)—Cattle rustling was reported to have broken out in this district again. A steer reportedly was taken from a ranch behind West Brock Church on the Brock Road. The head and hide were found in the brush on the west corner of Brock Township in the swamp east of the Vroomanot. Church.

Annual bazaar discussed at October meeting

Onenome (PNS)—Christ Church W.A. held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Baldwin. Mrs. Cornwall read the scripture and Mrs. A. W. Stepien discussed some of the copies from the Anglican Canon. Plans were made to attend the Annual Danbury meeting in Bobcaygeon. An invitation was received from Trinity U.C.W. to visit Miss Ward Wilson and plan the annual bazaar will be held in November and committees will meet later this month. The rectory announced the parish Little Helpers service.

Woman troubles from moving truck

Lindsay (OPP)—Sundays on highway 35, called the moving truck. The truck was found to have fallen out of a moving vehicle. Mrs. Alberto Calvert of the Sunday school, reported that the Memorial hospital but released after examination.

The rectory of the truck was driven by David of RRI Peterboro.

The accident happened around 5:10 p.m.

Sunderland

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barnett of Toronto were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Martin. The couple were in the hospital. Mr. Dobie is a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

62 art association members register for Fenelon exhibit

Perfect autumn weather attracts many to Anchorage House painting weekend

Perfect autumn weather provided an added incentive for artists and art lovers to rendezvous at Fenelon Falls over the weekend.

Sixty-two members of the East Central Ontario Art Association had registered by Saturday afternoon for the two-day fall painting and outdoor art exhibition at Anchorage House overlooking beautiful Fenelon Falls.

Artists and viewers were present from many parts of the province including a good representation from the Lindsay region. Fenelon Falls, Coburn area. President Robert Marshall of Orillia and Secretary Rose M. Baker of Peterborough were enthusiastic about the success of the event. Mr. Marshall recalled that the association started out with a membership of about 35-40 representing three clubs and has grown to the point where upwards of 200 are now.

Started through the Community Programs Branch, Ontario Dept. of Education, Mr. Marshall explains that the East

Recreation Directors Meet

Central Art Association is now entirely self supporting. Two art exhibits are held yearly and the showing points are on a rotation basis among member units. The spring showing was at Picton.

Art instructor at the Fenelon Falls event was distinguished Toronto artist Jack Pollock who circulated among the numerous artists who had signed up on the spacious lawn of the Anchorage House. The setting, he said, was ideal offering a wide variety of subject material.

Although the exhibit was primarily of art work, an interesting wood carving item from Gordon Gordon of Bancroft was on display and caught the eye of many visitors. Called "Friskey Feline," it bore a price tag of $100.

Hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Pelletier, owners of Anchorage House. Mr. Pelletier being an artist of achievement. Mr. Pelletier said the venture, although not originally conceived as such, was developing into a centre for the arts of its own volition.

Goes for swim in Sturgeon as October mercury soars

Jimmy Grills of Lindsay may find some kind of a record for late swimming this year.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Grills, he took to the water at Sturgeon Harbour (Sturgeon Lake) on Saturday at the peak of the late October heat wave.

Other flash-baths to the good old summertime which Grills found to take the place of the re-appearance of shorts, boats and sunbathers.

First Certificate of Merit presented at Legion ceremony

The first Legion Certificate of Merit ever issued by the Sir Sam Hughes Branch was presented to retiring Sgt.-at-Arms Thomas Purdy at a Saturday night ceremony at the Lindsay Legion Hall. Zone Commander Ian Scott made the presentation on behalf of the branch, complimenting Comrade Purdy on his contribution to the organization.

Prior to the Certificate of Merit award, branch president Jack James spoke eloquently of Mr. Purdy's service and presented him with a Sgt.-at-Arms Medal.

It was an evening of presentations in which the Ladies Auxiliary to the branch participated. President, Bessie presented gifts to both Mr. and Mrs. Purdy. These included a gift to Mrs. Purdy.

Got a buck but damage 60 bucks

Elmer Marchuk of Oshawa got a buck over the weekend but it was unintentional and he was neither hunting or carrying a gun.

Police say Mr. Marchuk was driving north on highway 35 near the CKLY radio tower around 7:40 p.m. Sunday evening when the deer ran in front of his car.

He swung out to try and miss it and was involved in a minor collision with a car driven by Wayne Hutchinson of Lindsay.

Property damage was minor, about $60, but the animal died, said police.

Estimated 800 attend "Oprry" break even

About 800 enthusiastic spectators enjoyed the Grand Ole Opry stars who came to the Lindsay Recreation Centre on Saturday night. "A good show" and "most enjoyable" were two of many reports heard on the show brought to town by the Lindsay Lions Club.

RIGHT IN OUR OWN BACKYARD

Sometimes in our pursuit of something we tend to overlook the obvious... often it's right in our own back yard.

On Saturday morning, while taking a quick junket around the expansive new Lindsay lake type sewage disposal system, we noticed another vehicle approaching and, desiring information relative to the system, waved it down thinking it would be bearing construction company news. Much to our surprise, it wasn't but those in the car volunteered some information which should be of interest to all amateur naturalists and perhaps those interested in conservation projects.

It was pointed out that the car was over from Peterborough on a bird-watching trip and had made a special jaunt out to the lagoons, having been advised by Gus Yaki (Lindsay's well known bird expert) to be well rewarded for their efforts. They said that birds there in the lagoons were well populated or frequented by shore birds. It was their belief that Lindsay could easily find its lagoons system a popular place among bird watchers of which there is an ever-increasing number today.

They were somewhat concerned about the fencing of the lagoons, not from the standpoint of the fencing itself but for fear it would make access to good viewing vantage points of birds difficult.

We may have something right in our own back yard which wasn't conceived when the order to proceed with the lagoons type sewage plant was issued... the making of a first rate bird-watching area. Lindsay could take this matter and develop it with that end in view. It is conceivable that it could prove to be quite an attraction.

In closing, we might note for the benefit of those who suspect that the treatment system is being paid for out of the mill, nothing could be further from the truth. There isn't any doubt and the lagoons are actually attractive to look at. They'll be even more so when landscaping is completed.

A REAL EYE-OPENER

People attending the opening phase of the big three-day public auction at the former Canadian Arminals Ltd. plant in Lindsay got a real eye-opener. If they went there expecting to find a broken down bunch of obsolete equipment, they were wrong. Lindsay's representatives didn't appear to be in a bad way. Virtually all of it was in excellent condition, some of it as good as new, and still more brand new except for the time lapse between the date of purchase and the date of the auction.

We can all recall being told that much of the equipment in the plant was obsolete and unsuitable for the needs of industry today but this would seem to apply only to the needs of a government-operated industry, because private industrialists and machinery representatives didn't appear to regard it as such. When it came to listing heavy units such as automatic screw machines, lathes, presses and so forth, buyers snapped them up quickly at the prices indicated.

It was apparent from talking with some of the buyers that they considered this auction a bonanza from the standpoint of equipment value and many were downright enthusiastic about the prices they were offered. One buyer said he saw as much as $17,000 into a piece of machinery if it is hopelessly obsolete... scrap metal isn't commanding that good a price.

One thing which impressed sale spectators was the fact that word of this sale had really got around. One man was in Texas on business when he learned of it and immediately left for Lindsay to attend. Others came from various parts of Canada and the United States.

Viewers of the equipment and observers of the eagerness with which it was sought after at prices ranging up to 50 per cent of its original value, were left wondering why the owners of this plant were selling their equipment. It was estimated that the plant had a value of $150,000 worth of equipment, parts, furnishings, etc., were sold and those who considered themselves competent to assess the situation, were of the opinion that the arsenal's purchasers would come out of the deal with a profit in the equipment sale alone and the property would be a bonus.

It was, as some of the plant's former employees remarked "sad to see" a once humming center of industry still and some of the finest machinery money could buy being sold in blocks of equipment for pennies on the dollar or settled in such things. The future of the plant is now the town's major concern, at least from the standpoint of its working force. In this respect there was a ray of hope emanating from the quarters of the town's new owners of the prospect industry being brought to occupy the premises. Probably not one industry for the whole plant but perhaps a collection of smaller industries. This hope came with the disclosure that the town is to be a major center of the pulp and paper industry. This should not be interpreted to mean any immediate development is likely but it does at least tend to discredit reports that the plant itself would be converted to salvage.

Those interested in industrial promotion for Lindsay are no doubt making themselves conspicuous by their presence at the auction which is being attended by many heads of state as well as equipment dealers. They may do so with a fair amount of success. If they do not, the fact that they were there and spreading the gospel could lead to other contacts.

COMPULSORY RETIREMENTS

Attention has again been focused on the subject of compulsory retirements, this time in Lindsay with the announced retirement of former police constable John Peterson. Peterson, who was 65 years of age, was being retired by the town, based primarily on the chronological factor and without regard to the individual's ability to continue to perform his duties efficiently, is natural. In the case at hand, the retirement is in keeping with the Ontario attorney-general's departmental policy and, apart from slight exceptions, apparently little can be done to prevent the operation of the automatic retirement and replacement routine.

Pre-determining the age a person shall lay down the "tools of his trade" has always seemed too mandatory to be fair and a strange deviation from the rights of the individual to function as an individual. For example, 70 may be an ideal age for some people to retire and they may welcome it for a variety of reasons. It may be too young for others who find themselves vigorous and more interested in pursuing their careers than in accepting the relative inactivity of retirement.

Retirement, it would seem, should be determined more on the merits of the individual case than on a blanket policy which may put valuable men out of service before they are ready or should be retired. It takes a lot of living to gain a lot of experience and yet we persist in building artificial barriers against the utilization of experienced hands. This is probably the greatest inconsistency of life's many inconsistencies.

VISION OBSERVED

The recommendation of a coroner's jury, enquiring into the death of a Reabro boy, serves to focus attention on the need for brush control along our roads, particularly along highways where traffic converges on traffic congested areas. The jury's verdict has recommended that brush and trees be more rigidly controlled along our highways. Whether or not the recommendation will be acted upon is another matter but there are numerous reasons why such control is so important. It is needed in the interests of public safety. That more serious accidents do not occur at any of our rural intersections where brush obscures vision is attributable more to good luck and driver care than to good conditions. A project such as brush control would probably qualify for assistance to the municipality under the federal-provincial Winter Works Program and can be carried out equally as well in winter as at any other season.

We have often heard that one of the unfortunate things about inquests is the fact that half a dozen men devote their time to trying to arrive at the cause of fatal accidents, bring in recommendations which might spare lives, and then the case is closed. It is a waste of time, anything about it. Failure to act upon a jury's suggestion for improving a hazardous condition defeats one of the main purposes of holding an inquest.

ASSESSMENT INCREASES

The assessment increase in Fenelon Township which drew a protest meeting a few days ago are no novelty in Victoria County — they have been in progress in other parts of the county for months, yes, several years. Fenelon Township rates are the highest in the county when the spectre of higher taxes suddenly loomed up before them. This, of course, is pretty typical of the human element today — everything's fine as long as it's the other fellow who is feeling the pinch but when it strikes home... oh dear.

While the assessment increase is part of a county and provincial-wide equalization program to distribute the property tax load equally as possible, it is seldom considered with open arms and there are good reasons that higher assessment doesn't necessarily mean higher taxes. People have found that although the prospect of higher assessment bringing a lower mill rate (as it frequently does) — and more money for the schools — always works out. Some people are bound to have to pay more because their assessment increase more than offsets any mill rate reduction.

The tax assessment, as has been noted, is to bring about an even distribution of the tax load but there is only one sure way to get a genuine reduction in taxes — reduce demands for municipal services... cut municipal spending. The greater the demand for services, the greater the cost to the rate payer and the more it is going to have to get from someone — generally the property owner — to meet the bills... It follows as the day follows the night.

Perhaps if ratepayers would organize to explore the possibility of cutting municipal costs, they would get quicker, more tangible results than by simply protesting for the sake of protesting.

Reports and Remarks...

TYPICAL "STUMPERS"

Come, an assessment? May the chairman vote in favour of a motion on a vote? Is the treasurer permitted to make his own report? These are typical stumblers faced by the chairman of thousands of meetings every year in Canada — and more than the questions discussed in a new booklet, "How to Conduct a Meeting".

Issued by the Chairmen of Canada, the 12-page booklet is based on extensive research into parliamentary procedure and draws on the experience of internationally accepted authorities as Bourque, Ross, Frisby and others. Inquiries previous to preparation of the text showed that a surprisingly small number of people involved in meetings were fully aware of the accepted rules of procedure and debate.

Sections of the book deal with such topics as duties of the chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer; setting up the agenda, motions and voting procedures, notice of motion, points of order and formalities. The duties of the chairman is the most extensive section, and it is felt that a good chairman is the key to a good meeting.

"The chairman," it says in part, "must maintain his (or her) good humor... must demonstrate character, humanity, amiability, friendship, consideration and tact. The chairman is the guide only... He is not the big wheel, the oil for the entire machinery. The booklet, it is said, is the preface note, is aimed at associations, clubs, women's organizations, school councils and similar organizations, and is available without charge by writing to The Council of Canada, 42 Charles St. East, Toronto 5, Ont.

Mrs. L. Hutton, district president speaks at Oakwood WI meet

Oakwood (PNS) — The Oakwood Women's Institute held its monthly meeting of the W.I. was held in the community hall, Oakwood.

In the absence of the president, the first vice-president, Mrs. L. Hutton, presided over the second vice-president, Mrs. Howard Grills had charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Grills expressed her pleasure having so many members present, also the district president, Mrs. Hutton and several other visitors. She read a poem, "How to Live."

The usual business and communications were read. Several items of business were discussed. Mrs. H. Stroud reported on the district meeting. The district afternoon social in Lindsay was discussed and the Oakwood members are to bring sandwiches.

Mrs. Hutton the district president, was then introduced by lunch.

Beaverton "vote no" committee feel victory chances good

The "vote no" committee opposing the coming liquor vote in Beaverton is "girding its loins" and preparing for a fight. The committee, headed by J. A. Hawtin, "The Post" said: "We have been holding regular weekly meetings over the past six weeks to discuss 'and feel we stand a pretty good chance of getting a 'no' vote."

A letter and literature has been mailed to all voters in the area," he said, "and those unable to get out to vote themselves have been contacted by mail to see if they need transportation." Beaverton residents are to vote Wednesday, October 30.

DEEP FREEZE FOR HEART OPERATION

It seems contradictory that when accidental exposure to extreme cold can be dangerous, surgeons sometimes greatly lower a patient's body temperature in order to operate on the heart.

The Ontario Heart Foundation explains that "hypothermia" — the doctors' term for low temperature — induced a state in the patient like animal hibernation. It slows down all vital processes and greatly reduces the body's need for oxygen and the heart can be stopped long enough for the surgeon to do his work. And, he can do it under direct vision and in a "dry field," observing and correcting defects in the heart directly by the light of the heart were flooded with blood and pumping at its usual rate.

"PUT THINGS IN PERSPECTIVE"

There is a motto: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference." This motto is applicable to the problem of tuberculosis in our communities. It is a problem that can be defeated and is being defeated, but the efforts of the community are being hampered by the misguided individuals who fail to be X-rayed. While they wait for cancer and heart trouble, they fail to account to tuberculosis though it is indisputably true that more can be done to prevent and cure TB than either of these.

That the course of tuberculosis can be effected is proved. The death rate in Ontario in 1900 was 160 per 100,000, now it is less than five. To those who are afraid, you have more to fear by not being X-rayed. Early discovery means early recovery and almost certain cure when the disease is not too advanced.

That improvement is being hampered is also proved. One third of those eligible do not bother to attend chest X-ray surveys. Many people over 40 years of age have never been X-rayed. The result is a sustained incidence of the disease. More Ontario people are going to sanatoria than in 10 years ago.

The answer is not contained in facilities. The number of X-ray machines in the province has expanded yearly. Physicians have chest X-ray facilities. The government has installed machines in 137 of our major hospitals. Referenced clinics operate free of charge to the patients in 160 Ontario communities. The health community populations, special consideration is provided for industries with an occupational hazard, such as mines and foundries, and this service includes chest X-rays.

Yet tuberculosis remains the chief killer among communicable diseases and 10% of those who die are diagnosed shortly before they succumb to death. In addition, of the 3,500 victims of the disease who enter sanatoria every year 70% have moderately or far advanced disease.

The answer is contained in the attitude of the public.

There is to be another free clinic opportunity for all ages of all vicinity. All of us should affirm, "God grant me the courage to change the things I can and the sanity to take courage."

Central Sr. wins minor challenge cup

Central Senior Public School won the Lindsay Minor Soccer League challenge cup after a hard fought game with St. Mary's with a 5-1 victory Friday.

Score was tied 1-1 at the first half. However, in the second half the bigger, stronger Central Senior team gained the ascendancy and scored four unanswered goals.

David Tate, Centre half, gave Central School an early lead when he ended a clever approach play in finding the net. Michael Clarke evaded the score shortly before the half.

James Matheson, Clare Parcells, Wayne Oliver and Antonio Parcells scored in the second half. The Central Sr. team's last year won the trophy after Central Seniors had held it for three years.

New name chosen at second meeting

Reabro (PNS) — The Girls 4-H Homecoming Club will now be known for this unit as "The Reabro Woodlarks". They were formerly known as the "Reabro Easy Bees". The new name was chosen at the second meeting which was held at the home of the assistant leader, Mrs. Victor Sloan with a full attendance of members.

The meeting opened with "O' Canada" and the girls recited the 4-H Pledge. The president, Catherine Littlejohn was in the chair for the business meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Monica Wilkner.

Various types of weaves plain and twill were discussed and explained by the leader, Mrs. Dave Milling. She also discussed the types of patterns suitable for different figures. The girls studied the use of the patterns and various kinds of fabric to determine their choice.

Mrs. Sloan demonstrated the art of lengthening and shortening a skirt pattern and the boys of a jumper. The girls will buy a pattern, material and seam binding and lining and have it ready for the next meeting so they can come out to make either a skirt or jumper which is required of them in this unit.

Following the meeting a tasty snack was served by the hostess which the girls enjoyed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Shirley and Linda Norton.

TIMELY TIPS

Before baking potatoes, rub the skin with butter. Potatoes done this way have a tender and extra flavoured skin.

Looking for "teen party food" that is sure to please and satisfy? Macdonald Institute has a couple of these suggestions for hot sandwiches, using warmed hamburger rolls. Try broiled minced steak, topped with cheese and a thin slice of raw apple. Or try hot chicken slices topped with undiluted cream of mushroom soup and finely chopped, raw celery. Broil until bubbly.

New potatoes, boiled and served in their skins, provide half of the day's supply of Vitamin C. Cook these potatoes in a small amount of boiling water and serve them immediately to avoid loss of the vitamin.

Buttermilk has food value as well as tangy refreshing flavor. Nutritionists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, claim that buttermilk has the same food value as the milk from which it is made. This means buttermilk contains calcium, riboflavin and protein.

COOKING HINTS

For gelatin in orange salad. Cut top third off oranges; scoop out fruit. Prepare orange-flavored gelatin according to package directions, using orange juice as part of liquid. Chill till partially set, add fruit. Chill in shallow pan till firm. Cut in cubes; pile in shells. Top with orange sections.

For whole-kernel creamed corn. Cut corn from cob, holding knife at an easy angle; now scrape cob. In skillet put 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1½ cups cut corn (about 5 ears), ½ cup light cream, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and dash pepper. Cover; simmer 6 to 10 minutes (stir occasionally).

To unmold gelatin salad or dessert. Dip mold to rim in warm water for a few seconds. Loosen edge with tip of knife. Pick up mold and tilt it; with your hand, ease gelatin away from one side to let air in, the rotate mold so air can loosen gelatin all around. Place plate upside down over mold; invert; lift mold off.

Let salad-meat shred carrots. These cooked carrots are a treat: Heat 3 tablespoons salad oil, butter, or margarine in skillet; add 4 cups coarsely shredded raw carrots (about 9 carrots), 4 cup sliced green onions, ½ teaspoon salt. Cover; cook 5 to 7 minutes or till crisp-tender. Top with snappets of parsley.

Whip gelatin for a fluffy dessert. Prepare gelatin mixture as package directs. Chill till slightly thicker than unbeaten egg white. Whip with electric or rotary beater till light and airy like whipped cream. Mound into sherbet glasses and chill until set. Trim with berries or other fruit.

Slip potato skins the easy way. This tip helps you remove jackets from hot potatoes without burning your fingers. Score the raw potatoes around the centre with the point of your knife. Cook covered in boiling water till done. Spear each spud with a fork in the score mark, and start peeling like Watson.

Many types of pressurized cologne dispensers have a flat side, which makes them ideally suited for use as wall-hung bud vases. After you're sure all pressure is completely gone from the bottle, pull off the metal cap with pliers. Make a simple shelf and bracket, and attach this to the wall to hold your new vase.

Slip-Proof Cutting Board Sometimes a small kitchen cutting board slips and slides around on a slick table or counter top — and this can be dangerous. To prevent this sliding, cement a pair of preserving jar rings to the bottom of the board.

Copper Cleaning Clean copper items with a lemon rubbed with salt. Don't use steel wool on copper or steel particles may possibly become embedded in the copper and later rust.

Kaasa-Coutles Nuptials

St. James-Road United Church, Avenue Road, Toronto, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the evening of September 2, 1983, when Margaret Kaasa-Coutles, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coutles, of Whingham, Ontario, and Charles Kaasa, former of Edmonton, Alberta, son of Mr. George Kaasa, of Minnesota USA were united in marriage.

The Rev. D. M. Denison, B.D., performed the ceremony. The bride wore a traditional white, high-collared, long-sleeved gown with a full skirt and a long train. The groom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a red tie.

The bride's bouquet was a mix of white and pink flowers. The groom's boutonniere was a single white rose. The wedding party included the bride's mother, the groom's mother, and several bridesmaids and groomsmen.

The reception was held at the same church. There was a buffet dinner and dancing. The bride and groom were the center of attention throughout the evening.

sumed the duties of the bride's mother, who was in pale blue silk brocade with a black velvet belt and a black veil. She opened her home for the bridal party.

The reception was held in the church parlor where the wedding party received. Refreshments were served in buffet style from a long love-cake table. Mrs. Lovely, one of the bridesmaids, was the toastmaster.

Evidence almost in direct conflict

Jury brings in "no blame" verdict in death of Reahoro cyclist

A coroner's jury last week found no negligence on the part of the cyclist or the motorist at an inquest into the death of 15-year-old Leonard Reahoro, who died following a collision between a bicycle and a car.

The five-man jury deliberated for more than an hour before bringing in the verdict which recommended that a brush and trees be more rigidly controlled on all highways.

Investigating OPP Const. D. Reeds testified he had been called to the scene of the accident around 9.30 a.m. the morning of August 30 and his investigation revealed that the driver of the car-Larry Parkin, of Reahoro-had applied his brakes and swerved for the cyclist's car.

Mr. Bill Davis, also of Maynooth who also spoke a few words.

The newsways will reside at 85 Gamble Ave. Apt. 212, Toronto 6.

Mrs. Anna Flaangin, of Winthrop, sister of the groom, was present also guests from Lake St. Peter, Maynooth, Brinsford, Calvin Kirk, United Church, Bellevue, Plinton, and several other guests.

Mrs. Kaasa is widely known in the district having resided at the Seagrave Parsonage for one year and also employed as a nurse at the hospital with an office at 290 Queen St. W., Toronto.

Mrs. Edward Green, who assisted the bride, was also present.

Decision to allocate Weldon bequest to graduates on a point system Dammed again

Considerable discussion accompanied the decision of the Victoria County High School Area Board to allocate the proceeds of the Weldon bequest to all graduates of LCVI and Fenelon High School on a point system.

Finance Committee Chairman Bruce Maidens, in giving the report, explained that the distribution of available money would be calculated in the fall and would be based on the number of students then attending schools of higher learning. These students would receive points as follows: Graduates attending university 10 points; graduates attending Technical Institutes (as Ryerson) 7 points; graduates attending Nurses' Colleges 5 points. The idea of the plan is that everyone will get something providing they persevere through their studies. If the student does not continue his education he will receive nothing, irrespective of marks achieved.

Mr. Maidens, using hypothetical figures, explained how the plan works. If the total available as of October was $35,000 and 34 attended university each would receive about $1,000 based on the number of students allocated to them. The technical school attendees would get $280 and Teacher's College students and Nurses' trainees would receive about $120, just for the first year. These figures are based on the number of graduates in each category.

Five of 11 Grade 10 classes taking vocational courses

LCVI Principal William Brees last night gave Victoria County High School Area Board a report on the attending students already had advanced with the other scholarships available.

This is not designed for this purpose as it was said Chairman Maidens.

Mrs. Thomson said he believed the board would also recognize various level of university as it costs much more to train as a doctor, than it did to take an arts course.

Cafeteria space at a premium, board learns

Space is at a premium in the LCVI cafeteria. Indeed Principal William Brees when he asked the Victoria County Area High School Board to permit the purchase of another 20 seats for the stage which is capable of seating more people.

At present the collegiate have two lunch periods and the alternative is to expand to three periods or provide more seats.

Mr. Brees suggested that the board pay for the new seats out of next year's budget but Secretary-Treasurer J. Stanley Dix said the board would not spend the principle of spending next year's budget a poor one.

It was decided to take tables and chairs from the cafeteria and make

Haliburton County's first water system almost complete

The first water system to be installed in Haliburton County is nearing completion. According to Reeve Lawrence Pritchard of Minden, the town can expect to have the new waterworks in operation in about three weeks' time.

The Gill River was dammed a second time just south of the Minden bridge in order to lay the second water-pipe link in the bed of the river, to unite both sides of the town.

Pritchard says that the only thing holding them up now is delivery of the pump from the United States. "If we had the

by "the observer"

"The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." From time immemorial, in peace and in war, the glory of great deeds and valiant leadership has been bestowed upon the male sex. For a long, long time the female sex was supposed to find her glory in the home. As untrained men had this to say on the daily routine of the farmer's wife:

No woman leads a busier life than who is a farmer's wife; She's up at dawn to greet the sun.

The day before her tasks are done.

A dozen useful skills she knows

She cooks for hungry men and sews

She sweeps and dusts and milks the cows

And takes them to the field to browse.

From springing until the leaves are bare

Two offenders are her constant care

And one for true, the other for her

For here there are no restful hours

'Tis hers to gather up the eggs

To hang the dairy pans on pegs

To know before she goes to bed

The stock is watered, strawed and fed

On Sunday, trim as silver

She leads the children into church.

On Monday, with the breakfast

The family wash is hers to do.

When sickness strikes, or injury

Is done, nurse and doctor she Will call.

Sometimes a mason's work she'll do,

And carpentry and plumbing too.

When autumn comes some help she'll need

The busy threshing crew to feed.

Three seasons through, without a stop,

She can a part of every crop.

Until her cellar room becomes

A vault of cheeses, pears and apples.

And how she does so much, so well.

Only a farmer's wife can tell.

Well, with the car, the automobile and electricity, a lot of this routine for the farmers' wife has also changed. The country roads in the more remote parts of our province, the farmer's wife has to travel some 40 miles to the towns enjoyed by her city cousins. It was the dream of Sir Adam Beck to put

Ontario on one highway to travel some of our back concession roads to see this energy carried along to their end. The use of this energy has completely changed the picture of life on the farm. It is a far cry from the candle of the past to the electric lights of the common today.

Miss Lorna Cornell speaks at Victoria H & S meeting

Victoria Home and School Association held their October meeting in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Francis Cannon, President, called on Mrs. G. K. Garding to open the meeting by playing "O Canada". The Lord's Prayer in unison followed and Mrs. N. Jasson read the Association Creed.

The minutes of the September meeting were read and adopted and the treasurer's report given.

Monitors reported showed Mrs. Mary Barkwell's room had most parents present at the meeting.

Mrs. L. Miner installed as executive members, Mrs. Des. Neale and Mrs. Jim Lever. It was decided to hold a bowtying and gift wrapping demonstration in November. Those present also decided to have a coffee and dessert party on the same night.

Mrs. W. V. Pringle introduced the speaker for the evening, Miss Lorna Cornell. Mrs. Cornell is the head of the Guidance Department at the University of Toronto and has given a most interesting outline of her staff's work in trying to make each child feel at ease in his school and to prepare that child to make a wise choice for the future.

Mrs. Des Neale thanked the speaker on behalf of all members.

The meeting closed with the singing of The Queen, after which refreshments were served.

Defective oil burner fouls up Dunstond church furnishings

A team of five men working for four days are still cleaning up the thick oily deposit left over every inch of St. John's Anglican Church at Dunstond by a defective oil heater.

Rev. George Meades, of Bobcaygeon, says it will take at least another week to clean up the church. "It is hard at present to estimate damage, until cleaning is completed."

Those who do not know why whether our pipe organ has suffered at all.

The dustal curtain behind the altar has had to be cleaned and some prayer and hymn books are irreparably damaged.

The faulty heater was discovered when the caretaker opened the door of the church and found it filled with black oily smoke.

The fire brigade, called from the fire shed from Bobcaygeon and the firemen took the heater out on to the church lawn, but it had caused a lot of work and inconvenience at the church.

Propose "industrial park" for former arsenal site

"serious" enquiries

"Our intentions are to develop an industrial park on the former arsenal property and we have some very serious enquiries, both Canadian and European as well as local people," said Joseph Hoyer, managing director of Harry Homeyer and Sons of Montreal who were auctioneers of the contents of the buildings.

"We have been well received by the officials in the town," said Mr. Homeyer, "and we have been well received by the mayor and by the industrial commissioner, and they have promised us their co-operation."

Mr. Homeyer said they would be prepared to spend money if necessary to help develop the property into an "industrial park" to suit the incoming tenants and might use the 40 acres as housing if the town zoning plan permitted. He said that he had yet looked into the zoning question with regard to housing.

The sale, which concluded early on Friday evening, was a "hard and fair sale" and most of the equipment and machinery was sold to Canadian and U.S. dealers and others. "Much equipment was obsolete and therefore didn't sell well," said Mr. Homeyer.

On the first day of the sale 350 attended; 250 on the second day and about 125 on the third day up to supper time. Certain equipment in the arsenal building will not be sold (like lights, cranes, etc.) but will be retained to make it easy for prospective tenants.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Keeler celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keeler, of Sunderland, recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at the home of Mrs. Keeler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Black of Manilla. The immediate families being present.

Twenty-six sat down to dinner. The bride and groom table was beautifully decorated and centered with a three-tier wedding cake. After everyone had partaken of the delicious dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Keeler were presented with a dinner set of China for eight and a lovely swivel rocker by the family.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Keeler were entertained at a party in Manilla community hall where friends and neighbours gathered to honor the couple, dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours.

They then were asked to take the chairs at the front and Mrs. Keeler read the address and they were presented with an electric toaster and tea kettle and several other lovely gifts from friends and relatives.

After both making suitable replies and thanking everyone for gifts the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing after which lunch was served.

Everyone enjoyed the happy occasion.

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

SO SHE SCREAMED AT THE CHILDREN

Sometimes ago I published a letter here from a Mrs. X, who was greatly concerned about and angry at a neighbor who was always screaming at her children. You may be interested in this letter received today:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Perhaps Mrs. X will be more tolerant when she reads the other side of the story. Not too long ago in a nearby city a young mother of two killed herself and her two children. The neighbors said of her, "She kept to herself and she screamed at her children all the time."

The grateful note left by the mother said: "I am tired-tired of trying and failing-tired of nobly caring."

Her neighbors didn't follow up their awareness of her troubles with any friendly help. It would have been too much of a strain on their dignity, I suppose. It was easier to sit home and criticize until the tragedy happened.

CARE ABOUT THE MOTHER TOO

My comment to Mrs. X. is this: If you care about children, care about the mother too. In your mind try to imagine her as one of those two little girls of hers grown up.

With her screaming and beating she exhibits indications of an unhealthy mind. Not insanity, just poor breeding in control and language. She is probably more unhappy about her treatment of her children than you are, Mrs. X. If you have any constructive advice that can help her keep a better house, take better care of her children, plan her day for her so she has time to do something she likes, give her that advice. Don't it coldly. Be diplomatic. She won't like. Be sincerely interested and friendly.

Teach her something new that you know how to do. Give her a recipe, teach her to knit, play bridge, sew—anything that will stimulate her mind and help her accomplish something successfully. Watch her children for her an hour or two a week. If you have a heart to really help, then try to get at the root of the problem. That mother has problems you can't imagine until you find out. Sincerely, Screaming Meeeee.

Happy birthday made possible after all

It was a happy birthday for all for Mr. A.E. Webster of Oakwood.

Scheduled to celebrate his 90th birthday on Sunday (October 13), Mr. Webster was forced to enter hospital at Lindsay earlier in the week but modern medicine made it possible for him to be out in time for the occasion. He was able to have his birthday dinner with his family at noon on Sunday with all members around him. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Byres (Pearl) of Kenmore, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. D.C. McEachern (Lena) of Wellsville, Mr. and Mrs. E.G. O'Neill of Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. R.W. McEachern and children, Bobby and Sharon of Milton.

A few friends called in the afternoon but the afternoon and evening reception was cancelled.

Mr. Webster is improving in health each day since his return from hospital.

ACCIDENTS: WE ASK FOR THEM

We ask for it, and sometimes we are unfortunate enough to get it. I speak of accidents. I came upon one at an intersection today a few minutes after it happened.

It didn't seem like much. The couple involved appeared to be in their 70's. She was being driven. She tried to turn on a busy street, lost control of her car, and smashed head-on into a pole. I was told she wasn't going more than 15 to 20 miles an hour. But the front of the car was entirely caved in, and the steering wheel had been battered into a mishapen mass by the driver's chest (or vice versa).

Police were there giving first aid; then the ambulance came. They took her in a stretcher, and he was able to walk to the ambulance his face cut up (glass).

As accidentists go it wasn't much. But it goes to prove that you don't have to be driving very fast to be in the hospital. I looked at the front seats. Each was draped with a safety belt.

"Were they wearing them?" I asked the officer.

He smiled knowingly, shrugged his shoulders, shook his head and said, "Uh, uh."

Now don't go up to my car and say, "Weren't they foolish!" Before you do, ask yourself when was the last time you went to the doctor, had a prescription filled, put the bottle of medicine in the cabinet and never even took one dose of the stuff. You might have thought that was "low speed."

But, if you really needed that medicine, you might have asked for trouble, too.

SOME GOOD WORDS FOR THE DOCTOR

I suppose many of you recall (especially members of the medical profession) the times I have expressed the exasperation of some readers who take it out on their doctors. The magazines are too old, the doctors don't listen, they keep you waiting for hours before they see you, etc. Well, here is a letter in a major rather than a minor key. Doctors aren't all bad. Far from it.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I suppose everyone starts out by saying they read your column every day. Me, too. And out of them, the best friend this family has, has quoted some of your wisdom to me (Do you wonder why I reprint this red letter's letter?)

I have no ailments that the family doctor can't handle, or anything of that sort. I just want to say how pleased I was to see your column today about Canadian herbs, especially when you said that the herb was more important than the mother's vanity.

I know one mother who refused to submit to the operation because her "body would be disfigured." The poor unfortunate child suffered brain damage because the mother was too small to deliver normally. Now the mother leads a miserable, hateful life and has ruined the entire family and the husband and wife now have each other and the children are psychologically out of kilter.

And please, Dr. Steincrohn, don't fail to put in a good word for the family doctor, who looks after us and knows us from A to Z. He knows that if we say we hurt, we really do. I recall the day I called him, thinking I had the flu. He was over in five minutes with his little hammer: POLIO! He has snatched my husband from the brink of death, delivered our son. How can I not be so grateful for him?

WMS celebrates 80th anniversary

Woodville (PNS) — The Annual Fall Thankoffering of the Knox Presbyterian Church W.M.S. was a very happy occasion when the 80th Anniversary of the Woodville Auxiliary was celebrated in conjunction with the Thankoffering.

Over 200 guests signed the guest book which was the gift of the C.O.C. and had name cards given them which had been made by the Explorer group and their leaders.

The president, Mrs. Leslie Thomas, presided and opened the meeting which was held in the auditorium of the church, by repeating a verse of scripture. The scripture had been chosen by the minister of Knox Church, Rev. K.J. Rooney, as being particularly appropriate to an 80th anniversary.

The psalm "The Lord is my Shepherd" (in the covenant) was sung and Mrs. Thomas led in prayer. This was followed by words of welcome from the president.

A very impressive memorial service was held for those faithful members who had laboured over the years, and have now passed on to higher service. This opened with the singing of a hymn. The scripture lesson taken from the new English Bible, was read by Mrs. Hugh Innis. Mrs. E.L. Fied gave a memorial reading which she had very ably prepared and Mrs. K.J. Rooney led in prayer.

Mrs. O. Imrie gave a Historical sketch of Knox Church W.M.S., telling of the zeal and prayerfulness that led to the forming of the Woodville Auxiliary in 1883 by Mrs. Alexander Ross, wife of the minister of the church at that time, up until the present.

Greetings were then brought by Mrs. H. Westcott, President of Lindsay Presbyterian W.M.S., Mrs. S. Murray, President of Lindsay Presbyterian United Church Women, Mrs. D. Whelan, member of the Woodville Auxiliary.

A hymn was sung after which the offering was received and dedicated with prayer by Mrs. John Innis. Mrs. J.A. Newstead, convener of the Overseas Committee for missions, on Council Executive, then sang the beautiful solo "How lovely are Thy dwellings", accompanied by Mrs. C. Veale at the organ.

Before introducing the guest speaker, Mrs. C. Veale, who had been convener of the Anniversary Committee told of the many letters and telephone calls received and how very pleased and happy the committee had been to receive them all coming as they did from over the whole Western Division of the Women's Missionary Society from as far away as Vancouver, B.C. She read two of these, one from Miss Agnes Dickson, one of the Honorary Presidents, who went as a missionary to China from Lindsay Presbyterian many years ago, and who now is spending his retirement years at Penman in Paris, Ont., and the other from the wife and daughter of a former minister, Mrs. Robert Simpson, and Miss Christie Simpson, of Brooklyn, K.S. Mrs. Simpson has spent the past 17 years in bed, a victim of arthritis and also lost her eyesight. These two letters were just examples of the Christian fortitude and faith shown by members of the Women's Missionary Society everywhere.

Mrs. Veale then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A.S. Currie of Toronto, President of the Women's Missionary Society W.D. of the Presbyterian church in Canada, who brought a very stirring and challenging message to all our mission fields and urged us to "reach out to those in darkness".

Mrs. Newstead again favoured with another solo, the beautiful "Holy City". Mrs. Ralph Veale then with capable presentation the testimonies thanking especially Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Newstead, but also everyone who had helped and also all who came to make the occasion such a success. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Neil McMillan closed the meeting with prayer.

Everyone who journeyed to the basement, where the linen covered luncheon table compete with gold tapers and silver services and centred with a beautiful arrangement of over and bronzes 'mums and red oak leaves, which had been presented by one of the members of the Woodville Auxiliary in loving memory of all former ministers and workers of Knox Church, the W.M.S. ALOUEVELUE YOU

by MARY EVE MILLER

AS THE HAIR FLIES: Do you use hair spray? Without spraying it's nearly impossible to keep hair in style set between sets. One's hair becomes disheveled before the hair, and then one's whole appearance comes to disintegrate.

While the need for spray control is clear, the type to use may be confusing. Formulas are numerous enough to rattle an expert. All have holding power, but the type you may use. But some are better suited to your individual requirements. A breakdown follows:

- PVP (or PVPVA) Sprays—These contain protein-like compounds, which wrap a film about strands.
- Protective Sprays—Formulas resist dampness and sun-fading.
- Water-soluble Sprays—Not disturbed by recombining; after running a damp comb through the hair, re-spraying is unnecessary.
- For Treated Hair—Designed to be kind to the bleached or tinted head.
- Colored Sprays—For pointing up hair-coloring.
- Conditioning Types—Usually formulated with lanolin, beeswax, or balm to add moisture and shine.
- Hypo-allergenic Sprays—Special blends for those with sensitive or allergic skin.

Please note that some combine several properties—conditioners and moisture-guard, for instance. The information is on the labels. So do study them before making a choice. A hair-judge should assure call perfection!

FOUR ADRIFT IN BOAT RESCUED BY INDIANS

NOTICED .. along the way

Men survive
L. Simcoe
ordeal

Four men were rescued Tuesday near Georgina Island on Lake Simcoe after spending 20 hours adrift in a chartered cabin cruiser, when it ran out of gasoline.

James Russell, 38, Edward Mason, 30, Neil Brooks, 35, all of Toronto and Allan Wilson, 30, of Orillia had chartered the boat from a Keswick Marina to go fishing. A search was started on Monday night when the men failed to return with the 26-foot craft. The missing craft was spotted by a provincial police boat from Barrie as it drew close to Georgina Island and a party of Indians reportedly led by Lorenzo Big Canoe, a former chief of the Mississauga Indians, hailed the men ashore.

The four who kept warm on the boat with a propane gas stove, had a few sandwiches with them to eat. The men were taken to Pefferlaw and the boat, grounded on Georgina Island, was towed ashore later.

"Theatre is life and we need life", Edinborough
tells Academy audience

The Academy Theatre rumbled constantly with laughter and spontaneous applause broke out on one occasion during a talk by Arnold Edinborough, editor and publisher of "Saturday Night" Tuesday night. Mr. Edinborough was speaking to a crowd of about 250 persons gathered to launch the Academy Theatre Foundation's Campaign for funds.

"Theatre is life and we need life in these days" said Mr. Edinborough, "people want a small intimate theatre. They can participate in it—they can become part of it".

Mr. Edinborough's talk ranged from discussing Greek philosophers to Shakespeare and the nuclear problems that face the world — he pointed out that a country expressed its greatness through its dramatic writings.

"We are standing on the threshold of nationhood in Canada" said the bearded editor, "we are within a few years of our centenary which will be a great emotional experience — and this will be the cause of more Canadian theatre".

"We need theatres if we are to put ourselves in a position where we can grow", he continued, "we must have a network of theatres across Canada."

Mr. Edinborough said that the acoustics in the Academy Theatre were superb and with anything musical and said that after hearing the Lindsay Kinsmen band he realized that you could perform with anything musical from the time of O.W. Trepanier and Son, Ruscomb, Essex County, paying Lindsay the first visit in 55 years, recalled the fact during his stay. He says that the Sylvesters (Please to turn to page 4)

Estimated 100 trappers get licenses for upcoming season

About 100 trappers visited the Haliburton Community Hall last week to receive their trapping licences for the coming season.

Game wardens Wallace Scott and Aubrey Goshue were on hand to issue the residential and registered zone licences (individual area) to the trappers for the season which opens November 1st in the counties of Peterboro, Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and Haliburton.

This early registering for licences, Scott explains, gives the trappers about two weeks to get their pelts in to the first fur sale of the year which will be held sometime around the middle of the month said one of the department officials. The greatest number of pelts will be taken from beaver, mink, and weasels with a small number of muskrat. The majority of muskrat trapping is done in the spring, he said.

Last year approximately 600 trappers applied for licences in these areas, and it is expected that a similar number will apply this year.

A passing "phase"

HOME AND SCHOOL IDEAS
The Council of Canada has come up with some suggestions of interest to Home and School associations at this season of the year. Captioned "Fund-Raising Time", here is what it has to say:

For many who take an active part in Home & School activities of the Church or other organizations, the fall and winter months are usually filled with fund-raising events such as bazaar and bake sales. A big money-making feature at any of these functions can be an active theatre where visitors may relax, enjoy their tea, and chat for a while with their friends. It depends on local circumstances, of course, but tickets usually sell from 50 to 75 cents. Members and often their teenage daughters act as tea assistants.

It has been found a good plan to have boiling kettles all ways ready for brewing tea in big pottery pots — ready for transfer to fancier pots or to fill trays of tea cups. Cost of the tea will be inexpensive in relation to the revenue, and therefore profitable to your group.

Food served with tea should be simple. Sandwiches must be kept closely wrapped in plastic so they will be fresh. Foods like cupcakes must have protection, too. Cookies are practical and popular.

For the tea tables, some members of your organization are likely to supply items which save their spare time.

These tables of home-made delicacies, however diversified the offerings may be, are always a highlight. It is amazing how quickly jams, jellies, pickles, candies and baked goods disappear.

Foods may be displayed on tables with boxes in the background, ready for packing. Cardboard or foil plates and containers are very useful. Cover food with transparent film.

Fashion Hint

Here's something for the baby which will please the football-fan pop... a new diaper that has a jersey top that's fashioned along lines of a gridiron jersey.

Beauty Tip

Today's absolute beauty is one with shining eyes and teeth... with eyebrows following a natural line and shiny, shiny eyelashes. —LPI

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

By Roberts Lee
Staining Wood
Try mixing two or more different colors of shoe polish proportionately in empty containers to make distinctive color tones for use in staining and waxing wood projects. Apply the mixture with a dry cloth, rubbing well into wood to achieve a mellow patina.

Stranger Pockets

If the man in your life has to carry a lot of keys or other heavy items in his trouser pockets, reinforce the pockets by lining their lower parts with some good strong chamois.

Super Scooper

If you've broken the handle off a teacup (and who doesn't regularly do this?) you can fix it up. It's a very handy gadget for scooping sugar and flour out of sacks and canisters.

Janetville

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virlie Staples were Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Staples and Mrs. Ennie Staples. Mr. Nelson Staples and daughter Pat and son Terry, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Staples, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Shea.

Alanna Burn is a patient at the Ross Memorial Hospital. Everyone wishes her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ginn of Cadmus, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanna.

TRENT — In loving memory of a dear niece, Dorothy Kenmore Trent, who passed away one year ago, November 1st, 1962.

In sorrow we waited day by day.

And watched her suffering there. Slowly but surely passing away. From the pain she care could bear. And then God called from His Throne above. Her suffering and pain are passed. We know she has gone to realms of love. And in heaven's peace at last. Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Aunt Nora, Uncle Earn and family. (H3482)

Leaving St. Paul's receives Bible
Former superintendent of Riverside Cemetery, Lindsay, Mr. Thomas Purdy was the recipient of a beautiful Bible from St. Paul's Anglican Church on Sunday.

Mr. Purdy, who leaves for Belleville soon to accept a position there as superintendent of the Quint City cemetery was a faithful member of the congregation for many years.

Officials of the church and a large number of former wardens and their wives were in attendance to welcome new members and enjoy a fellowship hour.

Mrs. K. Rooney speaks at Thankoffering

Cannington (PNS) — Knox Church W.M.S. Fall Thankoffering was held in the church Sunday School rooms. The president, Mrs. P. Francis, read the call to worship then led in prayer.

The opening hymn chosen was "For the Beauty of the Earth". The scripture lesson was given by Mrs. Jack Ross, Mrs. Watson Francis and Mrs. Jack Ponnell gave the Thanksgiving Prayer. A beautiful solo was rendered by Mrs. Wes Brandon accompanied by Mrs. John Summerville.

27 voters' list appeals recorded

Twenty-seven Lindsay voting list appeals will be forwarded to the judge to be heard at the court of revision Town Clerk Bud Bates discloses.

Mostly picked up by the assessment department, Mr. Bates said that about six were direct appeals.

In many cases, it is found that those left off the list were those who had moved and forgot to notify the department.

There would, of course, be others who were left off the list, for various reasons, had not appealed, noted Mr. Bates.

In Nigeria thanked his friends for letters and gifts during his two year term in Africa, which is now nearing completion. Mrs. Gellaly and children have arrived safely in Scotland where Mr. Gellaly will continue his studies.

Mrs. K. Rooney was the guest speaker and gave a thought-provoking inspiring address of the "Four Dimensions of the Gospel". Mrs. Servants of God your Master Proclaim! the president closed the meeting with prayer. A social hour followed and Mrs. Rooney was greatly enjoyed.

Two for the price of one

"The Thursday Post Supplement"

a new weekly service edition

Subscribers to "The Thursday Post" are in for a surprise this week — They will be receiving two papers for the price of one and it will not be just for one week — It will be a continuing bonus.

Commencing on Friday of this week "The Thursday Post Supplement" will be published and mailed in time to reach subscribers by Saturday afternoon.

In an effort to serve both subscribers and advertisers better, it was decided to begin publishing the weekend supplement rather than continue with the straight once weekly edition which left a news and advertising gap which was considered too great to meet the needs of the district.

One of the advantages to subscribers and advertisers will be the fact that early week sales, social and entertainment events will be known well advance of their opening, thus allowing those in the outlying areas an opportunity to participate in them.

The general upkeep of the regular edition of "The Thursday Post" will remain the same with comics and feature material as before. The "Supplement" will merely add to the weekly circulation service at no extra cost to the subscribers.

Since "The Thursday Post" enjoys virtually a 100 per cent rural circulation, the advantages of the arrangement are doing these things to make our contribution here in Lindsay towards the development in Canada and the province of Ontario of our character — of great importance in these critical times.

Rev. Robert McLean speaking briefly, said that the foundation had great hopes for the theatre's use to provide facilities for meetings of many kinds and thus become a part of the public life of the community.

Foundation Chairman, Dr. C.M. Service, in bringing the meeting to a close, said it was not enough to be inspired but that inspiration must be translated into action to make the campaign a success.

Following the talk by Arnold Edinburgh, many listeners stayed to hear from Herbert Watson on how the foundation hoped to raise the money necessary to save the theatre. Mr. Watson outlined the various categories of membership, which has been patterned after Stratford Theatre practice. A subscription of from $1 to $100 will constitute annual membership; of subscription of from $100 to $500 will constitute permanent membership; a subscription of from $500 to $1,000 will constitute sustaining membership; a subscription of from $1,000 or more will constitute a founding membership. Subscriptions are payable over a period of three years.

The foundation hopes to raise $65,000 for the purchase, repair and renovation of the entire theatre building, plus arranging for a permanent endowment which it is hoped will reach a minimum of $100,000, the interest thereon to help underwrite the running of the theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dunsford and family and Mrs. McKeechin remained for a couple of weeks.

The Anglican chicken pie supper was a decided success.

Mr. Roy Ferguson and Mrs. Cecil Hill are sending a couple of days with their mother, Rev. Merrill Ferguson and family, Stratford and other friends enroute.

Brownies, Guides hold party

Sunderland (PNS) — The Brownies and Guides of Sunderland held their annual Halloween entertainment in the form of a supper and costume party.

All the girls had a wonderful time and the leaders, Miss Margaret Marquis, Miss Roberta Thomas, Miss Candace Miller and Mrs. Rose Soucie were to be congratulated on the work they are doing with the girls.

"THE POST", LINDSAY, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30TH, 1958

Construction of the controversial cement plant at Lindsay is now well advanced. Being built by Ernest Wright of Victoria Road, the plant is located south of the first CNR railway crossing and west of Angeline St. S. Construction of the plant drew protests from residents of Maple Creek. Located north of the crossing but Lindsay Planning Board ruled that it was powerless to interfere with the development since no official town plan existed governing use of land in the area when application for a building permit was made.

Mrs. C. Rowan speaks at Bethany WI meet

Bethany (PNS)—The Bethany W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Earl McQuaid.

The program on historical research was in charge of Mrs. Thomas Jackson who gave comments on the evening's motto "Our Yesterdays are the rocks on which we build our tomorrows" relating it to the debate which we owe our pioneering ancestors.

Mrs. Clarence Rowan gave an informative talk on "The History of The Dominion of Canada" beginning with the first French settlers in 1629 and the early government of the Company of One Hundred Associates which were founded in 1663. She said "at this time the system of Royal Government commences and lasted for 90 years. This Sovereign Council included the Governor, who was responsible for defence and negotiation with the Indian tribes. The Lieutenant was responsible for trade and industry. The Bishop was interested in the religious life of the colony, in the schools and hospital which were enterprises of the Church and in the missions among the Indians. Far seeing, courageous and devoted leadership was the secret of Royal Government's success in its early years. Of the most noted leaders were Jean Talon, Francois de LaVal and Count Frontenac.

"English immigrants did not agree with the French system of government, but English were a minority group until 1749 when the British took the first step by founding Halifax, N.S. England and France went to war in 1756 beginning The Seven Years War which ended with the Peace of Paris Treaty in 1763".

Mrs. Rowan discussed the coming of the United Empire Loyalists, the Constitutional Act of 1791 establishing Upper and Lower Canada; the causes and consequences of the War of 1812; the increasing number of immigrants; the Fathers of Confederation and the joining of the provinces to be known as The Dominion of Canada on July 1, 1867.

The speaker continued with an explanation of the present democratic form of Government which is ruled by the people, listing the duties and responsibilities of those elected to Dominion and Provincial Parliaments, City and county councils, municipal councils, school boards, etc., listing the names of the present representatives.

In conclusion, Mrs. Rowan said "To be a good citizen a Canadian must not only be obedient to the laws but must actively participate in the government of the country by voting intelligently and wisely and by knowing the work and methods of government. Laws shall be made and only by voting intelligently can we Canadians meet the responsibility which democratic government imposes."

Pictures of Parliament in session were shown.

Mrs. Muriel Neals of the Bethany 4-H Club, who had completed 12 units of club work and won her Provincial honours and who had been chosen to represent Durham County, gave an excellent account of her recent trip to New York. In company with the 4-H boys and girls she visited the 4-H centre at Washington, The White House, Maryland University, Gettysburg, Mount Vernon, the Rockefeller Centre, NBC studios, attended a baseball game at Yankee Stadium and listened to a session at the United Nations in New York City. Miss Neals showed many pictures of the places visited.

Mrs. Harry Ryley presided for the business session. The roll call was answered by the name of a woman famous in Canadian history. Mrs. Earl McQuaid gave an interesting resume of current events. On display were the two safety posters, one made by the 4-H club girls which won first prize at Orono, with its theme "Can you stop in time?" featuring a red stop sign and pictures of the result of tail-gating. This poster now goes on to compete with neighboring counties at the zone rally in Peterborough. The second one entered under the Bethany W.I. and which won third prize was the work of Mrs. R.G. Preston, who donated the prize money to the Institute.

Mrs. Vincent Jackson will be the official delegate to the area convention in Toronto next month, with Mrs. Harry Ryley and Mrs. R.G. Preston also attending.

Mrs. Hector Morton expressed the thanks of the members to the hostesses for the use of her home and to all those who had participated in the program.

Lunch was served by Mrs. E. McQuaid, Mrs. C. Rowan, Mrs. T. Jackson and Mrs. R. Carr.

Lindsay Rotary will be among convention hosts

Lindsay Rotary Club will be one of the host groups to the Rotary International Convention to be held in Toronto in June 1964. Rotarian Jos. Caulder, of Toronto, a former District Governor, informed local Rotarians of this fact at Monday's meeting. He also imparted the information that Rotary now circles the world with a membership of upwards of 37,000 in approximately 120 countries. It is anticipated that all of these nations will be represented at the Toronto conference. Clubs within a radius of 80 miles of the city will act as hosts and the Lindsay Club will work towards a 100 percent attendance.

Aims of the Academy Foundation outlined by its president

Lindsay, Ontario, raising campaign
October 29th, 1968.
C. W. M. Service, President, ACADEMY THEATRE FOUNDATION.

The Editor,
Lindsay Daily Post,
Lindsay, Ont.

Dear Sir:

I wish to take advantage of your newspaper column to announce the starting date of the campaign for funds for the Academy Theatre Foundation. The date of the campaign is November 15th, to November 30th. We are confident from the large measure of support we have received from many community organizations and interested citizens that the campaign will go well.

As you are aware the campaign figure is $45,000.00 for purchase, renovation and repair of the building, plus a further $100,000.00 to be secured as a permanent endowment for the theatre.

We wish to make it clear to the community that we see this as a community asset, as a centre for community activities of all kinds and as a fund raising possibility for all community groups who wish to use it in the future. The basic function of the Academy Theatre Foundation is to preserve this building for the citizens of Lindsay and the County of Victoria for many years to come. It will be useful for many large scale meetings, of many kinds and with the renovation of the front section of the building, public rooms may be made available for other projects as well.

May I thank you for the editorial support which your paper has given this project in the recent past. May I bespeak your continued support and that of all the citizens in this area in the upcoming fund-

Ambush Unit

Communist guerrillas have ambushed a South Vietnamese unit and captured three American military advisers. The Americans were believed to be two officers and one enlisted man. The two officers reportedly were wounded. An U.S. spokesman says every possible source of intelligence is being used in an effort to find the captured Americans. Twenty government troops were reported killed in the ambush and 32 wounded.

At Least Tomorrow Night

Three men trapped in a flooded iron mine at Pune, Germany will have to wait until at least tomorrow night before they can be freed. Mine manager Rudolf Stein says gravel in the partially-completed escape shaft is snagging steel pipe being lowered to line the hole. He says the shaft may have to be re-dredged. The three miners have been trapped 262 feet underground since last Thursday.

Accept Invitation

Catholic bishops at the Ecumenical Council over-whelmingly accepted Pope Paul's invitation to assume a larger role in church government. The bishops approved a doctrine asserting their right to share full authority over the church with the pope. The Council also approved a restoration of the ancient Order of Deacons - ordained clergymen who perform some of the duties of priests.

Motions Defeated

Two non-confidence motions directed against the government's defense policies were defeated in the Commons last night. A Creditite amendment to the main Conservative motion was voted down 210 to 27 with Tory support. The Creditite motion condemned the government for "subserviently" accepting nuclear arms in Quebec. The three minority opposition parties joined with the Liberals for a 155 to 85 defeat of the Conservative motion.

Dangerous

Prime Minister Pearson said last night it would be dangerous for elements in Canada to take advantage of the Great Lakes labor dispute to promote anti-Americanism. Mr. Pearson also said in an Ottawa speech a "serious situation" in Canadian-American relations would develop if U.S. unions related against the government's Maritime union trusteeship.

Not Possible

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh says that it is not possible to get a specific date for presenting the government's controversial pension plan. In answer to criticisms of delay from New Democrat Stanley Knowles, she said the administration "has no intention of being stampeded into action" when the plan is not fully understood and there is still misinformation being distributed.

Cannington

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Dash flew to visit the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Malcolm. They landed their plane beside the barn in a clover field.

Attending the Wilson-Bauer wedding in St. James Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe, Mich., were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson and family, Mrs. Thos. Wallace, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Somerville Council

The regular meeting of the Somerville Township Council was held in council chambers Kimmont with Reeve Boyd Austin in the chair, Deputy Reeve Gardie Grandsen, Councilman Harold Chynoweth, Maurice Watson and Chester Godwin were present.

Minutes of the two previous meetings were read out. It was moved and approved that said minutes be adopted.

The General accounts amounting to $277.55 were read out and approved. Mr. Robert Handley made a request to the council to have some gravel put on the concession road leading into the ranch, request to be forwarded to the road overseer.

Mr. Howard Wilson made a request to council to have council approve the registration of three lots sold off of lot 22 on the 1st concession. No decision taken until view property.

Oscar Reid approached council re the promised grant on the concession road into his subdivision.

It was moved and carried that a grant of $125.00 each be paid to Oscar Reid and Howard Wilson for work they had done re opening the 3rd concession road.

Mr. Thos. McGrath met with council re caretaking of Municipal Hall. Mr. McGrath to have full account statement at next meeting.

Letter from Norland resident was read out re some action be taken to have some of the sharp hills and curves removed on the Buller road. Council felt that so little of said road was within Somerville that a Government grant would be the answer. Clerk instructed to write Glen Godwin re the grant.

Jurors selectors Boyd Austin Evelyn Goodhand and Ralph Byrne.

Moved and Approved that the annual grant of $25.00 be paid to the cemetery board.

Bylaw 1346 being a bylaw to set the date for the Council of Revision on Saturday, November 23rd and that the Reeve and council shall act as the Court Approved.

"Thanksgiving" theme of October UCW meeting

Gannington (PNS) — The theme of the October meeting of the Gannington United Church Women.

Scott Brandon, the President presided. She opened the meeting by the reading of the Proclamation made by the Government stating the purpose of National Thanksgiving.

The minutes, Miss Francis Nancekivill, presented the financial statement of local funds and missions, including the fall canvass to date which is full in view of having a few supper. Mrs. J. E. proved.

Moved by Godwin and Watson that council apply for 1000.00 for winter work for brushing and 1000.00 for Fire Hall.

Road overseer presented accounts amounting to $300.00 by Chopin. An inspiring message on "Thanksgiving" was given by Mrs. Ivan Nancekivill. She recalled experience as student teacher preparing a lesson on the first Trans-

Roberts read the correspondence. A report of the Regional Rally of the Presbyterian recently held at Woodville was given by Mrs. A. Grills.

The devotional was prepared by Mrs. Nell McPhaden who remained at the piano and acted the president. It opened with a poem "The Glory of God in Autumn Beauty" was sung. Mrs. W. Hodgson read the scripture and gave a commentary on this Thanksgiving psalm. Mrs. Nelson Purvis led in prayer. A quartet, composed of Mrs. W. Oliver, Mrs. R. Pound, Mrs. Tambling and Mrs. V. Carter sang "I am Listening".

The Thanksgiving offering for missions was received and dedicated by Miss Francis Nancekivill. Two poems "A Treasured Time" and "Our Thanks to Those who by their Alms Give" were read. Miss Carol Beatty rendered a piano selection "Fantasie Improvisée" by Chopin. An inspiring message on "Thanksgiving" was given by Mrs. Ivan Nancekivill. She recalled experience as student teacher preparing a lesson on the first Trans-giving for a grade two class and learning that thanksgiving was not just for the Pilgrims but has a deeper meaning. It was noted that Mrs. Sarah Hulse went to President Lincoln to request a Day be set aside for Thanksgiving. So it was a woman's thought that started the observance. Mrs. Nancekivill stated that Thanksgiving goes back beyond the pilgrims to the Bible.

Mrs. Lloyd Beatty thanked Mrs. Nancekivill for her helpful message and all others who had contributed to an inspiring Thanksgiving meeting.

Lunch was served by Mrs. A. Haney and Mrs. A. Gordon's group and bake sale was held as a contribution to the missionary allocation.

"Let's get away from issuing so many debentures", Warden Childs urges councillors at banquet

Played piano for local band, re-visits town

Roy Graham, A.T.C.M. pianist and bandman of Timmins, renewed acquaintances with many friends in Lindsay last week. He will be the featured soloist at the 100th anniversary of the town, which will be celebrated by many friends as the piano player who some 35 years ago was one of the then widely known show orchestras comprising Art Hooper, Fred Martin, Bill Hoffman and Mark Lingle. This group of highly talented musicians occupied seats in the old Academy pit and took part in many amateur productions.

It is interesting to note that Roy Graham was a pupil of the late Miss J. Jackson who had a house studio on Cambridge Street N., and that he secured his A.T.C.M. following tuition under the late Miss Nell Brown. For a time he studied pipe organ with the late Mrs. Lloyd Wood, then organist and choirmaster at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He was keenly interested in learning that the old Academy theatre is to be preserved.

Arena ice to be ready November 5th

Ice will be available in the Lindsay Arena starting 5th November Gus Bodnar told an executive meeting in the Benson Hotel on Sunday. The meeting was called by the Junior "C" Hockey Club, to iron out last minute details of the 1963-64 season's arrangements.

First game is scheduled for 15th November at Newmarket.

Dinner and presentation mark hairdresser's 34th anniversary

Saturday evening was the occasion of a dinner in the banquet room of the Bonfire Bar Restaurant, in honor of Miss Helen Ford, who is celebrating her 34th anniversary in business - Helen Ford's Hairdressing Salon, located on the occasion her staff, members of her family and close friends.

"Let us get away from issuing so many debentures" urged Victoria County Warden John Childs speaking on Friday at the annual dinner of the Lindsay Association held at Cameron. Mr. Childs said he would like to see one mill set aside each year by county council as a contingency fund. "To make provision for the future."

Mr. Childs stated that the county debenture debt is now approaching the $2,000,000 mark and claimed there would be no relief from the debt until 1967 when one of the major issues is retired.

The warden also suggested the formation of a past warden organization, he felt the group could meet annually and serve a useful purpose. Mr. Childs also told county council additional space would be required soon at the county home for the aged and said that additional space is badly needed at the courthouse building. He suggested that council might make plans for new building under the government's centennial program.

Speakers at the warden's banquet included former Ontario premier Leslie M. Frost, Carden reeve Edward Murphy, Victoria riding MP Charles Lamb, Glen Hodgson MP, Haliburton County Warden Lawrence Pritchard, Lindsay Mayor Joseph Holton and Sam Endicott former Opp. reeve and oldest living Victoria warden. Other former wardens present included Wilbert Wotherspoon, John Alton, Walter Lytle, Clifford Brown, Raymond Gossling, Gordon Fes, John Best, James Butler, Roy Bontam, Grant Benson, Thomas Martin and Sherman Moore.

Entertainment at the warden's banquet was provided by a Woodville quartet, "The Woodwinds".

Beaver invading Pleasant Pt. after Kennedy's Bay onslaught

Industrious beaver have not only played havoc with a large number of trees at Kennedy's Bay on Sturgeon Lake, but have also caused considerable damage to trees at Pleasant Point, especially adjacent to the bay, on "The Point" side.

Dr. Smith of Wellington, who has a cottage there and is the owner of back lots on the bay reports that beaver have chewed down one large willow and started work on another willow which is 51 inches in circumference.

It is understood that residents of "The Point" have been given the green light to shoot any beaver in the vicinity. Mr. Smith said that beaver have chewed down one large willow and started work on another willow which is 51 inches in circumference. "I woke up, sensing something was wrong," said Mrs. Burck, "and thought one of the children had gone down stairs. I called down, then realized all the children were in bed, got up and then I saw a figure going quickly down the stairs. He went out the back door and closed the door behind him".

After Mrs. Burck got over her shock she roused the children and with a flashlight searched the house out to the woodshed at the back and found that the master of the mischief was a small, screened window and reached the bolt on the door from there.

"Not a thing was touched," said Mrs. Burck, "it appears the visitor was scared off before he was able to touch anything". Mrs. Burck said the kitchen contained a number of packed tins as she and the children were off to work for a vacation in a few weeks.

Mrs. Burck said that after the man left, she did not notice anything. He described the man from the glimpse she got of him, as being medium in height and wearing a white or light colored shirt. The electric clock in the house had stopped at 10:45, the time the lights had been switched off on the main switch.

The police were called and made an investigation at the house.

An intruder broke into a house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Burck of Kennedy's Bay shortly before eleven o'clock Saturday, at the time Mr. Burck was working on the bay as weekend duty watchman for the Canada Croydon Co. in Lindsay and Mrs. Burck and her four children were in bed asleep.

"I woke up, sensing something was wrong," said Mrs. Burck, "and thought one of the children had gone down stairs. I called down, then realized all the children were in bed, got up and then I saw a figure going quickly down the stairs. He went out the back door and closed the door behind him".

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pearce have moved into the new house, have opened the house they have lived in for many years. The new house is located near the Victoria Hotel. Mr. Arnold Wakefield is home after spending a week or so with his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Wakefield. Mr. Mary Wilkinson visited her son Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wilkinson and family of Trenton.

Patrol 40-acre bush fire in the Goderham area

Two fires, both in Goderham Township at the south end of Salerno Lake, are being patrolled report the Goderham office of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. One fire, 40 acres in size, is believed to have been caused by smokers, and the other attributed to the burning of brush in under one-quarter acre in size.

Car rolls at Dunsford, driver hospitalized

Dies of injuries when car rolls on Reach Twp. road

Joseph Wayne McCaughy, 60, of Uxbridge, died in Toronto General Hospital of injuries received three hours earlier when his car rolled over on the Brock Rd. in Reach Township, five miles south of here.

Police said McCaughy was southbound when he lost control of his car and it rolled over five times in the ditch. The car was thrown from the wreckage. A passing motorist called police.

Noticed along the way

Justice was swiftly meted out in Lindsay court today when Magistrate Guest found a former Lindsay man-Ross McGill guilty of causing a disturbance on Kent St. early Sunday morning and fined him $50 and costs.

Charges leading up to the trial followed another fracas similar to the one a few weeks ago near one of the local bars when a number of town police arrested five former Lindsayites and charged them with creating a disturbance.

Attend service at Brechin

Comrades Ian Scott, William Desmond and Gerald Wadman represented Branch 67 of the Royal Canadian Legion, Lindsay at the Brechin service in Brechin on Sunday afternoon. Thirty-one Legionnaires gathered at the Legion Hall for the parade to the Cenotaph led by the Orilla Legion Pipe Band. Under perfect fall skies the parade made a beautiful spectacle with the Legionnaires in their kilts and the colour party representing several branches in the zone. Many spectators witnessed the parade as well as the service at the Cenotaph in this small town to the north west of the city.

Father Sullivan of the Roman Catholic Church in Brechin conducted the religious service at the Cenotaph. Wreaths were laid by the Cenotaph on behalf of the Legion and the town. Guest speaker for the service was the Hon. Dr. Dymond, Ontario Minister of Health. The speaker is a member of the Royal Canadian Legion and reviewed several highlights of what the Legion means to the Dominion of Canada. He said that "we, as Legionnaires,

Scout Apple Day nets $600, three win "basket" prizes

The Boy Scouts of Lindsay report an outstanding success for their Apple Day held on Saturday. Three hundred scouts and cubs participated and the gross take was $775.00 with expenses of $175.00. Six hundred dollars will go to scout and cub funds. Any further donations by interested citizens can be sent to L. H. Reed, 219 Angeline Street South, Lindsay.

"To the public who so generously supported us and to all leaders, scouts and cubs."

See new Minden hall creating parking problem for village

Minden has parking problems and these will worsen when work commences on the new township hall which will deprive the town of much of the parking space in front of the Recreation Centre building. A committee consisting of Harry L. Pritchard, Deputy Reeve, Mark Vasey and Road Superintendent Earl Hewitt has been formed to look into the matter. Much more parking is necessary within reasonable distance of the main street. The committee also to look into the recommended paving, sidewalk and sewage program for the town.

Main street fight brings fine, costs

Justice was swiftly meted out in Lindsay court today when Magistrate Guest found a former Lindsay man-Ross McGill guilty of causing a disturbance on Kent St. early Sunday morning and fined him $50 and costs.

Charges leading up to the trial followed another fracas similar to the one a few weeks ago near one of the local bars when a number of town police arrested five former Lindsayites and charged them with creating a disturbance.

Sgt. C. Eberts told the court he had been called to the Lindsay Cafe around 12:30 a.m. Sunday morning and found a disturbance in progress. About 150 and a number of men fighting.

After a while, said the officer, the accused had appeared and started to swear and curse at each other. The incident ended at the restaurant.

A young man came running out of the crowd and saying he had been struck on the head and then the accused was noticed running away.

Four officers were required to subdue McGill and put him in the cruiser, the officer testified.

McGill, who pleaded guilty to the charge, admitted drinking and asked the court if he could be put on the "Indian list" as he always got into trouble when drinking.

"I think the L.C.B.O. would be only to happy to oblige you," drily remarked Magistrate Guest.

who worked so hard, the Victoria County District Council says "Thank you one and all" Mr. Reed said in announcing the outcome of Apple Day.

Prizes for the best decorated baskets went to Larry Windward, 4th Lindsay, St. Andrew; Derek Money, 3rd Lindsay; "A" pack St. Paul's and Ross Melville, 1st Lindsay, Cambridge Street "A" pack.

The scouts annual banquet will be held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on 20th November.

Apply for Subsidy

The council of Anson, Hindon and Minden has applied for a subsidy under the Winter Works Incentive Program with regard to the building of the new Municipal Building in front of the Minden Recreation Centre. A total of $15,000 is available towards the costs of excavation and the foundation of the proposed building which is being built by the Ontario Iron Construction Company of Weston.

Lockie McInnis

The whole community was shocked and saddened when it learned of the sudden death at the wheel of his car of Mr. Lockie McInnis, a much respected and life long resident of the district.

He is survived by his wife, Martha Smith and loving father of Lorne and Gordon of Toronto and Elton of Cornwall, regular brother of Annie, Mrs. Ed Wilson of Lindsay, Jennie, Mrs. J. Coates, Midland, and Tena, Mrs. H. Chilton of Oshawa, also five grandchildren Carol Wayne and Dale McInnis of Don Mills, Toronto, and Cheryl McInnis of Lorneville.

He was a lover of all kind of sports and especially baseball. He was a member of the school team in his young days played for the Woodville and was also a member of the Woodville team which he coached hockey in his own home town. He served several years as secretary of the School Area Lorneville; also was a member of the Lindsay High School Board for some years. Mr. Woodville was a member of the United Church and was on the Board of Stewards at the Woodville. He enjoyed curling when permitted.

He was a member of the St. at the Stoddard Funeral Home from Sunday noon October 13th until the funeral on October 15th. Rev. L. A. Fisher, Minister of the service and delivered a comforting message. Masonic service was held on the evening of October 14th and was largely attended. Many beautiful floral tributes were but a small token of love and sympathy.

The pathbearers were Messrs. Grot Whetter, Jack Taylor, Gerald Burton, Angus Jewell, Alec. Inrle and Vernon Fisher. Interment was in Smith's Cemetery, Woodville.

Many friends attended the funeral from Toronto, Oakville, Stouffville, Beaverton, Cannington, Lindsay and surrounding district.

ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS
Simple refreshments such as raisin bread or biscuits are usually best after most meetings but there are occasions, such as honoring a retiring committee member, or celebrating an anniversary, when you wish to serve something a little more special.

This is the time for fancy sandwiches — served with piping hot tea and a few little cakes. Novelty sandwiches are quite simple to make. Here are the directions for two varieties.

Ribbon Sandwiches — are easy to make and pretty on a plate. They lend themselves well to carrying out a party-table color scheme. Tinted cream cheese — any flavor — almost any color — makes an ideal filling. With no color scheme in mind almost any paste-like filling may be used — all the way from peanut butter and chocolate dates to meat or seafood patties.

Use uniformly sliced bread — both white and brown. The regular commercial thickness is ideal for these and although sandwich leaves are best, loaves of ordinary shape will do nicely.

Stack four to six slices of bread alternating colors, one upon the other with the filling between the slices. The layers of filling may all be the same or they may be varied. The use of butter or margarine instead of oil for spreading is preferred by some. Press down on the stack lightly, to make a compact block.

Use the block in kitchen-wrap, cut thoroughly. Close to serving time, unwrap the block and serve very choppy lunch, cut off the crusts. Cut the block into uniform slices; cut each slice in half, crosswise.

Checkerboard sandwiches — complicated though they may appear, are also easy to make. Make up a block of sandwiches as for the ribbon — use an equal number of slices of bread so that the bottom of the pile is white and the top brown — two slices of each make sandwiches of nice party size.

After chilling remove the crusts and cut the block into slices of the same thickness as the originally cut bread. Reassemble the block turning every second slice over so that the brown is on the top of white and white on brown, spread the slices with filling as you put them in place. One block of ribbon sandwiches will make two blocks of checkerboard. Press down lightly, wrap and chill thoroughly.

Q. HOW CAN I??
Q. How should plane keys be cleaned?

A. In the first place, don't use water. Wipe the keys with a piece of flannel dipped in wood alcohol or cologne. Or mix some powdered French chalk with benzine, and rub the keys with this. In any case, be sure to dry them with another soft cloth.

Q. What is a good home-made solution for cleaning painted walls?
A. Combine two ounces of borax, one teaspoon of ammonia and two quarts of water. You'll need no soap. Apply this with a soft cloth.

VINYL WINDOWS
Winter is around the corner and there are many products that are marketed for cleaning vinyl windows — here is a new vinyl storm window which is said to resist pitting — corrosion — rotting and rusting. Only an occasional washing is needed to keep it clean and sparkling. The three-channel combination storm windows of white rigid vinyl does not sweat on the inside because the vinyl cannot pick up moisture.

MUSIC SPOONS
Music spoons — redesigned and modernized by a dental surgeon — come with simplified directions for playing. The manufacturer says they are ideal for the professional or those who just like to beat out "a little rhythm".

LEMON FLAVORING
Among the new push-button preparation is an aerosol container of lemon flavoring. Push the button and you get a mist just right for tea and other beverages needing a touch of lemon. The container contains 500 spritzes.

VARIETY
A first aid kit for 55 different types of stains on furniture and carpets contains a variety of cleaning fluids and tools. It has leaflets on "correct care for carpets" and "House Cleaning". It tells what you can do and cannot do in cleaning your home. It also has a "dial-a-stop" for determining the proper remedy for a particular stain.

Construction of Lindsay's new church is now in its final phases. The Jehovah's Witnesses Assembly Hall on Queen St. E. is being built at an estimated net cost of $10,000. Over $4,000 worth of volunteer labour has been contributed to the project. It will have a seating capacity of 80 matrons and 56 under average conditions. The man on the ladder is Peter Hagman, assistant minister, and the man with the carpenter's apron on below is presiding minister Charles Peacock. Work is expected to be completed about mid-November.

Cresswell

"Old Squaw" lands on road, on display in pet shop

Bird lovers are being treated to an unusual sight at the Lindsay Pet Shop on Kent St. where the proprietor G. Yaki has an Old Squaw female duck on display. Brought in the shop last week by the Department of Lands and Forests the bird, whose habitat is the Great Lakes and the Atlantic coast, was unharmed when found on the highway and brought into the department.

Mr. Yaki explained that the bird could have been one of a migrating group who mistook the highway for a stretch of water and after it landed was unable to rise as it requires a long run on the water for "skimming" it as called.

"You would not normally see this bird in these areas", he said, as their breeding grounds are on the Arctic coast, and they range the Great Lakes and along the Atlantic to North Carolina.

"They are not a suitable game bird as they range too far out on the lakes", he said. "One remarkable feature about the bird" he added, "is that it is unable to swim. It has been found as deep as 30 feet below the water in fishermen's nets."

The name "Old Squaw" was given the bird because of the arguing and grumbling they seem to do during mating season and when they are gathering eggs. The bird, from a breed that very seldom sees humans, seemed quite fearless, he noted.

Over 150 offer congratulations to celebrating Cameron couple

Over 150 guests at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Shier of Cameron on Saturday and Sunday (October 26-27) to offer congratulations and good wishes for many years of health and happiness to Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Inglis who celebrated their 44th wedding (ruby) anniversary.

Vada Howard and Robert Inglis were married at the Toronto parlour of Rev. S. H. Pickup in 1923, residing in the city, until their coming to Cameron in 1945 where Mrs. Inglis now operates the Inglis Service Station.

the bride's brother, Albert Howard, best man at their wedding.

The original bridesmaid, Mrs. J. Lonsa, of Toronto, joined late in the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Nellie Goodland, Mrs. Hector Perrin, Mrs. Raymond Anderson, and Mrs. Kaye Naylor.

Granddaughter Donna Shier was in charge of the guest book which was signed by each guest as they left.

In the evening, the guests were served refreshments by Mrs. Harold Simmonds, Mrs. Needham Edgar of Toronto, assisted by Mrs. Ronald Willis, Mrs. Oscar Goodland, and district.

Gifts of china, crystal and linen, many floral tributes from neighbors and friends, as well as a great many cards and telegrams were received by the happy bride and groom of 40 years.

These beautiful tokens of friendship were viewed by the guests after their arrival.

Friends attended from Toronto, Peterboro, and Lindsay district.

Liquor plebiscite sought in Anson, Hindon, Minden

Friends, neighbors honor bride-to-be

More than fifty ratemakers of the township of Anson, Hindon and Minden have signed a petition which was presented to council at their last meeting.

The petition asked that the council place before the voters of the township the question of whether or not the people in the area favour the sale of liquor under a licensing licence, for consumption with meals on licensed premises, and whether they are in favor of the sale of liquor under a lounge licence for consumption on a licensed premises.

A free paper brief accompanying the petition explaining the benefits of the two issues was also presented to council. After the meeting the petition, controlled by the Liquor Control Board of Ontario to prepare the necessary by-laws and set the required date for a vote on the issues involved.

On the arrival of the bride-to-be everyone sang "Let it Be" and "You Sweetheart" then Rosemary Bades spoke a few words of welcome and reminding everyone to get together at choir practice, C.G.I.T. and hockey games.

Assisting with opening the gifts was her sister Margaret (Mrs. Ed. Prentice) of Whistley and arranging them were Rosemary Bades, Marilyn Young, Vivian Emphrey and Mrs. June Reid.

Helen thanked everyone for the lovely gifts and extended an invitation to anyone who would like to see her things to her parents home.

A short programme followed with Mrs. Banbury giving a reading, Donna Christie accompanied by Beattie Oliver and Mrs. B. Brethour gave a reading.

A delicious lunch of sandwiches and cookies was served and the evening came to a close with everyone extending their best wishes to Helen.

Kinsmen top pickup tops last year's response

There will be a lot of happy children this Christmas as a result of the successful Christmas top pickup operation (Porchlight) sponsored by the Kinsmen Club Monday night.

Chairman George McFadden told "The Post" he was "very pleased" with the response to the Christmas top pickup. "We had a good year last year but I believe we topped it last night," he said.

Forty-eight of the 61 Kinsmen members were on hand to gather the toys which will be repaired and painted to make them like new for distribution as Christmas gifts to some of the town's needy children.

"Hearty thanks go out from myself and all the Kinsmen for the splendid co-operation from all the kind people who have helped us to make a 'bright Christmas' for some boys and girls" said Mr. McFadden.

The Lindsay club was the recipient of the Russ Thompson Shield award on the project two years ago.

Sunderland (PNS) — Cattle rustling is again reported in Brock Township. An 800-pound heifer was taken from William Thompson's ranch on the 2nd concession of Brock, 2 miles west of Highway 12, and just west and across the road from Hancock Sand and Gravel.

The heast was apparently shot and dragged some distance where it was loaded on a truck. In order to drag the heast it is believed that there must be two or more members of the gang.

The previous week a steer owned by James Lyons was reported taken from a ranch behind West Brock Church on the Brock Road. The head and hide were later found on the 7th concession of Brock Township, 2 miles west of Hwy 12.

Brechin police report that they are investigating the disappearance of a 4-year-old Hereford missing from the farm of James O'Connor in Rama Township. The heast has been reported missing but it has not as yet been established whether it has been stolen or possibly wandered away and mixed with another herd.

Consistent Miller of the Brechin branch of the OPP is investigating.

Dunsford youth stole wallet, gets 3 mos.

A Dunsford youth — James Bryant — was sentenced to three months in jail, and a Cunningham boy — David McNeil — fined $50 and $30 cost following charges of theft of a wallet from a hand member at a local dance hall. Steven MacKee, of Toronto, told the court that he, as a member of the band playing at the dance hall, had been changing clothes after the dance. Later, said the witness, the police arrived and took over the investigation. OPP Const. G. Lee told the court he had gone to the dance hall on Oct. 18th and after investigation had

PSI HEALTH PLAN RE-OPENS IN VICTORIA COUNTY

The PSI sponsored Victoria medical physician at home. County Community Health Plan re-opened for all permanent residents Monday. Robert Clement, PSI representative in charge of the Victoria Group opening told "The Post" that the initial response to the campaign has been very encouraging. The Lindsay of free reports it has been kept busy by residents either phoning or visiting it seeking information on the comprehensive plan. This is the third successive year that PSI has offered its services in the county and each enrolment has been very successful. Mr. Clement felt that year will be no exception. He says the plan is available to any resident regardless of age or condition of health and there is no enrolment fee, no medical examination and no insurance for chronic or pre-existing conditions. It is designed to cover all the necessary services of a registered

by "the observer"

The civil war in the Town of Fenelon seems to be abating considerably over their new assessments. According to the local press, it would seem that in all fair, some ratayers would have ample cause to be up in arms. I am not adding that some ratayers had their assessments doubled, some were raised three times and some were raised four times. If these statements are true, then I would have to conclude that assessments in the township of Fenelon are in line with the times.

An assessor, I understand, is a law unto himself and the only way a ratayer can get any redress is through an appeal to the Court of Revision. It is the general practice for one who has been appointed to the position of assessor to hold the position for a number of years. Unless of course, there is some valid reason why he should be removed from his duties as assessor, of course, carry the little guide book on assessment and it should be no problem for a man who averages intelligent to decide in what category a certain recovered a wallet and a flashlight with sum of money in it. Witness David Agney told of the pickup of the two accused and going to the dance hall, and when he told three of them were in his car, of Bryant saying: "I have stolen a wallet" and then handing the money over to him. More in his defense said that Bryant had handed him the money saying to hold it 'until it is all over'.

A number from the community attended the Corn Day at Brownview Farm, Newcastle and on the same evening attended the Tri-Breed Purebred Swine sale in Markham. Messrs. Floyd Slinson and Everett Toole, of Lansdowne, each acquired here.

A number attended the annual Angus stock and purebred sale held in Lindsay. High price stockers for the year were a package of steers consigned by Ted McDowell of Williamsburg, which sold for $3275 per cwt. with planer kinds considerable less.

Several Yelvertonians attended Anniversary Services in the neighbouring church of Janetville. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robinson and family after several weeks visited the Ralph Kilmartin. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Malcolm are an another trip through north and south Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Art Rowan and girls were visitors at the Robert Vivians following January Anniversary Services.

Miss M. Chryster, a fellow student with Elizabeth, was a guest of the Art Rowans.

Miss M. Chryster opens home for meeting

Danville (PNS) — Danville (PNS) met at the home of Miss M. Chryster due to a power cut off which prevented meeting at the church without heat. Mrs. Deverell opened the meeting with an inspirational poem, "The Power of the Word". Mrs. Fox and A. Radway gave a dialogue, written by Mrs. G. Graham. Mrs. N. Wilson read a poem and announced the Thanksgiving hymn Mrs. G. Stewart spoke on Thanksgiving. The Old Testament book of Job was analyzed to illustrate the theme of the address.

The business period heard a detailed financial report from Miss M. Chryster with some $350.00 on hand. Mrs. E. Thompson read the minutes. Mrs. M. Campbell read the Manse report. A discussion took place about purchasing stoves for the Manse, the church apples and committees were charged to look into the matter. Blackboards and peg boards were used by the Sunday school and three of the ladies offered to purchase these personally.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. McCaughy and others. Special thanks to Mirell Chrysler who opened her home to the gathering at a moment's notice.

Janetville UCW October meeting

Janetville (PNS) — The monthly meeting of the Janetville U.C.W. was held in the church with the president Mrs. John Burn in the chair.

The meeting opened with the theme song, and a poem was read by the president, followed by prayer. Mrs. Ray Malcolm was in charge of the worship service and Mrs. Guy McGill read the scripture reading. The topic of the programme was "The First Thanksgiving". The programme closed with a poem read by Mrs. Robert Wright and the offering was received. The minutes were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Virle Staples. Plans were made to attend the U.C.W. rally at Bethel United Church, a report was given on the work done at the Lindsay Fair. Mrs. Robert Burn gave a report on the little foster girl Sophie. Moved by Mrs. Robert Burn was by Mrs. Guy McGill that they send her $5.00 for Christmas. The secretary was requested to send a note of thanks to the Queen Street United for the use of their dishes for the use at the fair. Moved by Mrs. Robert Wright seconded by Mrs. Emie Colley that a date be set for the C.G.I. girls and explorers to help their mother and daughter banquet. Mrs. Ross Winstock expressed thanks to all who helped with the work at the Lindsay Fair and in the church kitchen.

The meeting closed in the usual manner after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Earnie Staples and Mrs. Virle Staples.

DIAGNOSIS OF HYPOTHYROIDISM OFTEN OVERLOOKED

Hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid) is, I think, one of the most commonly missed diagnoses in medicine. Unless the examining doctor always has its possibility in mind, he may overlook it.

In the typical case, which is difficult to miss, the patient is sluggish mentally and physically, his skin is dry, pulse slow, the patient cannot stand the cold and is sometimes overweight. However, there are patients who do not present the typical symptoms.

One may complain of lassitude, another of extreme nervousness, and still another of depression for which he can find no cause.

No physical examination is really complete unless the doctor tests your thyroid function by taking a basal metabolic rate or ordering a protein-bound iodine test, or in some cases, a radioactive iodine uptake. Consider the following letter:

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I would like to tell you how I felt before I had my thyroid gland checked. I was constipated and neurotic for 15 years before I found out what the trouble was. I had deep spells of mental depression and sleeplessness.

I had no patience with anything or anybody and hated everything I had to do. I spent a lot of money on examination but no doctor ever examined the function of my thyroid gland. At least I requested the last doctor to do weight. However, there are so many patients who do not present the typical symptoms.

One may complain of lassitude, another of extreme nervousness, and still another of depression for which he can find no cause.

Mrs. H. Westcott speaks at WMS Thakoffering

The Thakoffering meeting of St. Andrew's W. M. S. was held in the Christian Education Hall, when the W. M. S. members, The Home Helpers, The President of Lindsay Presbytery, Mrs. H. Westcott, and other guests enjoyed a splendid dinner.

Following the dinner the ladies retired to the church parlour where the devotional portion of the meeting was held. Mrs. John Wallace extended a few words of welcome followed by prayer by Mrs. D. Ritchie and a hymn.

Mrs. J. McKerracher acted as pianist in the absence of Mr. R. Gordon. The W.M.S. motto was repeated in unison by Mrs. W. Finney. On motion of Mrs. G. Allen and Mrs. A. Gilchrist the minutes of September meeting were adopted as written.

The roll call was answered by 18 members, 11 visitors with 48 votes to sick absentees. The president, Mrs. J. Wallace, suggested the members read the Book of Proverbs during the month and reply to roll call by reciting a favorite verse from the book. On motion of Mrs. J. McKerracher and Mrs. B. McEwen, Mrs. W. Thorn acted as treasurer of W. M. S. for the remainder of the year. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Wallace. An invitation was received from the W. M. S. of Knox Church, Glenora to attend their fall Thakoffering at which Mrs. Rev. Bell, of Fenelon Falls, is to be guest speaker. This was accepted.

A note of thanks was received for the Bale of clothing sent to the Presbyterian Mission of the Indian Reserve in Manitoba. The Ladies Training School will meet in St. Andrews, the W. M. S. to provide the noon meal. It was announced that the new 1964 study book is out and on motion of Mrs. A. Gilchrist and Miss Lottie Burr, our Literature Secretary was authorized to purchase same.

Miss Burr acting for Mrs. Locke read a portion of Psalm 68 and 146. Mrs. J. Wallace introduced the speaker, Mrs. H. Westcott from Beaverton, who read a few verses of Psalm 95. Mrs. Westcott chose as her theme — "The Thanksgiving Table" using headings such as "Freedom," "Co-operation with God" and the unselfish concern for others.

Mrs. D. Smith led in prayer. Mrs. D. McArthur thanked the speaker for a wonderful message.

The offering was received by Miss Jean Gilchrist and dedicated by Mrs. Westcott.

Meeting closed with a hymn and prayer.

MILK BAD FOR CHILDREN? DON'T LISTEN TO AMATEURS

I keep advising people against listening to medical advice unless it comes from a doctor. M.C.B., well-meaning back-fence health therapy is far off the beam. All it produces is frustration and concern.

For example, consider the following letter on the hazards of milk-drinking in children.

If we all believed in the comments I received, I would be out of their traditional business in no time. More important, we'd have a lot of underdeveloped children on our hands.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a problem which I hope someone will solve. I have a lovely child and generous sister. However she has an aversion in regards to milk for human consumption. She makes me feel as though I am poisoning my children when I serve them milk—especially when it is combined with meat at the table. Her two grandchildren (1 pair and 2 years of age) have never had milk. I think she is ruining their health, as they do not bring relief. Mrs. S.

look robust at all. My three children are normal and healthy. What do you think? Shall I cut out milk? Mrs. D.

Comment: Let them have milk till the cows come home. M.C.B.

GALLSTONES, THEN SHINGLES

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am a woman almost 70. I suffered from gall bladder stones for a long time. Finally I found a wonderful surgeon who moved them. After a few months I felt like a new person.

But about six months later I got a rash or blisters over the right side of my chest. The pain was terrible. They called it shingles.

It is more than a year now, the blisters have healed but the pain remains. I have taken hundreds of pills, drops and injections. I have consulted with several specialists.

Even now my doctor is still trying some new things, but nothing seems to help. The pain is unbearable. Dear Doctor, perhaps you can recommend something which will bring relief. Mrs. S.

Comment: Chances are when you have is postherpetic neuralgia. It's not uncommon in people of your age group who have suffered an attack of shingles (herpes). As in your case, dozens of remedies are often of no help in bringing comfort.

But it pays to keep trying, because often the doctor will find one which will help.

Here's a suggestion: Has your doctor tried freezing the painful area a few times a day with ethyl chloride? It's a simple procedure and some reports in the literature have been favorable. Don't expect too much, but keep hoping.

INDIGESTION EVERY DAY

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have indigestion every day. The X-rays showed no stones, only nonfunctioning gall bladder.

My doctor advises against operation because I have no trouble. After eating I am miserable. What do you think? Mrs. H.

Comment: I have advised many people with stones not to rush into operation because they had no indigestion or other discomforts. On the other hand, as in patients like yourself, I believe that operation should be seriously considered.

Your gall bladder is probably diseased and won't get better with medicines alone. Besides, sometimes stones in the X-rays don't show up on the X-rays. An operation may be removed. Either way, I think you deserve consultation for another opinion. I don't think you should suffer unnecessarily.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Few things upset a patient more than a difference of opinion about his condition. When doctors disagree how is the frustrated patient to know just what is what? The following letter is an example: Dear Dr. Steincrohn: About 18 years ago a heart defect prompted a doctor to advise me to have my children only be Caesarian. I had two children by operation.

During the years that followed, this doctor, a well-known cardiologist, has kept watch over me and I followed his advice carefully. As a result, I have reached my early fifties with a healthy mental attitude and with very few physical upturns.

Recently this doctor passed away. Thinking the wisest course would be to consult a heart specialist I made an appointment with one of apparent high standing in our community. This specialist merely listened to my heart without benefit of any instrument. He said he couldn't understand why I had to have my children by section and intimated I was being neurotic about it all.

He told me to go home and forget about it and get a job to keep busy (I am a nursery teacher). Had my old doctor been wrong all these years? How can any specialist tell for certain the condition of a person's heart without taking X rays electrocardiograms and making other tests? I am really mixed up and lost. You can understand how I miss my old doctor. Mrs. T.

GET THIRD OPINION

Comment: People who have depended so much on one doctor through the years, and have at last lost him, will understand how Mrs. T. feels. Such a loss is not easily replaced. The feeling is intensified when one receives a medical opinion which is exactly opposite to the one which the patient has lived with for years. Take your case, Mrs. T., as an example.

Of course, I can't tell you whether or not you have heart disease. Your old doctor may have been right or wrong. But if I had to vote, I'd favor the one who was patient and careful. I don't see how a modern cardiologist can be sure of his diagnosis by listening only a few minutes with the stethoscope and making his pronouncement.

Rather than live in apprehension and confusion, I suggest Mrs. T. that you seek a third opinion as soon as you can. When you call for your appointment ask to speak to the doctor and explain your predicament. He will be especially careful in his examination so that he can make the proper decision. At that time you will have your diagnosis and abide by it. That's about all you can do now.

OUTWARD NAVEL. Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Nine months ago when my baby was born his belly button was protruding about one-half inch. To this day it is still protruding. I have shown this to the doctor, but he has shown no concern over it. Would you please advise me if this is serious? Will it eventually go away? Mrs. A.

Comment: I am as unconcerned about it as your own doctor. Eventually these problems solve themselves. In a few months it is likely to disappear as the youngster's abdominal muscles grow stronger.

Pinedale

A large crowd attended the anniversary services at Pinedale United Church, Rev. C. S. Wragg of Cannington United Church delivered an inspiring address. The special music was appreciated, with Mrs. Reg Johnson as organist, and the rendition of two lovely anthems by the Junior choir. Visitors were present from Sunderland, Wick, Pinedale, and Port Perry.

Miss Joan Fleming, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Johnson and Mrs. Gorrell of Sunderland and attended the anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Troop visited Mrs. John Hoskin. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hoskin and family were away on a motor trip.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincorn, MD., F.A.C.P.

IT'S AS EASY AS BREATHING

As easy as breathing? Nonsense it can be a terribly trying procedure. Most of us aren't even aware of the intake and output of air. However, there are thousands of Americans who go through life saying they can't take a satisfactory breath. As a result, they fear they have heart trouble or something else wrong. Life for them becomes mere existence rather than living. For example:

Dear Dr. Steincorn: I have a problem. I suffer from shortness of breath. I have to try and try until I finally get a deep breath. In the meantime I feel weak, cold, and can hardly walk.

I went to a heart specialist three years ago. He took an electrocardiogram and examined me. He found nothing wrong. Can that be possible? He gave me some sedatives and tranquilizers. One time while in his office I had with my husband and felt faint. I had shortness of breath and could hardly think. I screamed for oxygen. The ambulance got there just in time. This has happened quite often. I also get a choking sensation. I have to gasp for a deep breath. At night, just as I am about to fall asleep, I feel my heart skip. Then I have to get out of bed and walk up and down until I get that long deep breath that I need.

This has been going on for years. It's not my imagination, believe me. Sometimes I may be on a bus or car and have to get out of it to get to get a deep breath. When I explain this to people they don't seem to understand or believe me. Can you help? Mrs. S.

PSYCHONEUROSIS

Comment: I can only guess, but a good bet is that you are suffering from what we call an anxiety state of psychoneurosis. I repeat, this is only a guess. But your symptoms call to mind hundreds of patients like yourself whom I have treated over the years. And let me say right off, it's not imagination.

People like you suffer the tortures of the damned. Many of the night I have popped out of bed in answer to what the telephone voice said was a heart attack. I'd get there, and find the patient-eyes wild with fear and breathing laboriously-sitting up in bed and saying, "Doctor, I'm dying. I can't catch my breath." I'd give reassurance and a sedative and within minutes the patient would quiet down. The heart would be perfectly all right.

The reason these symptoms latch on for years is that the patient remains nervous. It's the doctor's job to discover what is causing the trouble. Not an easy job, I assure you. It may be that family trouble is at the bottom of it. Perhaps financial problems. Love hate. Resentment. Fear. Tension. Add them all up or subtract some of them, and there is the cause of the neurosis.

The remedy must come from the will to fight in the patient himself. Nevertheless the doctor must be there always willing to help with courage. Sometimes the patient's family doctor needs the advice of a psychiatrist in helping the frightened patient. There's a condition called "hyperventilation" (in which the patient sighs a lot, breathes too fast and too deep) by which causes extreme nervousness and palpitation. Often the patient improves rapidly when this phenomenon is explained to him.

As I see it Mrs. S., your first job is to accept your doctor's diagnosis and have faith that you do not have heart disease. Listen to his advice, take the necessary medications he prescribes and have faith that the will never lack for oxygen. The time will come when breathing will be easy again.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steinhorn, MD, F.A.C.P.

DIARRHEA CAN BE STUBBORN

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I have had diarrhea for the past five months. Sometimes as few as five to six times a day, I have had two complete physicals, barium enemas, of series, and many other tests, all of which proved negative. I have been on low residue diets, tested for allergic foods, taken tranquilizers and many other medicines.

Nothing seems to help. My doctor is really trying very hard and has consulted many associates, but the cause remains a mystery. Maybe you can help. I'm 52, have three children and a wonderful husband. Mrs. L.

Comment: I'm more or less in a similar spot as the man who has never read the murder mystery, but is given some highlights, and is asked: "Now, you tell me who done it?" Your doctors have all the evidence and are in a better position to come up with the answer. Nevertheless, I have a suggestion. Don't get too excited about it because I'm not sure it will work. I recall a number (not to mind) of patients who had stubborn diarrhea. All tests were negative—but one. In examining the stomach contents for hydrochloric acid, I found that it was absent in these patients.

The condition is called achlorhydria. I prescribed small doses of dilute hydrochloric acid after meals, and within days—as if by magic—the diarrhea disappeared. Has your doctor checked on this? It's worth a try.

DIZZY WHEN DIETING

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I have been dieting for the past two weeks without much luck. During the day, while dieting, I find that I have been getting dizzy. It doesn't happen when I'm on my full diet. If I eat candy or something sweet it goes away. But this is defeating the purpose of the diet. Would the fact that I drink a bit of beer when dieting have any connection? My doctors have all the evidence and are in a better position to come up with the answer. Nevertheless, I have a suggestion. Don't get too excited about it because I'm not sure it will work. I recall a number (not to mind) of patients who Comment: Your diet does a list of diets. This is the first time I have heard of a beer diet. Dieting or not, beer has been known to cause dizziness. Let's see how things work without any beer.

"Not at all," he replied. "I'd like to know how you can do it. I'm working from time to time I couldn't help but realize how gracious he came—jealous as all got out about their recs. I explained to him about Fenwick—who was a bit of an expert himself—and on the basis of professional courtesy he came through."

Helping Mr. Havers in this complicated business was Mrs. Eric Reese who was responsible for all housekeeping arrangements—which is quite an arduous task. The staff of the Gracious Manor Dining Room, Elsie Ferguson, lends her skill and beauty to a difficult and demanding job. The Club upstairs—where the shoulders, falls, weight of all the meals, is James Gilheaney and believe me he does a good job."

Most of the time I ate in the Coffee Shop—I would have liked to try the Maitre d' Hotel, but the pressure of business didn't leave me much time for the "gracious living." I had to eat and get back to work.

The following young ladies rendered smooth, efficient and pleasurable service and I would like to say "Thank You!"

Shela Corbett, Betty Anon and Marguerite Benneyworth.

Being a grandfather, I figure I'm old enough to make a following statement safe—to the young lady who waited on me most of the time I was in the Inn.

"With your personality, grace and ability if you ever decided to enter the field of modelling you would be highly successful."

Completing the interesting tour of the Inn we returned to Mr. Haver's office. The picture at the top of the column was taken. The photographer was Bob Jackson, son of the owner. Now that I have been one young man, sure makes us grandfathers feel our age—this young man generated more energy in the minutes than I could possibly build up in a week. Thank you, Bob, for your help. It was a pleasure meeting you.

To Inkeeper Havers and his staff—thanks for making my stay much more pleasant. I'll visit—next time I feel I have met and met a few more good friends. A Jack more very fortunate in having such a loyal and efficient staff.

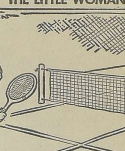

So much for this week—there is more material on Barrie in the next issue to space this week. In the area near the convention room in the Continental and—at 16 Mulcaster Street, Ralph and Mona Patterson have a wide range of beautiful and delightful gifts—next week I can get by Fenwick again—I'll finish off my visit to Barrie.

Take care—I'll see you then.

"Olav, Emily... Servet!"

Everybody's Pal

I have always been intrigued by Section 3 of the Inkeeper's Act—"No Inkeeper shall be liable to make good to any guest of such Inkeeper any loss of or injury to goods or property brought to his Inn, not being a horse or other live animal, or any gear appertaining thereto, or any carriage, to a greater amount than the sum of $400.00."

In this day and age I don't suppose Inkeeper would be plagued with too many horse-drawn vehicles. However, I thought this would be a good time to get the matter clarified. Leaving my room I headed for the Mike's Office. "May I see the Inkeeper?" I requested of the young lady behind the desk.

Her face clouded over for a moment as she said—"The, the who-keeper, oh," she said as her face smiled again, "you mean Mr. Havers."

"That's the gentleman." The youthful James A. Havers, manager of the Continental Inn, was more than courteous when he greeted me and for the next while was extremely co-operative in answering my questions.

During the conversation Mr. Havers suggested that we take a tour of the Inn, that way we could see what exactly was involved in one of these incidents.

"First of all," requested Mr. Havers, "would you mind if I got a location plug in for the Motel?"

"I'm sorry," I replied, "if you have any intention of saying that the Continental Motel is located on the Dunlop Street Cloverleaf and Highway 400 in Barrie, I'm afraid it wouldn't be allowed."
